PREVENTED TAKING MEASURES FROM "AIR-TIGHT" COMMITTEE

Sham Battle Waged Over the Linear Tax Bill by Fake Reformers, Who Then Aid in Its Passage. Slurs Cast Upon It and the Orphans Who Made Demands.

SUMMARY OF PROCEEDINGS OF SELECT AND COMMON COUNCIL

Murry A. Verner made good his boast that he would defeat the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinance.

Select council defeated the motion to withdraw the ordinance for the new Baltimore & Ohio station on the Monongahela wharf from the "air-tight" corporations committee, by a vote of 21 to 15, seven Citizens members voting with the combine to hold the ordinance up.

By a vote of 26 to 8, select council adjourned while a motion to withdraw the ordinance for street vacations in the Twenty-third ward was pending, the Citizens voting almost solidly with the combine. These ordinances provide for the extension of the Baltimore & Ohio shops and yards at Glenwood.

The combine fought a sham battle over the linear tax ordinance and then voted for its passage.

Common council last night concurred in the action of select council and the tax ordinance goes to the mayor today for his approval.

George S. Fleming, who represents the First ward in select council and lives in the Fourteenth ward, is annoyed by the smoke from the Pittsburgh & Junction railroad at his Oakland home, and introduced a resolution to prevent the railroad from using bituminous coal.

To carry out the bluff that the Baltimore & Ohio station ordinance is not being held up intentionally, Chairman John Upperman called a meeting of select council committee on corporations for Thursday.

W. H. Stevenson, C. S. Crawford, W. C. Reitz and other "Orphans" of common council declare they will not support the Citizens party until the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinances are passed and the Pennsylvania ordinance for the Duquesne way line is amended and passed.

Citizen leaders in common council last night opposed increase in salaries of firemen and other employes of the public safety department.

Common council prevented passage of new resolution authorizing employment of three experts "to verify" Director E. M. Bigelow's figures on filtration.

Director Bigelow's blanket ordinance and also ordinance creating new positions in charities department sent to city solicitor for written opinion.

Murry A. Verner's boasts that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinances would be defeated were made good yesterday and select council in so doing showed that public pirates and political highwaymen were never more completely in control of municipal affairs than they are now under the present so-called "reform" administration of the Citizens party. The program outlined by the Citizens party leaders and the corrupt "combine" of select council was carried out even to the smallest detail.

Seven Citizens went along with the combine, according to pre-arrangement, defeating the bill for the new station on the Monongahela wharf by a vote of 21 to 15 and the other Baltimore & Ohio ordinances for the extension of railroad yards and shops at Glenwood. By a vote of 26 to 8 council adjourned, thus preventing the withdrawal of the Glenwood measures from the surveys committee.

In the vote on the Glenwood ordinances, which was the last one of the session, the Citizens party members made no effort to divide their forces, but went almost solidly against the measures which the Twenty-third ward, without respect to party, is clamoring most loudly for.

Combine Aided Verner.

Verner and his combine allies also made good their promise to pass the linear tax ordinance, which does not take effect until May of next year, three months after the next municipal election, and the operation of which is limited to one year, thus affording the new ring ample opportunity to repeal the ordinance after the new councils are organized next April, or else to give the corporations a chance to go into court and stop action until the ordinance lapses of its own accord. The passage of the linear tax ordinance is a sop to the "orphans." The combine agreed to assist Verner in passing the ordinance in return for the support of a sufficient number of Citizens members to accomplish the defeat of the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances.

The combine, although agreeing to go along for the linear tax ordinance could not refrain from casting slurs upon it and even got up a sham battle to give an appearance of division of sentiment, but the vote tells the tale more truthfully than all the false argument and oratory wasted in the attempt to deceive the public. The ordinance was passed by a vote of 31 to 5, the only votes in opposition to it being cast by the leaders of the combine whom the Citizens party leaders and the combine agreed should make the fake fight against it.

Murphy Made Strong Fight.

John A. Murphy, of the Twelfth ward, made a masterly fight for the railroad ordinances, completely answering every objection raised by the Citizens and the combine and demonstrating beyond all question that the measures were being held up for motives not in the interest of the public. Unlike his opponents he did not deal in abuse, but dealt in cold facts which the Citizens and combine failed utterly to combat.

He was upheld by W. D. O'Brien, the representative from the Twenty-third ward, who plainly stated that his constituents insisted upon the passage of the ordinances and charged that the failure to pass them was due "to an African in the wood-pile." Dr. O'Brien's appeal proved of no more effect than Mr. Murphy's, however. The Citizens who had been asked by their bosses to go along with the combine and vote against the ordinances did so, while the others who were safely in the minority were permitted to vote on the other side.

That the majority of the Citizens were opposed to the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances, although some of them voted in favor of them on the first ballot, was fully shown in the vote on the motion to adjourn before the Twenty-third ward street vacation ordinances could be taken up. On this motion only six Citizens voted against adjournment.

How the New Ring Voted.

The following is a list of the Citizens and members of the combine who voted against the motion to withdraw from the "air-tight" corporations committee the ordinance for the new Baltimore & Ohio station on the Monongahela wharf:

T. O. ATKINSON, Combine, Twenty-fifth ward.
P. J. BARRY, Citizens, Fifth ward.
JOHN BENZ, Combine, Twenty-ninth ward.
H. W. DIEHL, Combine, Third ward.
R. E. DOUGLAS, Citizens, Twenty-first ward.
GEORGE S. FLEMING, Citizens, First ward.
THOMAS GEARY, Citizens, Ninth ward.
THOMAS E. PERRY, Combine, Twelfth ward.
JAMES W. PIATT, Combine, Second ward.
J. W. RUHLANDT, Combine, Twenty-sixth ward.
WILLIAM SCHEMPF, Citizens, Thirteenth ward.
L. P. SCHNEIDER, Combine, Twenty-eighth ward.
JOHN J. SHENKEL, Combine, Thirty-fourth ward.
CHARLES STEWART, Combine, Sixteenth ward.
JOHN UPPERMAN, Combine, Fifteenth ward.
JOHN H. VOSKAMP, Combine, Eleventh ward.
S. J. WAINWRIGHT, JR., Combine, Eighteenth ward.
GEORGE S. WILSON, Combine, Seventh ward.
W. J. ZAHNISER, Combine Seventeenth ward.
Total—Twenty-one votes.

Voted for Adjournment.

The following members voted for adjournment and to prevent the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances for street vacations in the Twenty-third ward being taken up:

Messrs. Atkinson, Barry, Benz, Booth, Diehl, Donahoe, Fichtel, Fleming, Gallagher, Geary, Schneider, Shenkel, Stewart, Upperman, Voskamp, Wainwright, Wilson, Zahniser, Lambie.—Total, 26 votes.

Of those voting for adjournment 2 were Citizens and 15 members of the combine. Only 8 members voted against adjournment, as follows: Messrs Costello, Hermes, Murphy, O'Brien, Poke, Schlernitzauer, West, Wightman.

The Citizens and combine attempted to prevent the entering of the motion to discharge the corporations committee from further consideration of the Baltimore & Ohio station ordinance, but the president, John S. Lambie, frustrated the move by recognizing Mr. Murphy although the president hesitated considerably in doing so, although Mr. Murphy was clearly on the floor first.

Mr. Stewart, of the combine, was clamoring for recognition to present a resolution to consider the linear tax ordinance Mr. Murphy, however, gaining recognition from the chair, was permitted to make his motion first, which was pec-

CZAR INFURIATED BY WAR SPIRIT

IS INDIGNANT AT AMERICA

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 19.—A story is current in military and diplomatic circles here that in answer to a telegram in which the czar instructed Admiral Alexieff, Russian viceroy in the far east, that Russian interests must be maintained by force of arms if necessary, the viceroy at once demanded 50,000 additional troops.

PEKING, Oct. 19.—Like other cities in the far east, Peking is perplexed by the reports from various points of events portending a Russio-Japanese war. The opinion prevails here that Russia proposes to hold all she has gained in Manchuria and refrain for the present from further advances into Korea. It is also believed that Russia is convinced that no nation except Japan thinks of contesting her position, and having assembled a fleet and army which she considers strong enough to repel any Japanese attack, she is awaiting developments in Japan's policy.

A majority of the Russian ships have left Port Arthur since the maneuvers for an unknown destination, but it is supposed that some of them are cruising on the shores of Korea watching Ma-San-Pho and other ports.

The Japanese ships, whose presence at Ma-San-Pho caused the report that Japan had occupied that port, have sailed, probably in the direction of Saseho, Japan.

CHEFOO, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Russians are very indignant with the United States government for concluding a treaty opening Mukden to the commerce of the world. They say that the St. Petersburgh government will protest and also maintain that the opening of this new treaty port will never take place. A local Russian newspeper, the Novi Krai, published a violent article on this subject yesterday.

The Russian fleet has returned from Dalny. The garrison here, together with 20,000 Chinese laborers, are at work building barracks for over 10,000 soldiers.

Admiral Alexieff declares in a conversation that Russia will not evacuate Manchuria. The Chinese, it is pointed out, did not press them to leave, what right then had Japan to do so?

ANOTHER CLAIM FILED.

Riter-Conley Co. of Pittsburgh Ask Payment of $75,000 from Algoma Central.

TORONTO, ONT., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The troubles of the Lake Superior consolidated increased considerably today when the Riter-Conley Company of Pittsburgh filed a claim against the Algoma Central railway for $75,000.

The railroad is one of the biggest and best of the subsidiary concerns and it was by a lien on it that the Ontario government were able to legally pay the workmen's wages at the time of the riots. The lawyers for the consolidated intimated that no defense would be made to the claim, which means that in the settlement the Pittsburgh firm will get its money.

MR. AND MRS. CARNEGIE WILL SAIL TOMORROW

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 19.—The steamer Cedric, which is to sail from this port October 21 for New York, will take among her passengers Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie.

POISON SUGGESTED BY HUSBAND NUMBER ONE

Girl Marries One Man Sunday, Another Monday—Trouble Ensues.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Margaret Famiton's arrest on a charge of bigamy and an accusation that a plot had been suggested to kill her with poisoned candy were the developments today in the matrimonial escapade in which the young woman became entangled last week, when she was married to two rival suitors, one on Sunday, the other on Monday. She spent tonight in the Queens county jail, Long Island city, in default of $1,000 bail.

Edwin Roach, husband No. 2, tells the story of the poison plot and declares Frederick Kirkman, Jr., husband No. 1, broached the idea to him and tried to get him to join in the conspiracy. William Famiton, the young woman's father, believes Roach's story.

Roach is a private in the medical corps attached to the fort at Willetts point. Today Roach said:

"Kirkman came to me last week when the story of Margaret's double marriage was circulated. He said there was one way out of the trouble. He said he would get a box of candy, and as I had access to the drugs in the medical department at the fort I was to put poison in some of the candy and Kirkman said he would give it to Margaret. I at once notified Mr. Famiton."

When informed that she was under arrest, the young woman became hysterical. Roach tried to pacify her. It was necessary to carry her to the railroad station to take her to Flushing for preliminary trial. The girl still maintains that she was forced into her first marriage at the point of a pistol by Kirkman. But the Rev. Mr. Thorpe, who married the couple, asserts that the young woman appeared cool and unconcerned. She is 20 years old. Kirkman is 25.

CARNEGIE SEES GREAT FUTURE FOR IRELAND

Laid Library Corner Stone and Was Given the Freedom of Waterford.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

DUBLIN, Oct. 19.—The freedom of the city of Waterford was bestowed on Andrew Carnegie today. In his speech of thanks, Mr Carnegie declared he was proud to be associated on the roll of freemen with John Redmond and John Dillon, two patriots, who were doing what they thought was best for their country, according to their lights. Mr. Carnegie also paid a tribute to the tens of thousands of Irish persons who had been in his employ, saying that he always felt proud when they said they "liked the little boss."

Emigration to America was now lessening and he was glad to know that Ireland, after long centuries of misfortune, was about to march forward on a brighter path. A large measure of justice had recently been given to Ireland which he trusted was only the precursor of more to come. It seemed to him that "the prince had made a memorable visit to the Cinderella of nations, and that she was soon to become a princess among her sister nations.

Mr. Carnegie subsequently laid the corner stone of a library and was entertained at a public banquet.

ANOTHER CONTRACT FOR PITTSBURGH

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—It is reported here today that the Cincinnati, Dayton & Toledo Traction Company would expend a large sum of money in improving its service in Cincinnati. A contract has been awarded to the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh for the installation of a new electrical unit at the power house.

MAKERS OF ARMOR GIVEN A HEARING

Representatives of the Carnegie and Bethlehem Companies Ask for Contract.

SECRETARY IN A QUANDARY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.

Secretary Moody of the navy department today granted a hearing on the armor plate contract to representatives of the Carnegie and Bethlehem Steel Companies, and the result was to make the case more puzzling for the secretary.

President McIlvane of the Bethlehem Company acted as spokesman. He told the secretary that the extensions to the armor plats plants of both companies were well under way and as soon as they are completed they would be able to deliver 2,000 tons of armor per month instead of 913 tons as at present. They would be able to complete all existing contracts within 15 or 16 months and could then begin upon the new contract if it is awarded to them.

Another point that is bothering the secretary is how the Midvale company can make armor that will come up to the specifications. The Carnegie and Bethlehem companies control the Krupp process, and the Krupp is the only armor known that can meet the government's specifications. He intimated that if the Midvale company attempted to use the Krupp process the other companies would be obliged to protect their interests. The Krupp process is not patented, and while anyone who might discover how it is made would be at liberty to make it that way, a legal question would be involved, and any litigation on this point would embarrass the navy department.

The Midvale company merely agrees to make armor that will meet the specifications. Secretary Moody has only to raise the bond to a high figure to test the company's confidence in its own ability to make armor that will be acceptable.

It would be folly to attempt to fill a contract of this kind under any other circumstance. Every group of plates is tested and if the armor should not prove acceptable the company would have the plates left on its hands. Secretary Moody will make the award in a few days.

BOY CHAINED TWO WEEKS.

Marietta Police Claim Father Kept Son Fastened to a Plank.

MARIETTA, O., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Conny Best, 14 years old, lived two weeks fastened to one end of a six-foot trace chain, the other end of which was fastened to a four-inch plank in an upstairs room. He had been placed in this position, it is alleged, by his father because he would not work. Chief of Police Dye released him today and brought the chain, plank, a collar and a padlock to be used as evidence.

Luther Best, the father, was seen tonight at his home armed with a revolver, which he declared would be used in resistance to any interference. He said that the boy had been chained there because he would not obey, and he did not propose to have the neighbors or the authorities running his family affairs. The boy had been given a cot close to the plank, on which he could lie when he chose. His meals were carried to him by members of the family.

The matter was reported to M. D. Follet of the state board of charities, who instituted the investigation. The chief of police says he does not know if arrests will be made or not.

SULK BEFORE THE TRIBUNAL

LEFT ROOM IN HUFF

CASE DECIDED BY MAJORITY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

London, Oct. 19.—A draft of the decision reached by the Alaska boundary commissioners was signed by a majority of the commissioners this evening. Messrs. Aylesworth and Jette, the Canadian commissioners, refused to sign.

The decision grants all the American contentions with the exception of the one relating to the Portland canal. The signatories were Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, Senator Lodge, Senator Turner and Secretary Root, the American commissioners. They constituted a majority and insured finality.

Messrs. Aylesworth and Jette carried their outspoken disapproval of the decision to the point of refusing to sign even that section of the decision giving the Portland canal to Canada, and they emphasized their attitude by walking out of the cabinet room in the foreign office before the signatures of the others had been affixed to the historic document which has already been printed and is ready for the session, to be held tomorrow.

The only thing remaining to be done at this session is that the majority of the tribunal complete and sign the map which accompanies the decision, and which minutely determines the course of the boundary in accordance with the American contentions. An engrossed copy of the decision also will be signed on Tuesday.

The refusal of Messrs. Aylesworth and Jette to coincide in Lord Alverstone's view, was only known to a few persons here tonight, but at the foreign office and in high government circles it has created a painful impression. There is no hope expressed that the Canadian commissioners will reconsider their attitude and sign the engrossed copy of the decision, which will stand as the international record of the tribunal's finding.

CALL FOR EXTRA SESSION WILL BE ISSUED TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt's call for congress to assemble in extraordinary session on November 9 will be issued tomorrow immediately after the regular cabinet meeting. It will deal with only one subject, Cuban reciprocity, to consider which the extra session is called. The president will point out, as he has repeatedly, the necessity of keeping the nation's obligations to the island of Cuba by granting reciprocal relations.

MAIL BAG THIEF GAINS FREEDOM

ELUDES HIS GUARDS

HE STOLE OVER $500,000

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—Albert E. Bell, the mail pouch thief and forger, who was brought to this city from Denver by Deputy United States Marshals G. H. Baker and Aivah Davis today, eluded his guards and is now at liberty.

When the train reached the Pennsylvania railroad station Davis and Bell went to the toilet apartment of the Pullman car and while the deputy marshal was performing his ablutions the prisoner calmly walked to the platform of the car, mingled with the crowd of passengers and disappeared.

For nearly three hours after the swindler had made his escape, Davis and Baker wandered about in search of him and finally notified the local police authorities. Government and city detectives are now endeavoring to locate Bell, but he has the advantage of a long start and the officers are without a clue.

Bell was arrested while he was ill, in a hospital at Denver. He confessed to having stolen a mail pouch containing about 1,200 checks from an express train on the Pennsylvania railroad, at Germantown Junction, this city, on the night of September 8. He was held in $10,000 bail for his appearance in the United States district court here.

In custody of Deputies Davis and Baker the prisoner left Denver for this city Friday afternoon. As he was still suffering from the effects of the illness which took him to the Denver hospital, the officers did not deem it necessary to shackle him. He was accompanied as far as Pacific Junction by Mrs. Sharp, who was arrested with him, but later discharged.

The trip to Philadelphia was uneventful until this city was reached. Deluded by the tractibility of the prisoner the deputies failed to guard him carefully and his escape was rendered easy.

Shortly after the disappearance of the mail pouch Bell passing himself as F. E. Crosby and Mrs. Sharp known as Mrs. Crosby, were located at Asbury Park. He deposited a number of checks with a bank there payable to his order and drawn by several Philadelphia firms. It was discovered that the amounts of the checks had been raised, but when the postal inspectors department took up the matter Bell had left Asbury Park. He was later located in Denver.

Bell is also known as Hammond and Crawford. He is suspected of having stolen a mail pouch at Springfield, Ill. He secured $2,400 from the Lincoln Trust Company in St. Louis, by means of altered checks. He is also suspected of numerous postoffice robberies in New York, Buffalo and other cities. He is supposed to have realized $500,000 from the robbery committed here.

DOWIE SENDS HIS HOST INTO BYWAYS OF NEW YORK

Restoration Army Spent Yesterday Proselyting Among the Residents of the Great Metropolis. Leader Himself Called on Mayor Low.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—After attending an early service in Madison Square garden, John Alexander Dowie's "restoration host," numbering nearly 4,000, began today a house-to-house canvass of the city. Before giving them his final instructions Dowie said:

"I am going out to do a little restoration work myself, and I won't be far from Wall street. Pray for me."

The majority of the audience at the early service was composed of Zionists. No robes were worn. Dowie preached a sermon on the "Sin of Idolatry," with application to present conditions.

"A divine healing meeting" was held in the garden from 10:30 o'clock to noon, at which Dowie delivered an address on "The Opening of the Beautiful Gate of Divine Healing."

In his address at the noon meeting Dowie alluded to some clergymen as "mean dogs," and to others whose criticisms of him had been published in the newspapers, who, he said, were "working for the devil."

Of the 3,000 or over that were assembled when the noon meeting began, less than half remained when Dowie had finished speaking.

Twelve companies of the Zion hosts, numbering 70 persons each, engaged in the house-to-house canvass of the city. Each company was divided into bands of 10, every band having a captain. Today they visited Manhattan only. The visitation arrangements are under the direction of Elder Abraham Lee and Deacon George A. Mitchell is field marshal. Deaconness Jessie Ogden has charge of the house canvass in the fashionable districts of the city.

Later Dowie, accompanied by Mrs. Dowie, his son and Deacon W. P. Kindless, called on Mayor Low at the city hall and told the mayor that his people had respect for New York and admired the mayor for what he had done. He thanked the mayor for police protection, and, receiving the assurance of the mayor's pleasure, departed with the Zion salute, "Peace be unto thee, brother," to which the mayor responded:

"Thank you, sir."

When Dowie opened his night meeting in Madison Square garden, he faced an immense throng, when he closed it his audience had dwindled to only a few hundred. His talk was devoted chiefly to denunciation of tobacco-smokers, liquor-drinkers and newspaper men, all of whom he classed as "dirty dogs" and "dirty birds."

Several times the audience hissed Mr. Dowie. After one such demonstration he shouted:

"We come here, and we get your impudence, but I will get your hearts and then I will get your pocket books. There is nothing so joyful as spending money for the Lord. They say I came to New York for money. I do not deny the soft impeachment."

He had "picked" the pross of Chicago, he shouted, and he would "pick" the pross of New York.

Finally he came to the promised story of Revelation. He globed scripture to show that Elijah was to come a third time. A minister had told him that he was Elijah, but he was loath to believe it, but finally after going over the situation carefully, he made up his mind that he was truly Elijah. Then at the opening of a building in Zion two years ago he had proclaimed himself Elijah, well knowing the fearful responsibilities of the restoration that he must, as Elijah, lead.

BROKEN CRANE KILLS TEN MEN

VICTIMS FELL INTO RIVER

Breaking of a Cable Caused Disaster. Four Injured Men Will Live—Bridge Workers Mourn the Fate of Their Comrades and Offer Assistance.

Crushed under tons of structural iron in the collapse of a traveling crane, 10 workmen were killed and five were seriously injured, at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, on the Water street pier of the new Wabash railroad bridge. For two hours bridgebuilders, policemen and rivermen struggled to extricate the mangled bodies from the wreckage, while 10,000 spectators gathered on the wharf to watch the grewsome work. When the sun went down last night a black flag, hoisted by the comrades of the victims, waved from the pier of the fatal structure. This was intended as a badge of mourning, but it appeared grim, indeed, to the thousands ignorant of its significance.

Work on the bridge was suspended and will not be resumed until after an investigation is made. The contract work was being done by the American Bridge Company and all the men who suffered in the accident were its employes, several of whom were brought here from other cities to engage on this work. The damage does not affect the bridge, the crane being a temporary structure used for the purpose of carrying the material into place in the spans. The names of the dead and injured follow:

THE DEAD.

Workers Held Memorial Meeting.

Last night the members of the Structural Ironworkers' union held a memorial meeting at their headquarters, No. 519 Wylie avenue, and decided to suspend all operations until after the dead have been buried on Thursday. The little hall in the building was jammed to the doors, and hundreds of fellow-workmen, anxious to pay homage to the memory of their comrades, thronged the hallways and the pavements on the outside of the meeting place. Money in amount was offered for the relief of the victims' families and the union promised to defray the funeral expenses in all cases. The majority of the bridge workers will attend the funerals in a body, in instances several services will be held in the city. A resolution of respect was passed on each of the dead.

The last body rescued was that of Charles Simmons, which was found in the river at the foot of the bridge piers at 7:30 o'clock last night. Simmons was the only support of his widowed mother and six small brothers and sisters who live at Summerville, a town near Cincinnati. He came to Pittsburgh to seek work in August, 1902, and boarded at No. 955 West North avenue, Allegheny. His only friend in the city was George Manger, of Hardy & Hayes, who identified the remains at the morgue.

The accident was caused by a broken cable. Five "I" beams, which were being hoisted from a barge in the river to the structural work of the bridge. The beams weighed nearly nine tons. When they had been drawn by the crane to a point about 50 feet above the water, the rope bearing the great burden of metal suddenly snapped. The same instant the jib starts in the crane gave way. This portion of the structure projects about 100 feet over the stream beyond the floor construction of the bridge, and with a roaring, grinding sound the whole mass pitched forward, hurling the workmen down into the barge as if they had been shot from a catapult.

The load of iron fell with them. The men in the barge were caught as if in the jaws of a trip-hammer. Under the great weight the barge capsized and some of the men who were not killed outright were pinned underneath the twisted beams and drowned like rats in a trap. Some fell over 100 feet and struck on top of the wreckage and escaped with terrible injuries. A few—very few—struck the water and were saved.

The officers of the American Bridge Company were reticent in making statements as to the cause of the accident. The least said about this the better at this time," said H. A. Greene, representing the operating department. "Everything is in a chaotic state, but a thorough investigation will be made and then the circumstances which led to the disaster can be accurately determined."

Sightseers by the Thousand.

Scarcely had the wrecked crane buried its victims underneath the guarled iron until calls were sent to the bureau of police and the hospitals. The news spread rapidly around, and the patrol wagon and clanging ambulance were followed down Water street by thousands of curious sightseers. Twenty policemen were stationed around the bridge to keep back the crowd.

Men employed on the South Side pier of the bridge slipped down the cables and sprang into skiffs to assist in the rescue of their fellows. Willing hands from the towboats and all sorts of craft along the river front gave prompt assistance. Soon mutilated bodies still in death were carried out and laid on the wharf, while the morgue wagons made hurried trips to the dead house. The injured were quickly extricated and taken to the hospitals, in the evening the towboat Little Fred pushed the barge to the Smithfield street bridge and there it was raised by means of a dock hoist. While the river bank was black with people the body of Morris was raised from the depths and the sight sent a shudder through the night.

While the crowd still lingered on the wharf and looked with awe on the ominous black flag which fluttered in the evening breeze above the tangled wreck, caused the workmen a grim shadow dragged the corpse of Simmons from the water. Throughout the afternoon and late into the night morbid sightseers thronged the corridors of the morgue, seeming to find pleasure in viewing the battered bodies that lay upon the tables. The remains of Dalby were identified by his brother, Albert Dalby, who was accompanied to the morgue by the dead bridgeworker's sweetheart. The girl cried bitterly when she saw the familiar features. She said that they were soon to have been married.

The date for the inquest has not been set. Deputy Coroner Louis J. Hilche is working upon the case and from Foreman William Riddle, one of the men who escaped, secured details of the accident for use in the official investigation.

CITIZENS COMBINE WIN RAILROAD FIGHT

orded by Mr. O'Brien. Then the leaders of the combine and the Citizens let loose upon Mr. Murphy.

Reformer Upperman Speaks.

"At the last meeting," said he, "the gentleman from the Twenty-first ward said, 'It is to laugh.' I say that it is indeed 'to laugh' today. The gentleman who presents this motion to discharge the corporations committee from further consideration of this ordinance is a member of that committee himself, and comes here and asks to have himself discharged. This gentleman never asked to have a meeting of the corporations committee to consider this ordinance and never made an effort to get a meeting."

Mr. Murphy denied the statement of the chairman of the "air-tight" committee. "The chairman of the corporations committee knows," said Mr. Murphy, "that there would not have been a meeting of the corporations committee if 50 calls had been issued. I was present at every meeting of the committee and was always ready to do business. At the last meeting the only persons present, as is well known, were the chairman of the committee, the president of this council and myself.

"This ordinance has been in councils for over a year and I wish to call attention to the fact that it was approved and affirmatively recommended by this same committee on July 8, yet on the same day for some reason the ordinance was sent back to the committee and it has been there ever since without any action being taken.

"The reason I ask for this ordinance to be withdrawn now, is on account of its importance to the city of Pittsburgh. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company proposes to spend over $2,000,000 in improvements in this city and to employ a great many more men. There is a clause in the ordinance by which the company agrees to pay the city an annual rental of $19,000 and the city should get the benefit of it."

Mr. Fleming: "Why not bring all the railroad ordinances out of the committee?"

Mr. Murphy: "I agree with Mr. Fleming and I am in favor of withdrawing all the railroad ordinances and considering them. The motion now is upon the Baltimore & Ohio ordinance."

Reformer Benz Took Floor.

John Benz, another eminent "reformer" of the combine, opposed the motion to withdraw the ordinance. He said the land which the Baltimore & Ohio proposed to occupy, and which Mr. Upperman had previously said was worth $1,000,000 was worth not less than $2,500,000. "Benz raises the ante," said a combine member aside. Benz then made a long harangue in favor of imaginary shippers for whom he said the ordinance provided no relief. He said a provision ought to be inserted to prevent the Baltimore & Ohio raising the charges to shippers.

Benz continued: "The same thing was done with the Wabash ordinance that is now being tried here today and the passage of the Wabash ordinance was a mistake."

Mr. Murphy: "Mr. Benz appears to have an idea that councils can do almost anything, but there is one thing it cannot do, and that is to repeal the interstate commerce law which amply protects shippers from any overcharges."

Mr. Murphy then gave Benz a severe jolt by asking him why he did not attend the meeting of the corporations committee so that the B. & O. ordinance could be passed. Benz was plainly embarrassed by the question for he stammered and got red in the face.

"Because we were not ready to pass the ordinance," he replied.

"Just what I thought," said Murphy, and the members and lobby laughed.

O'Brien Speaks in Vain.

Mr. O'Brien of the Twenty-third ward spoke in behalf of the ordinance. "The people of my ward are insisting that some action be taken on these ordinances," he said. "Sufficient time has already been spent on them, and if there had been diligent effort made to consider them they would long ago have been out of the committee and passed upon. This is only a matter of justice. Every taxpayer is satisfied with them and no reasonable objection has been raised to them. Whenever I attempt to make excuses to my constituents for the hold-up of these ordinances I am met with the charge that there is an African in the wood-pile somewhere."

R. H. Douglas, one of the floor leaders of the Citizens, asked Mr. Murphy if he had not voted at a former meeting against a motion to withdraw the B. & O. ordinances from the committee. Murphy stated that no such a motion had ever been made. He said a motion had been made at a former meeting to withdraw the linear tax ordinance, which motion had been made by Douglas. Mr. Murphy had then voted to sustain the chair on the parliamentary ruling that a motion to withdraw the ordinance from a committee was not in order at that particular time, but would have been in order later, and that he would have voted for it. After Murphy's explanation Douglas said nothing more.

The vote was then taken on the motion to withdraw the B. & O. ordinance from the corporations committee and was defeated.

Shows Battle on Tax Bill.

The linear tax ordinance was then called up. Reformer Benz opened the sham battle against this ordinance in defense of the "poor workingman," whom he said the measure was calculated to injure. "Of all the ordinances that ever came before the Pittsburgh councils this is the worst," he said. "To pass an ordinance like this and then expect it to stand in the courts is worse than a farce."

He then went on to argue that if the street car companies were taxed that they would make their patrons pay the tax by raising the fare to 10 cents.

Mr. Murphy was of the opinion that the ordinance was illegal, but he would vote for it because the people wanted it. He said he did not think the ordinance was worth the paper it was written on.

Mr. Upperman then spoke the funeral oration over the grave of reform, severely criticising the tax ordinance and the "orphans" who were asking for its passage. "If the title of this ordinance was to read, 'To make the rich richer and the poor poorer,' it would be nearer the truth," he said. He repested the argument made by Benz that the street car companies would increase the fares, otherwise the ordinance would practically confiscate the property of the corporations. He said there was no need of haste in passing the bill because it did not take effect until 1904, and that the proper thing would be to send the ordinance to a special committee.

Benz made another objection against the ordinance. He said if the water companies were taxed the South Side Water Company would raise its rates to its customers.

Costello Was Surprised.

John Costello of the Thirty-fifth ward expressed surprise that there was no person to speak in behalf of the bill, and he announced that he would undertake to do so himself. In sarcastic reply to the statement of Upperman that the Consolidated Traction Company had not paid a dividend on its preferred stock until 1902, he said he was proud that there was a corporation that was willing to lose profits in order to give the people 5-cent fares. He said the sentiment of the great mass of the people was in favor of the ordinance and that the people did not believe that the corporations were paying their share of the tax. He also spoke in defense of the "orphans," stating that he was proud of the leader, W. H. Stevenson, who occupied a seat on the floor.

Mr. Stewart said that the city solicitor had stated that the ordinance would stand in the courts although the solicitor had not given a written opinion. The ordinance was then passed on its second and third readings by the following vote:

Ayes—Barry, Booth, Costello, Donahoe, Douglas, Fichtel, Fleming, Gallagher, Geary, Hermes, Jones, Kearns, Lang, Morgan, Murphy, O'Brien, Perry, Piati, Poke, Ruhlandt, Schempp, Schlernitzauer, Schneider, Shenkel, Stewart, Vosbamp, West, Wightman, Wilson, Zahniser and President Lumbie—31.

Nays—Atkinson, Benz, Diehl, Upperman and Wainwright—5.

Absent—Rothmeller and Sankey.

Another Slap at B. & O.

Following the passage of the linear tax ordinance Mr. Fleming introduced a resolution to prevent the Pittsburgh & Junction railroad to use bituminous coal on its line, which was regarded as another slap at the Baltimore & Ohio, of which the Pittsburgh & Junction is a branch. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Murphy then made the motion to withdraw the B. & O. ordinances for street vacations in the Twenty-third ward from the surveys committee, but S. J. Wainwright, a member of the combine, moved to adjourn and the motion to adjourn was carried by a vote of 26 to 4.

At the beginning of the session select council approved the report of the public works committee on the widening of Virgin alley, and also amended the ordinance for the Negley run sewer at the Elliant pumping station, to increase the diameter of the sewer from 8 to 11 inches.

REPUBLICANS GET MORE MONEY FOR CITY EMPLOYES

Citizens Opposed Increase in Salaries to Firemen, but Were Defeated.

The linear tax ordinance will have become a law as soon as it is approved by the mayor. Common council last night concurred in the amendment made by the select branch and passed the bill finally. It will go today to the mayor for his signature. The measure passed common council by an unanimous vote. M. G. Leslie said that while he would vote for the passage of the bill in order to aid those who might think the city was going to get some revenue from it, he was satisfied that the measure was illegal and would not stand the test in the courts. He said the bill was merely to fool hundreds and thousands of people on the eve of an election.

Common council prevented the passage, under a suspension of the rules, of the new resolution authorizing the employment of three experts to verify the figures of Director E. M. Bigelow on filtration. A three-fourths vote was required to suspend the rules which was not obtained. The vote was as follows:

Noes—Armstrong, Barr, Cavett, Cross, Edwards, Leslie, John Lewis, Rodgers, Schwarzwaelder, Semmelroch, Sheehan, Wasson, West.—13.

Blanket Ordinance Delayed.

The Republicans of common council gained their point in the fight on the blanket ordinance and with the aid of the "Orphans" that ordinance and also the ordinance for the charities department, containing a blanket clause, were referred to the city solicitor for a written opinion. The charities ordinance had been passed by council when M. G. Leslie came into the chamber, but he forced the body to reconsider its action on the measure and to refer it to the solicitor with the other.

He claimed that the blanket clause in both bills was illegal and that the controller could not legally pay warrants containing a blanket clause in the past 10 years and that the practice should be abolished forever. He called attention to the pledges made by the "Orphans" in their platform that they would not vote for the blanket clause, and W. H. Stevenson claimed that this clause had been eliminated when the right of the director to employ as many "clerks and officials" as he wanted was stricken out. Mr. Leslie maintained that the word "artisans" in the other blanket clause included almost every class of labor employed by the city.

W. C. Reitz, one of the "Orphan" leaders, was inclined to agree with Leslie and made the motion to refer both ordinances to the solicitor, which was carried by a vote of 23 to 15.

Those voting in the negative were—Beckert, Bole, Fitzpatrick, Hogue, Hughes, Jack, Lamb, Lauler, David Lewis, Martin, McNally, McNeil, Williams O'Brien, Rodgers, Schad, Schuck, Soffel and Willey.

Republicans Favor Firemen.

A large lobby of firemen was present when the ordinance for the public safety department was called up and many advances granted. The Republicans led in the move to grant the firemen an increase, which was strenuously opposed by W. H. Stevenson, George McNeil, D. F. Crawford and other Citizens leaders who claimed that the increase would make a deficiency in the public safety fund of $25,000 by the end of the present fiscal year. They suggested that the ordinance be amended to delay the payment of the advances in salaries until February 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year, but this proposition was opposed by the committee of firemen who were present and by the Republican members in their behalf.

J. C. Wasson said: "That is another one of their promises which the Citizens party has made within the past 12 months and you know how they have been kept."

This caused a laugh among the members and started applause in the lobby. Leslie said there was a deficiency in the fund for the bureau of fire it could be met by funds transferred from another bureau such as Director Bigelow had frequently done for his department but if there were no funds on hand the bond ordinance could be passed by councils as was done for the relief of the bureau of health two weeks ago.

J. K. Wymard, a Citizens member, made a motion to amend the ordinance to prevent it from becoming operative until the first of next February but this motion was lost.

Ordinance for Higher Wages.

The ordinance as amended was passed on second reading and went over until the next meeting for reprinting. The advances provided for in the amendments are as follows: Captains and lieutenants advanced from $100 to $110; lieutenant from $87 50 to 97 50; engineers from $91 66 to $100; drivers from $82 50 to $85; laddermen and hosemen, three years experience, from $80 to $90; two years, from $75 to $85; one year, from $70 to $80; fuel wagon drivers from $82 50 to $85; matrons from $40 to $45; sanitary policemen from $70 to $80.

The ordinance for the licensing of brokers, exempting pawnbrokers, of stocks, bonds, pig iron, vegetables, etc., and imposing penalty for violation was finally passed.

The ordinance for the vacation of Station street from the Pennsylvania railroad tracks to Penn avenue for the contemplated improvement of the railroad company, was also passed finally.

Warehouse Bill Presented.

Mr. Walla introduced the ordinances the River & Terminal Co. wants passed to prepare for the system of warehouses in the Thirtieth ward. The ordinances provide for vacating Bingham street from South Third to South Fourth and for widening Carson between the same points; for naming that part of Cabot way, McKean street; establishing the grade on the widened street; for a switch track on South Fourth street, for a bridge across Cabot way, and for establishing the grade of Bingham street from South Fourth street 118 feet eastwardly.

RESORTING TO FRAUD TO HELP THE CITIZENS

Prominent Allegheny Republican's Letter Heads Were Used Without Consent.

A fraudulent method put into force by the Citizens party of Allegheny, in an effort to get votes for Harry L. Goehring, their candidate for district attorney, was exposed yesterday.

The communication was written on a letterhead of H. C. Mendel, whose political influence throughout the upper end of the city is known to both parties. The writers of Goehring's good qualities and asks that all Allegheny voters support him for district attorney.

Mr. Mendel said last night that he knew nothing of the letters or how his stationery had been secured. He had heard that a large number of these letters had been mailed during the day. Many of his friends, who have known him as a staunch Republican for years, called Mendel up by telephone last night to inquire into the matter. In this manner he was made aware of the scheme to use his influence.

"I have never been very prominent in politics," said he, "although I have lived in Allegheny all my life and know as many people as any man in the city. But I have always been a Republican and I am sorry that this thing of trying to drag me into the fight without my consent has been attempted. Those who know me will understand that I am in no way responsible for this thing. I shall make an effort to discover who is perpetrating such a scheme."

A meeting of the Citizens party of Allegheny was held last night in the auditorium of the Sixth ward school. H. L. Goehring, R. B. Jackson, Thomas M. Bryan, S. Porter, Charles A. Looke and others spoke. Director E. M. Bigelow of the department of public works, was the principal orator. The crowd numbered 114 by actual count. Of this number 14 were not payrollers.

ORPHANS STILL OUTSIDE OF THE CITIZENS PARTY

W. H. Stevenson and Colleagues Declare Railroad Measures Must Be Passed.

"We are still 'Orphans,' and it won't be long until even an asylum will not be large enough to hold us," declared W. H. Stevenson in common council last night, when the name of "Orphans" was mentioned in debate. After the meeting Mr. Stevenson stated that the "Orphans" would not support the Citizens party until all the pledges of the party had been kept. He said the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances would have to be passed and the Pennsylvania ordinance amended and passed before the "Orphans" would seek refuge again in the Citizens camp.

"We stand just where we stood two weeks ago when we gave out the statement insisting upon the passage of the linear tax ordinance and the railroad ordinances," he added.

"We will remain 'Orphans' until the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances are passed, also the Pennsylvania ordinance with an amendment providing for compensation and joint use," said W. C. Reitz.

"The Orphans' organization is still intact. The passage of the linear tax ordinance is a step in the right direction, but there are several more pledges that will have to be kept before we can support the Citizens party," said President C. S. Crawford.

UPPERMAN MAKES ANOTHER GREAT BLUFF

Calls Meeting of Corporations Committee for Thursday to Consider Railroad Bills.

To carry out the bluff that the "air-tight" corporations committee of select council is not purposely holding up the Baltimore & Ohio and other railroad ordinances, Chairman John Upperman has called a meeting of the committee for Thursday afternoon, to which he makes the pretense of inviting shippers. Personal reasons, which were responsible for the holdup of the Wabash ordinance for two years, by the same committee, are expected to delay the Baltimore & Ohio ordinance unless the company comes to terms.

President L. F. Loree of the Baltimore & Ohio was in the city yesterday attending to business of the corporation. President Loree had this to say: "I think that $10,000 a year rental, as provided for by the ordinance now before councils, is ample compensation for the grant. The Baltimore & Ohio does not expect to increase its present earnings a single dollar by the building of the new station."

Car Fender Saves Life of McKees Rocks Child.

Little Flossie Kernan, the 4-year-old daughter of John Kernan of McKees Rocks, had a miraculous escape from death shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. The fender of a street car saved her from being mangled beneath the wheels. The little girl, with her mother, attempted to cross the street when the girl was struck by a car. The agonized mother saw her daughter disappear under the wheels, and after the motorman had brought the car to a standstill, several hundred feet away, Mrs. Kernan rushed forward, expecting to see her child dragged forth. Instead, perched on the fender, was the little girl, badly frightened but with no other injuries than minor bruises and scratches.

MURDERERS ARE ABOARD A VESSEL

Contractor Samuel T. Ferguson's Slayers Will Be Arrested When They Reach Austria.

EXTRADITED BACK AT ONCE

Superintendent McQuaide of Pittsburgh, Who Located the Men, Says They Will Be Tried and Convicted in the Washington County Courts Next Month.

"District Attorney Owen C. Underwood of Washington county, next month at Washington, Pa., will conduct the case against Milovar Rovovick and Milovar Pattrovick, the men who murdered Contractor Samuel T. Ferguson. They will be apprehended by that time, and there is not a particle of doubt in my mind but that they will be convicted."

This statement was made yesterday by Supt. Thomas A. McQuaide of the Pittsburgh bureau of detectives after a conference with District Attorney Underwood in Washington, Pa., at which Detective Richard Kelly of Pittsburgh was present. McQuaide supplemented his statement by saying the two Croats are now definitely located, and, although they are on board an ocean liner, they will be arrested and taken back to Washington county in time for trial next month.

The men are on a vessel which is rapidly taking them toward their native land of Croatia, in Austria. As soon as they reach the other side of the Atlantic they will be arrested by the Australian authorities and speedily sent back to the United States. District Attorney Underwood last night prepared the necessary petition to the state department at the national capital for extradition papers and these will be forwarded at once. The papers will be ready when the two suspected men step from the ocean liner in a few days.

Supt. McQuaide and Detective Kelly went to Washington yesterday, and after the conference with the district attorney went before Justice of the Peace J. R. Forrest and made informations against Kovovick and Pattrovick charging them with Ferguson's murder. McQuaide says that around the two men has been woven such a chain of evidence that it will be impossible to break it and their conviction is but a matter of time.

The officials of Washington county yesterday started to secure additional testimony to use against the men when they are brought to trial. Sheriff C. E. Cathers and George Schaney, the Washington county engineer, went to West Middletown, where the crime was committed on September 25, and made a careful survey of the ground. They interviewed a number of citizens of the town, securing valuable testimony. It is believed some arrests will be made at West Middletown within the next few days.

Frank Francis and Joseph Houston, the two men arrested the day of the murder suspected of being implicated in it, and who had since been confined in the Washington county jail, were yesterday released. The two men left for West Virginia to secure employment in a construction camp.

COLORED MEN HELD A BIG REPUBLICAN MEETING

There was a big Republican mass meeting held in the Thirty-eighth ward school house last night under the auspices of the Colored Men's Protective association, of which P. L. Pryor is president. Joseph B. Walker presided and addresses were made by Messrs. John Hudson, H. Henderson, C. Fausen, John Robinson, H. Henderson and P. L. Pryor.

New Comedy Makes a Hit.

BUFFALO, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Charles Frohman and George Edwardes produced "The Girl from Kays" at the Star theater tonight and a fashionable audience enthusiastically welcomed this fascinating creature of musical comedy. There is a consistent comedy story, one that can be told and remembered; the lyrics are bright and have real rhythm. The music is so catchy that there are at least a score of numbers that will be whistled wherever they are heard. Mr. Frohman has staged it with a lavish hand.

The Burlington offers a greater selection of routes to the West and Northwest than any other line—that fact is worth considering.

Very low-price one-way tickets will be on sale via the Burlington to the Pacific Northwest, as well as to California, every day until November 30.

Look at these rates—$33 from Chicago, $20 from St. Louis, to Portland, Tacoma, Seattle; $30.50 from Chicago, $27.50 from St. Louis, to Spokane and Eastern Washington; $28 from Chicago, $25 from St. Louis, to Salt Lake City, Ogden, Butte, Helena and Anaconda.

LOW METHODS USED BY POLICE

JURY ACQUITTED JOHNSTON

Attorney Diamond's Hot Indictment of the Police Department During a Trial for Selling Liquor Illegally—Characterized Action as "Bunco Game."

"Gentlemen, if this case is a fair sample of the alleged raids of the police department on disorderly houses as given so much prominence by Superintendent McTighe's press bureau, I pity the people who believe anything the police department undertakes. If this department of the city has fallen to the point where it has to go into men's homes at 2 o'clock in the morning to work up such a flimsy case as this, in an effort to bunco the public into believing that it is suppressing crime, it is high time for the people of this city to see that the police department is renovated."—Attorney Harry Diamond in his argument to the jury in the case of James Y. Johnston, who was acquitted in criminal court yesterday, of a charge of selling liquor without a license and on Sunday, made by police officials in Pittsburgh.

James Y. Johnston, a poor restaurateur, who was in business at No. 4516 Penn avenue, was indicted under the name of Joseph Johnston for selling liquor without a license and on Sunday. He was arrested on Sunday, August 9, about 9 o'clock in the morning, together with two customers who were quietly eating in his restaurant, his wife and two boys who were his cousins. Johnston states he was picked out in order to give the general public the impression that the police department was doing something to suppress crime. He says he was a victim of too much kindness to the police department and his friendship was taken advantage of to work up a fake raid. And the jury evidently agreed with him. Johnston told the jury the following story:

Johnston's Story to the Jury.

"Policeman Edward Fitzgerald, who patroled the beat upon which my restaurant was located, was fed at my expense, as nearly every other policeman in Pittsburgh is fed by restaurants on their beats. For five months this Citizen official came into the store and got what he asked for without question. I never kept a speakeasy, but always had beer in the house for my own use and would treat on occasions.

"I was asleep on Sunday morning when a knock came to the door of the restaurant. I went down stairs and found Fitzgerald and a negro, whom I afterwards learned was a policeman, in citizen's clothes. Fitzgerald told me colored man was a friend who wanted to get something to eat. I told them I had shut up, but as the policeman insisted, I let them in and asked the negro, Policeman John Burleigh, what he wanted. He insisted on getting 'pigs feet,' but the only thing I had was New England ham. When he couldn't get pigs feet, he took two sandwiches and then Fitzgerald said he was thirsty and asked me to get him something to drink.

"I have nothing but milk, gentlemen; the coffee is cold," Johnston says he answered.

"Oh, milk makes me sick," the negro policeman is alleged to have replied.

Policemen Asked for Beer.

"Can't you get him some beer?" Fitzgerald is said to have asked.

"As Fitzgerald was a policeman, and as I had several bottles of my own," Johnston says, "I told them I would give him some, and procured two cold bottles from the cellar.

"He drank them and asked for more. I got them two more bottles, and they drank that. I had given Fitzgerald a sandwich. When they finished they asked me what it cost. I told them 10 cents, not charging Fitzgerald for his sandwich, as had always been my custom.

"Oh, he's a good fellow," replied Fitzgerald," give him 50 cents for the beer."

"I demurred to this and told them I could not take it, as I was not selling beer or liquor. The other man argued on the cost of the beer, and while I went to get change to give them 40 cents they went out. I did not want this money and had refused pay for the liquor. They did not arrest me then, but the same morning, at 8 a. m., a squad of policemen raided the house and arrested everybody in the place, making a great talk in the papers about raiding disorderly houses and speakeasies. I never sold liquor in my life and did not begin at that early hour Sunday morning."

Mrs. Johnston corroborated her husband, and he had other witnesses to prove he kept a respectable house.

Said They Bought the Beer.

The policemen did not deny buying the sandwiches, but stated they had purchased the four bottles of beer and two pints of whisky, for which they said they paid $1.25. Fitzgerald said he knew Johnston had sold liquor for months, but had not arrested him.

Attorney Harry Diamond of the law firm of Diamond & Zacharias was defending Johnston, when he made a hot speech to the jury. Diamond characterized the conduct of the policeman as dastardly and stated plainly that the whole scheme was a "con game" of the dirty variety to give the police department a standing with the good element of the community, while it permitted real disorderly houses from which graft could be obtained to do business. He did not name any particular official in his defense of his client, but wanted to know why Fitzgerald had not arrested him before if he knew he was selling liquor. The jury evidently believed his charge, as it acquitted Johnston in quick order. Johnston has consulted his attorneys about bringing a damage suit against the police department for false arrest.

This is said to be but one of the number of similar schemes to make alleged raids to give the police department the appearance of trying to suppress evil places and to uphold law and order. The cases are now coming up in court, and it is said a number of innocent persons who have been raided will show up the schemes.

SECOND DEBATE TONIGHT.

Pastor Russell and Dr. Eaton Will Discuss Souls of the Dead.

The second of the series of debates on scriptural topics between Pastor C. T. Russell, D. D., and the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, will take place this evening in Carnegie hall, Allegheny. The subject under discussion will be: "The Scriptures Clearly Teach That the Souls of the Dead are Unconscious While Their Bodies are in the Grave." Dr. Russell will take the affirmative side of the question and Dr. Eaton the negative. The Rev. Dr. H. D. Lindsay will be the chairman of the meeting.

The debate will open at 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a short song service. A full stenographic account of the debate with the arguments made on both sides of the question, will appear in The Gazette of Wednesday morning.

Business and Building.

With everyone connected with this store keyed up to the highest pitch on the eve of getting possession of our great new addition, the spirit of the occasion demands lower prices than ever. Judge the qualities and the prices when you get to them.

We trust visitors will overlook the incessant noise which is wafted over from the new building—it is simply an indication that we are nearing the end.

New Arrivals Among Suits and Jackets.

The New Suits.

$30.00 Beautiful new Suits, with the new straight front single-breasted coat, having inlaid collar of velvet, trimmed with soutache braid and welt seams; nine-gore flare skirt, kilted at the knee. These suits are made of unfinished cheviot, black and blue.

$30.00 Handsome Suits of zibeline—blue, brown, black, waist finished with velvet collar, velvet cuffs, velvet buttons. The collar is also trimmed with gilt braid; coat in blouse effect; nine-gore skirt, lap seams, walking lengths.

$35.00 Strikingly handsome Suits of novelty cloth—two different shades. Coat full 32 inches long, having welt seams, inlaid velvet collar, and lining of taffeta; nine-gore skirt, knee pleat.

$40.00 Swell Military Suits of zibeline in black and that very popular oxford gray; the coat, which is in military effect, is 38 inches long, trimmed with wide braid in front, inlaid velvet collar, finished with soutache braid—same style of cuff and same style of trimming. The coat is double-breasted, having gilt buttons and is full lined with taffeta silk; nine-gore skirt; walking length.

New Coats.

$15.00 Black cheviot coat, 27 inches long, finished with lap seams, and fancy stitched cuffs; lined throughout with Skinner's satin.

$20.00 Nobby light covert Jackets, welt seams, turn-back cuffs, lined with taffeta silk. This coat is in corset effect.

$22.00 New Coats of black kersey, light weight, three-quarter length cape effect. This coat has puffed sleeves with fancy stitched cuff. Is lined with Skinner's satin, and buttons with the faddish gun-metal button.

$30.00 New three-quarter length kersey cape Coats, triple capes, box-pleated backs, fancy stitched velvet collar and cuffs, large puff sleeves, full lined with Skinner's satin.

New Waists of Cotton and Wool.

Also reference to the natty Golf Vest.

Our lines of winter wear waists in which heavy cotton goods have been employed, our lines of waists in new woolen materials and our lines of Golf Vests and Blouses are replete with every style that is fashionable.

Golf Vests and Blouses.

Vests of fancy worsteds, low necked, double-breasted, white pearl buttons—red and white, white and green, white and black, $2.50.

Blouses of fine worsted, double high collar—red and white, navy and black—fancy woven stripes—$2.00.

Fancy Gray Blouses, double collar, two rows of white pearl buttons, $4.00.

Same style in white with black collar and cuffs, $4.00.

Cotton Waists.

At $1.00, white Oxford Waists, tucked front and back, the front duchess model, self stock, full sleeve.

At $1.00, Cotton Waists in tan, blue, gray mixtures, tucked front and back, very serviceable waists for morning wear.

At $3.50, white tailor-made Linen Waists, heavy Irish linen, something very stylish.

Waists of Woolen Materials.

At $7.50, fancy striped and plaid Waists of Scotch flannel, red and gray, red and tan, red and white, and white and black, $7.50.

At $13.50, fine tailor-made Waists; the best fitting garments fashioned. These new waists are of fancy velvet, the front and back admirably plain, full sleeves, velvet stock, fancy linen turnover.

More New Silks—Attractive Prices.

New arrivals every day—that's the best way to put it. This holding good both as to colored silks and best black silks.

Fancy Silks for 78c, 88c and 98c a yard that are worth $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00. Including all the fashionable fall shades, and such weaves as Pompadour, Pointille, Louisine. Many pretty Roman stripes and Cannele stripes, also a big assortment of the now popular gun-metal effects.

Plain colored taffetas—all the leading colorings—also white. These taffetas are unusually strong, and have our guarantee as to being all pure silk. 50c a yard.

Belts With a Title.

And for merit they deserve it.

ROYAL BELTS perform the function for which belts were made—other sorts are a mere decorative make-believe.

The ROYAL holds up the skirt; and it holds the waist down. Then by reason of its peculiar construction, for which it was invented, it gives the pointed straight front effect that is so neat and smart looking, and it holds its position without any outside assistance.

There are many beautiful varieties of ROYAL BELTS priced from $1.25 to $3.00 each.

Breitschwantz.

Not the fur, but a beautiful velvet simulating this delicate fur of the baby lamb, a velvet that is immensely popular this season for trimming. Every known color. $2.50 a yard.

Now for the fashionable coat, you will naturally ask for Black Velour du Nord. We have it in great variety. $1.88 a yard, worth $2.25.

Temptingly Low Prices on Millinery.

Women's and Girls'.

Today we have a special sale of Trimmed Hats and Toques—odd lots—some of them showing faint marks of handling.

Taking the lot through and through, it presents an opportunity to get a natty runabout hat for a trifle.

$1.50 Trimmed Hats and Toques for $1.00.

$2.25 Trimmed Hats and Toques for $1.50.

$3.50 Trimmed Hats and Toques for $2.25.

$5.00 Trimmed Hats and Toques for $3.50.

$7.50 Trimmed Hats and Toques for $5.00.

We are ready with new lines of Phipps & Atcheson's ready-to-wear Hats, perfect models for all street wear, $3.50, $5.00, $7.50, $10.00, $12.00, $16.00.

Young Girls' and Young Ladies' Trimmed Hats, exquisite effects, produced with ribbon, velvets and feathers, at $5.00, $7.50, $10.00, $12.00, $15.00.

In the Boys' and Girls' Hat and Cap Department many new shapes in materials to match coats, prices begin at 35c and rise gradually to $5.50.

Lace Curtains and Portieres.

Lace Curtains that possess style and quality are presented here in greatest variety, beginning with the modest and popular Nottingham at 50c the pair and running through every style of lace effects up to the aristocratic Arabian curtains costing hundreds of dollars a pair.

The distinctive merit of our lace curtain variety lies in the fact that the major portion of the collection was personally selected abroad.

We also have a large variety of Lace Insertions, Edgings, Motifs and Nets which are used for making up special panels and irregular sizes of sash curtains.

We pay particular attention to Portieres, not only those ready to hang, but also to the making of Portieres to order. We have every sort of stuff used.

In the ready-made Portieres selections can be made from both plain and brocaded centers with borders, at such low prices as $4.75, $6.50, $7.00, $7.50, $8.00, $8.50, $11.00 a pair.

Kimonos, Dressing Sacques, Wrappers.

And what a range of fabrics; silk, cashmere, albatross, challis, French flannel, flannelette, eiderdown. And the price range is as varied as the range of materials.

75c for a Dressing Sacque of a good quality of eiderdown, finished all round with crochet edge, fastened with satin ribbon. A prepossessing house garment in all colors and all sizes.

$1.50 for long Kimonos of fine flannelette, Persian patterns resembling silk, finished with broad bands in contrasting colors.

We also have Japanese Robes, both quilted and plain, also in crepe effects, which are inexpensive.

75c for Flannelette Wrappers, gray and white, navy and white, red and white stripes. Skirt has deep flounce, waist with fitted lining, yoke back and front, trimmed with braids, as is also the shoulder capes.

Rug Department Now in Spacious Quarters.

The fourth floor of the new building, pretty much the whole floor given over to Carpets and Rugs. Today we have a sale of Domestic Rugs, and notwithstanding manufacturers have agreed to advance prices, we still hold to the same low prices that have been quoted for the past two weeks. It is questionable whether such rugs could be bought anywhere in Greater Pittsburg for the same figures herewith quoted—

9 ft. x 6 ft. Kashmir Rugs, $6.00.

10 ft. 6 in. x 7 ft. 6 in. Kashmir Rugs, $8.00.

12 ft. x 9 ft. Kashmir Rugs, $10.00.

12 ft. x 9 ft. best Tapestry Brussels Rugs, $13.50.

12 ft. x 9 ft. Hartford Brussels Rugs, best grade, $25.00.

12 ft. x 9 ft. Stamboul Wilton Rugs, $32.50.

12 ft. x 9 ft. French Wilton Rugs, $50.00.

Little Priced China.

We have been telling pretty broadly of late about our little prices of china, and this morning reference only to a few numbers:

12½c for plain white Bavarian China Ramequins and Plates, regular 20c; only 650 of them.

A New Style of Folding Bed.

A perfectly safe folding bed, folding in an entirely different way from anything heretofore invented. It is a metal bed, iron enameled in different colors, finished with brass trimmings.

It is a great saver of space, it is perfect in sanitation, and it is impossible for it to close up when occupied.

It is finished with a set of splendid steel springs, and is the essence of comfort, is strong and durable. The space occupied, when closed, is only 12 inches from the wall. It is on exhibit in our booth at Exposition and also in our Brass Bed department, Fourth Floor.

Price for single bed, $25.00.

Price for three-quarter bed, $32.50.

500 Pieces Stamped Linen—Trifling Prices.

A bit of good news for women who have plenty of leisure—center pieces, stamped in pretty designs, roses, daisies, poppies, violets, carnations, the purchaser, of course, finishing the piece. Sale will be on round table, main aisle.

Tuesday, October 20, 1903.

There is danger that some people are losing their heads along with their securities. It is probably of no avail to argue with a man who is frightened, but it is surely proper to say that investors who have bought and paid for securities representing dividend earning properties can only add to their own losses by throwing their goods overboard at a time like this. The darkest hour is just before dawn, and if there was no better reason for believing that the worst has passed in the stock market, the prevalent pessimism of the crowd would be a reason in itself. Any losses beyond those already suffered will have to be self-inflicted by the investing public.

Common council promptly enough concurred in the amendments to the linear license ordinance made in select. The measure is now up to Mayor William B. Hays and doubtless he will think it a good thing and "push it along." We fear, however, it will prove as Councilman Leslie remarked before voting for the bill last evening, a measure of no effect. Mr. Leslie declared he would not be among the people who are fooled by this ordinance which proposes to raise revenue from the corporations, but that he would vote for it to show he had no desire to withhold from the public any possible benefit that might accrue from it. Apparently other councilmen who have no faith in the Democratic-Citizens pretensions took the same view and voted the same way. If there is any failure it cannot be charged to them.

Cresceus, who stuck so long just above the two-minute mark that his owner despaired of him reaching it, proved yesterday how the unexpected happens by making a new world's record. He trotted the mile in less than two minutes without a wind shield or other adventitious aid, and came within a fraction of a second of equaling the best pacing time without a shield. In this connection it may be said that 1903 must be given a prominent place in turf annals. Not for many years, and possibly never before, were so many remarkable turf records made as during the season now closing. It is likely to be many years more until this year's number of record events will be equaled or surpassed. It is enough for an ordinary year if one or two record performances take place; this year has had a dozen.

In order to show Councilman William H. Stevenson how much they appreciate his earnest, though somewhat awkward efforts to enforce reforms pledged in their platforms, the proprietors of the Democratic-Citizens party have ousted the Stevenson-Moore faction from control of the organization in the Fourteenth ward. In control of the ward committee Mr. Stevenson was in a position to make things happen if the reform promises were not kept. On the outside he can only use his voice against the flagrant violation of promises and the arbitrary power of bossism. The course of the bosses is not to be wondered at, but it will be a surprise and a disappointment if the good people of the Fourteenth ward, who went into the fusion movement originally for real reform, approve the ouster. The committee is taken away from them, but there is a better party ticket they can vote on November 3.

Publication of the correspondence between Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania and Governor Hunn of Delaware arouses wonder that the latter should have found anything to be indignant about. The letter of Governor Pennypacker is courteous and simply requests an amendment of petition to conform to the rules of practice adopted at the New York conference. If there is in that request any insult to Governor Hunn it must be in the fact that he did not desire to conform to the rules and resents Governor Pennypacker's declination to submit to his irregular request. If so, Governor Pennypacker is the more to be applauded. He has done no more than his duty in trying to secure full justice. His return of the requisition contains no hint of suspicion that Delaware will not protect the prisoner or do full justice, and the report that he had made some such insinuation must have originated in the fact that upon a recent occasion the mob had full sway there and a grand jury refused to indict those implicated.

The escape of the confessed mail robber Bell at Philadelphia recalls the case of Kelso, wanted in Pittsburgh on a charge of murder. It is almost incomprehensible that officers give prisoners so many opportunities in the light of events. The escape of Kelso was ample indication of the desperate chances a desperate man would be willing to take to evade the law. Yet since that time there have been more than half a dozen similar escapes from moving trains and arresting officers learn nothing. It is always a fair presumption that a prisoner charged with a serious offense will escape if possible. An officer in charge of such a prisoner ought never to let the man out of his sight and he ought not to allow him to get in the way of making a dash for liberty. In this case two deputy marshals stood supinely in the Pullman car while their prisoner was making good his escape. He had a good long start and if it does not save him from the penitentiary it will not be the fault of the neglectful officers.

Use of Arbitrary Power.

Select council did the bidding of County Chairman Verner of the Democratic-Citizens organization. It resisted the attempt to recall the Baltimore & Ohio depot ordinance from the rump corporations committee by a vote of 15 to 21, and did it without offering a word of explanation why this public benefit should be withheld. Chairman Upperman of the rump committee made a personal attack upon Councilman Murphy and talked a lot of twaddle about meetings of the rump committee that might have been called, but even Upperman did not have the hardihood to state publicly why this ordinance was recommitted to his committee last summer, or why it continues to be held there in defiance of public sentiment. Of course the public knows it is so held at the behest of Murry A. Verner and there are rumors and conjectures why it is held. There are also rumors and conjectures as to why Mr. Verner or his coadjutor, Mr. Upperman, do not tell the public the real reason for blockading this improvement and those other improvements depending upon the Twenty-third ward ordinances.

Pursuant to repeated promises and in view of the public indignation aroused by repeated evasions, the select council passed the linear license tax ordinance as amended. The ordinance is of doubtful validity, its operation is postponed until next May and it is for but one year at best. It is put forward as a redemption of the Democratic-Citizens pledge to compel the corporations enjoying public privileges to pay their share of the cost of local government, though it is really more in the nature of a club to keep those corporations lined up politically for the owners of the Democratic-Citizens party. It may work all right with the corporations, but is not likely to deceive the people.

Thus we have an apparent compliance with one of the many demands of the political Orphans. What are they going to do about it? Surely they cannot honestly accept this meager performance and the brazen refusal to even consider the Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania railroad ordinances as a compliance with their demands. There has been the smallest fraction of reluctant redemption of campaign pledges, accompanied by a hold-up without parallel in Pittsburgh history for personal selfishness. By reason of that hold-up and changing financial conditions labor in Pittsburgh will be deprived of hundreds of thousands of dollars in wages and the city will be deprived of thousands of dollars annually in the form of rentals and ordinary taxation upon the increased value of railroad property. By that hold-up the workmen who will be deprived of employment will be compelled to go deeper in their pockets to defray the cost of government, which amounts at times to misgovernment. It is an exhibition of arbitrary power and unworthy motives that is highly instructive on the eve of an important election. It is a fair indication of the conduct of the new ring if the voters are foolish enough to entrust it with enlarged powers.

Business and War.

When Count Cassini, who is the Russian ambassador to the United States, said in an interview in Paris that Russia's "rights in Manchuria are undeniable," for Russia "made the country, which was, until quite recently, a mere haunt for bandits," and that these rights must be safeguarded so that "legitimate benefits" be realized by Russia, he undoubtedly gave to the world a clear view of the mainspring of Russian policy in the far east. He expects that "all Europe, including even Great Britain," will recognize "that their interests are united with those of Russia" in this matter. "None, except possibly Japan," he declares, "seriously contemplated that the evacuation (of Manchuria) be effected October 8," so well did all understand the need for safeguarding Russia's "immense interests," the result of "enormous expenditures." That is Russia's position in a nutshell, clearly put and easily understood. It is a commercial and business condition, as well as a political condition, and this is a commercial age. Diplomacy well understands the commercial phases of the Manchurian problem, and as the whole problem is largely a commercial one, the business man has little difficulty in comprehending the diplomacy of the situation and the end toward which it is working.

It is a plain business proposition on Japan's side as well as on the side of Russia. The population of Japan is growing rapidly and Japanese enterprise is no less expansive. Japan seeks a field for expansion of population and enterprise on the continent, which her islands do not afford, and the "sphere of influence" which her government—the national business agency—claims is threatened by a Russian incursion from Manchuria. It is because of the threat to Japan contained in the continued occupation of Manchuria and because of the determination of Russia not to abandon her large investment there to Chinese incapability and possible Japanese aggression that war is imminent. Each nation is now on a war footing, and each is prepared to battle for the commercial and business advantage of its people. The patriotic incitement to war is wholly secondary to the commercial impulse. Russian territory in the proper sense is not threatened, but only Russian investment; Japanese territory is not threatened, but only the opportunity for Japanese investment. The theater of investment is properly Chinese territory, but Chinese patriotism is so lacking that there is no official and no popular disposition worthy of a name since the suppression of the "Boxer" uprising to repel the two powers which contend, the one for monopoly of and the other for at least a share in the field of enterprise on which each looks with acquisitive greed.

England through its minister to Japan is represented to be endeavoring to compose the differences between Japan and Russia and to have made certain proposals on behalf of the former. But these proposals have taken such a form that unless they are an extreme demand which Japan is prepared to abate in the course of negotiation, the advances are sure to come to nothing. They afford a starting point, however, and may postpone the blow that one or the other claimant nations might feel compelled to strike but for the interposition of the British good offices. If the threatened blow is postponed it may never fall.

Count Cassini's exposition of Russia's position gives so clear an outline of the Russian attitude that Russia's stay in Manchuria, unless driven out by force of arms, may be accepted as a permanent fact. Russia has paid for something and has it, and, like the merchant who buys goods, will not abandon the merchandise to chance. Guarantees are demanded, but who will give them and who will underwrite them? There will be no abandonment of the investment in Manchuria, we may be sure, until Russia is satisfied on these points, and it doesn't look as if she can be satisfied. Japan may obtain compensation in being given a free hand and a free boot in some direction, but must expect to have Russia on her frontier even then, or fronting her coast if she fails to win a continental footing.

The Prospect in Maryland.

The Republicans of Maryland appear to have good reason for the belief that their ticket will be successful at the election of November 3. The Democrats have to fight this year not only the Republicans, but the Independent Democrats, and it is said that 12,000 of the latter have registered in Baltimore alone for this election and that led by Charles J. Bonaparte, president of the Reform league, they will give their votes to the Republican candidates. It does not mean a walkover for the Republicans, however, as the Democrats appreciate the force of the hostile array and are making their campaign with full knowledge of what they have to overcome and with a determination to do their best to overcome it. The Democratic organization is fighting as much to free itself completely from the dictation of the independents as to overcome the Republicans. The white supremacy plank in the state platform was placed there not because there is the slightest danger in Maryland that the whites will not continue supreme, being in a large majority, but with the hope that by raising the cry prejudices may be aroused that will make votes for the Democratic ticket or prevent a loss of votes. The appeal to prejudice does not, however, seem to be achieving results. It is described as an "overworked bugaboo," and there does not seem to be a fear in any quarter that the state will be in peril of negro domination in the event that the Democrats are beaten. According to a report in the Washington Star, which is not given to exaggeration or misrepresentation, but prints facts as it sees them, "while Mr. Warfield (the Democratic nominee for governor) has made an earnest and aggressive campaign he has failed to arouse that enthusiasm which has followed in the wake of the Republican candidate's tour of the state."

There is national importance in the Maryland campaign in the effect the result will have upon the presidential fortunes of Senator Gorman. It has been suspected that the white supremacy plank was designed as much for the promotion of his prospects in states further south in the event of the election of the Democratic state ticket in Maryland, as for use in that state; that, in fact, it had a double purpose. But if it does not serve its purpose in Maryland it is unlikely that it will serve the intended purpose further south. The Gorman boom until recently has been in high feather, and has been patted on the back by the former senator from Arkansas, who is chairman of the Democratic national committee, and by senators from Alabama and Georgia, while Clark Howell, whose hostility to Cleveland has constant incitement in his home town of Atlanta in the person of Hoke Smith, has not tired of sounding the Marylander's praises and doffing his silk hat to his ability and availability from a southern standpoint. But if Gorman cannot carry his own state these southern promoters will probably keep silent concerning him and move to consideration of other and unfrosted booms. If, however, the Democrats lose Maryland it will hardly appear worth while for Democrats anywhere to worry much as to who will be their presidential nominee.

The People and the Price.

The housekeepers of Greater Pittsburgh are confronted by a condition relating to the milk and cream supply, and later it will extend, it is said, to butter and cheese. The retailer has raised the price of milk and cream to the consumer, as to whose identity there is no question. The retailer blames it on the wholesale dealer and the wholesale dealer passes it along to the dairy man and farmer, who in turn blames it on the increased price of feed. We might go further and locate the responsibility for the high price of feed, but what's the use? In the end it would come only to a profitless dispute as to whether the elevation of price is due to greater consuming by the consumer or to an actual scarcity at some point in the economy of production and consumption. The important point is that the price is advanced, and that the pint of cream which has heretofore cost the housekeeper 12 cents is now to cost 16 cents, an advance of 33 1-3 per cent over the rate that has prevailed. When 33 1-3 per cent is added to the cost of a half pint or a pint of cream for the breakfast coffee, or to a pint or quart of milk for the breakfast food, it does not add vastly to the outgo for the daily food supply, but if there should be a similar sudden advance in the cost of all the food and drink for the family it would be a very serious matter. Stated as an addition of two, four, six or even eight cents a day to the cost of the daily menu it does not seem as large as when it is stated as a percentage, but stated in that way it inspires thought.

However, whether the increase in price be due to the greater demand of the consumer or to a scarcity somewhere that makes the actual cost of production greater the consumer has the remedy in his or her own hands. It was Bill Nye, we think, who once upon a time declared that if the railroads did not treat him right in the matter of an annual pass he would arise in his might and walk. When the beef barons a couple of years ago put up the price of meat the people were freely advised in the newspapers to restore the equilibrium by arising in their might and eating something else—something "equally as good." In other words, to make the laws of supply and demand operate by permitting the supply to accumulate in the hands of the producers. If the cow that gives the milk jumps over the moon the plain people have the power to stay on earth and wait for her return, instead of paying her traveling expenses, just as they had the power to wait for the return of the bovine that gave the beefsteaks and rib roasts, etc. The price will keep up only as long as the people will pay. If they will take their tea and coffee plain and moisten their breakfast food with something else the upward tendency of the products of the cow will disappear in the presence of the decreased demand.

In endeavoring to inculcate a love for the Christian religion in his sons, the Emperor William, at a dinner in honor of the confirmation of one of them, thus concluded an address: "That you may not be wanting in the help of God and our Saviour, to this let us empty our glasses." If the glasses had been emptied on the floor at about that time, the address might have been more effective.

The Sixteenth regiment, N. G. P., proved its fighting qualities in Porto Rico, and according to reports is holding up its reputation at home. The difference, however, is said to be that fighting foemen worthy of their steel the boys are preparing to have it out with each other, probably knowing that in doing so they are going up against good men who will stand their ground to a finish.

John Morley, litterateur, politician and journalist, whose "Life of Gladstone" has just been issued, was born in 1838. He was educated at Oxford, and became a contributor to the Literary Gazette and the Saturday Review. His early writings were literary rather than journalistic. He entered parliament in 1883, and three years later was made a member of Gladstone's cabinet as chief secretary for Ireland.

The most popular author in Switzerland at present is not a novelist, but a professor—Karl Hiltz, of the University of Berne—and his most popular book is an ethical treatise, entitled "Gluck," 24 which more than 30,000 copies have been printed in a short time. Its theme is happiness. Unlike Schopenhauer, he believes that happiness is really attainable, although Goethe declared, when he was 75, that he had in all his life hardly had four weeks of real enjoyment. The secret of happiness, according to Prof. Hiltz, lies in steady work of any kind.

MOTHER'S WAY.

When I was young, I recollect,
My mother had a way
Of dropping all my nicknames when
I chanced to disobey,
Or when I tried to shirk my work,
By arguments or games,
I 'member how she'd change my mind
By simply saying "James!"

I 'member how I ust to kick
When mother wanted wood,
How if she called me "Jim" 'twas safe
To whine, I understood,
But how I shot out to that shed
For fuel for the flames
When mother paused and turned around
And quietly said "James!"

It's thirty years or thereabouts
Since she called "James" to me,
But thirty years ain't long enough
To kill that memory,
Today that word from mother's lips
'Ud be the king of names—
I'd give the world to hear ouct more
Old mother call me "James!"

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Here's one that is likely to drive you crazy. "How much wood would a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck could chuck wood?"

These are the opening lines of a song that has been brought out specially to counteract the "Hiawatha" brain fag and leg lag.

But will it do it?

There are those on earth today—not saying whereat—through whose woozy brains are still buzzing that befuddling, bewitching refrain, which is said to be charged to Mark Twain's final account:

"Punch, brothers punch; punch with care—
Punch in the presence of the passenjare."

Thus far it was comparatively harmless, but there was fuddling and befuddling when it came to:

Then punch, brothers punch; punch with care,
Punch in the presence of the passenjare—
A blue trip-slip for a round trip fare—
And so on to the bug-house.

* * * * *

Nor does this woodchuck lyric, or limerick, come from Punxsutawney, as one would naturally suspect, or might reasonably conclude.

But Punxy is onto it, all right.

Its chief wonder-worker and lightning sharp turned in to disintegrate and reduce to pulp the new woodchuck problem.

He appears to have crushed it first, and then torn it to tinders (splinters) and is now pulpifying it. The next step will be another, so he says.

You never know when this lightning sharp is going to flash a flash that was never flashed aforetime, or strike a stroke that had never struck before. He is peculiar that way, sort o, but it is safer to humor him than to provoke his thunder (talkee-talk) which is said to be one long unbroken roll of language—language as varied as the posies on the dress that Dolly Varden wore, and only a little less incoherent than his poetical effusions.

Without hint or premonition he came bumping in by his own way, the wireless, tireless way, saying that he had heard, in the same way, that the woodchuck problem would appear in this column on Tuesday morning, and that he had a few observations to make on the same which he believed would relieve the mental strain that it might impose on the more sensitive and poetically inclined reader.

This Punxsutawney sharp strikes out by saying the problem is very simple—too simple almost for him to bother with, but in order to help those who are not as sharp as some others (no names) he lays aside more weighty matters and sheds a few rays to guide the intellects grouping in the darkness, and to enable them to steer clear of 'jack o' lanterns and illusive streaks of moonshine.

"To begin at the beginning," he begins, "which is the proper place to begin anything worth beginning at all, we will state the problem:

"How much wood would a woodchuck chuck If a woodchuck could chuck wood?"

That being in the interrogative form, it demands an answer, or rather a solution, for you cannot answer a problem any more than you can state a question. Therefore we take a general view of it as a whole in order to determine the proper place of beginning, which, in the matter of unwinding a spool of thread is at the finishing point. Logically speaking, this is reasoning a priori, but this method is not confined to logical propositions but may be freely used in disintegrating, exposing and annihilating metaphysical problems such as you have before you at the present moment, as I perceive by my tireless, wireless line of thought transference.

"Were the problem less abstruse it would be absurd and not worth this expenditure of thought energy. It is the abstruseness, the misunderstandableness of metaphysical problems and assumptive propositions that make them fit subjects for discussion, calling for deep diving into ancient lore after lost threads, and for high bounding to intercept and bring down lofty metaphors, which if gotten to the base in time may fuddle the umpire into calling the other fellow out.

"I hope you follow me; for if you don't catch the drift of my reasoning the drift may catch you like a groundhog under a logheap, and not being a woodchuck, nor used to that sort of chuck, you would be chucked in for good and all.

"Excuse a little facetiousness, for I sometimes do a humorous stunt when the funny editor is enjoying a sober spell. It is rather ticklish business, I admit, but it is so seldom the poor fellow takes a spell of this sort that I most cheerfully take the risk in order to allow him to enjoy them to the fullest in the bosom of his family, every member of which looks forward to these periods with as great anxiety as to a Sunday school picnic or the coming of a country uncle and aunt loaded with good things to eat.

"Therefore, I say you will have to—that is, I will expect, even insist upon it that you excuse me for this little digression, or more correctly, this slight diversion from the central line of thought, which, as you know, and every logician, as well as rhetorician, knows, is the line of least resistance to the writer, likewise to the reader whose mind happens to be weaker than that of the writer. It so happens, if such a thing is thinkable, for in our philosophy nothing happens but all things occur as a result of the operation of a force, or forces, having a greater potential than that of the occurrent thing itself.

"Do you follow me?

"It is important that you do not get lost, for if you do you may never be able to find yourself, and it is not likely that anyone else will bother looking you up.

"But to resume, and according to Horace the way to resume is to resume. Or was it Greely who cracked that off? It was one or the other, or, maybe, both. But it is true just the same even if neither of them said it. To my taste it has a decided ancient flavor, and were it not for a faint metalic ring I should decide in favor of Horace; but as it now appears under my keenest scrutiny I am driven, perforce, to compromise the doubt by casting it upon both—Horace Greely.

"So we get back to taw once more.

"You know what taw signifies, or is, or was in your school days, if any you ever endured, and had a few marbles.

"Now then. Say we are taw, and the problem, lying stretched at full length before us, stands thus:

"How much wood would a woodchuck chuck If a woodchuck could chuck wood?"

"This, as you see is a compound, coherent and obstruse problem: Compound because it embraces two major elements—wood and chuck, which, without the element of coherence would lead to no conclusion, but by the free use of cohesive material we may arrive at something definite. We now take the wood element, chuck it, and there you are—woodchuck.

"Follow me closely.

"We next take the problem as a whole, and by the inversion of terms we get:

"If a woodchuck could chuck wood
How much wood would a woodchuck chuck

"That's clever enough, isn't it?

"I daresay some of your readers will kick against inverting the terms. But how are you to get an all-around view of the problem unless you turn it bottomside up, and t'other end to?

"There's where you stump them.

"Now let us resort to cancellation and thereby chuck out a lot of dead wood, and would-be's, together with such surplus cohesive particles as 'if,' 'a,' and 'how,' which leaves the compound element, woodchuck, standing alone.

"Having thus eliminated all the different features of the problem, your office boy can do the rest, having recently had some ocular demonstrations of the capacity of a woodchuck for chucking wood."

It is unnecessary to add a word to this, either by way of comment or commendation, it being its own comment as well as commendation.

We grant, although he had much wit,
He was very shy of using it,
Beside, 'tis known he could speak Greek
As naturally as pigs squeak;
That Latin was no more difficile
Than to a blackbird 'tis to whistle.

National Issues in Ohio.

Mr. Johnson has pretended that the Ohio campaign is a local and state affair. If this were only a state campaign with only state issues, Mr. Bryan would have no place in it and no interest in the result. As a matter of fact, it is the principal preliminary battle for the national campaign next year. Both Mr. Johnson and Mr. Bryan show by their acts that they appreciate this fact just as fully as Senator Hanna and the president do.—Ohio State Journal.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—It has been questioned from time to time whether it pays to build such magnificent hotels as are to be seen in many of the uptown thoroughfares of Manhattan. The statement has been made that the expense does not pay for itself. Hotelkeepers are obliged to put immense sums into the decorations and equipments of their houses if they wish to keep in the procession, and their prices must be commensurate or they cannot get their money out of it all. One critic says that most of the people who patronize New York hotels have been used to good, substantial surroundings in their home life, and that they seek the same kind of thing at hotels. This opinion is absurd on its face. People who go to New York hotels do not want home surroundings. What they are here for is to get a change, and the more thoroughly their hotel takes them away from their regular way of living the better they like it. The electric lights, the gilding, the gorgeous mural paintings, the spacious lobby, the "palm room," with its orchestra discoursing all through the costly meal—those are what the visitor to this city desires and what he is willing to pay for. So much magnificence might pall after a while—probably would. But the "buyer" from a small town who takes his dinner quietly at home for 11 months in the year, likes to break loose on the 12th, and the gaudiest hotel is what he wants. No home life for him when he is in Manhattan. He gets that in his own town. Let him have light, and flowers, and haughty waiters, and expensive dinners, no matter what it costs, when he is here. Cheap hotels? Not for him—unless he happens to be "broke."

Dowie Runs Against a Snag.

Dowie, the prophet, began his "divine healing" today. There was not a very large attendance and it appeared as if there was a lack of faith among those who did go into the garden. Several cripples and other invalids went into the garden, and Dowie exhorted them to have faith, at the same time passing his hands over them. He scolded his audience most of the time as he did yesterday. His greatest trouble seems to be to keep people quiet. He finds that New Yorkers need discipline and he has about despaired of making them as docile as his own Zionists in spite of his almost superhuman efforts.

Tammany Leader Grows Desperate.

Murphy, the Tammany boss, is getting desperate. He is quoted as saying that W. R. Devery and Gov. Odell were in conference at the Fifth Avenue hotel last Thursday night, and that Devery "probably handed Odell $50,000 which he had collected from keepers of disreputable houses." Murphy says he can prove this, and New York is waiting for him to do it.

Being a Receiver Not Always Pleasant.

Charles M. Preston discovered today that it is not always pleasant to be receiver of a company including many individual interests. At a meeting of stockholders of the New York Building and Loan Banking Company today there was such a riotous time that the police reserves were called. The purpose of the meeting was to vote a stock assessment of 20 per cent. Some of the stockholders shouted that the officials of the company were crooks and thieves, and then the police came. The vote may be taken at another meeting.

Dowie's Coachman Is Persecuted.

Dowie's coachman is having troubles of his own. An army of private coachmen for millionaire families of Fifth avenue use the stable where Dowie's official coach and horses are kept, near the Plaza hotel. They have been amusing themselves by hiding the Zion coachman's livery overcoat, and hurling profanity at him, knowing that he cannot retort in kind. They swear; he replies: "Peace be to thee." Then they laugh louder than ever. The coachman had to take Elijah down to the garden yesterday without finding his overcoat, and it was not until late at night that the garment was produced by some of the unregenerate coachmen. It is evident that a good field for evangelistic and "restoration" work is to be found at this stable, but the Zion coachman is not sure that he can attend to it properly unassisted.

Mrs. Davis Back in New York.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis is in New York again looking little the worse for her severe illness in Buffalo. She is comfortably settled at her regular winter home in a hotel near Longacre square and intends to stay there till spring. Mrs. Davis is always the center of a coterie of literary and artistic folk in the winter, and her receptions are among the most delightful functions of that kind in Manhattan.

Third Rail Should Be Covered.

Considering how often there is a blockade on the Brooklyn "L" it appears as if the greatest need of the elevated system in that borough is some arrangement for covering the deadly third rail so that passengers could walk along the tracks in comparative safety. A train broke down in the rush hours this morning and all traffic on that particular division was held up for an hour. Passengers were locked in the cars to prevent them walking on the tracks. The railroad employes were afraid to trust them near the third rail. Many have been the fatalities on the Brooklyn "L," generally the result of a blockade like that of today. Engineers say it would be easy to cover the contact electric rail so that it would not be easy for anyone to touch it accidentally. Some such system is to be installed in the rapid transit tunnel. Brooklynites would like to know why they cannot have it on their elevated railroad.

Plenty of Centenarians in New York.

Judging by the number of people that have lived to the age of 99 or 100 in and near New York the healthfulness of this part of the country is self-evident. There is a hale old lady just across the river in Jersey who will be 100 in December and several centenarians have found their way into the newspapers within the last few weeks. A blind negro of 90 died in Brooklyn yesterday.

Newark Is Expensive for Boys.

According to one man it costs $1,000 a year to board a boy in Newark, N. J. The man's name is Piper, and he has just begun a suit against the father for $12,000 for more than 12 years' support of the lad. Board is board in Newark.

Street Slaughter Must Cease.

Deputy Police Commissioner Piper says that in London each driver makes every other driver live up to the rules of the road. He will try to improve conditions in New York and wants drivers in this city to copy their London fellow-drivers in the matter of watching each other. More than a score of well-known persons have been killed in New York streets within a year. Piper thinks that is too many, even for a metropolis. Besides the prominent personages, hundreds of nobodies have been slain by wagons and cars in that period.

The Alaskan Award.

It is announced that the Alaskan boundary commission's award grants to the United States most of the territory in dispute, but gives to Canada the coveted outlet to the sea via the Portland canal. Now that a decision has been made by a tribunal of their own choosing, it should be loyally and cheerfully accepted by both Americans and Canadians. This peaceful settlement of a controversy which might have led to war is a victory for international arbitration, of which both countries may be proud. With the Alaskan stumbling block removed the way is cleared for a meeting of the joint high commissioners and for the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty with Canada which will facilitate trade with our northern neighbors and knit closer the bonds of kindly feeling which now exists, regardless of political boundary.—New York Herald.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The decision in the Alaskan boundary commission is nothing more than fair and just. That such a decision was not procured at the hands of arbiters on both sides of the controversy who might have deferred or defeated agreement by standing out for self-interest is a matter of good augury. John Bull has done himself honor, more especially as in the way of land bargaining he has been heretofore. His Hotspur disposed to cavil upon "the ninth part of a hair."—Philadelphia Record.

\+ \+ \+ \+

Aside from the interest and importance of the controversy in the diplomatic and territorial sense, it has, in the method adopted for that settlement, enlisted the attention of the world as a proof of the abiding friendship of these two great nations, which both are deeply resolved shall not be disturbed. We have come together in a most amicable manner to settle the question between us by a judicial proceeding. Courtesy and friendship have marked the sittings of the tribunal from the beginning. The opinion reached, while eminently satisfactory to this country, will be hard for the Canadians to accept, since they had set their hearts on a different result. But in England we may be very sure that a natural sense of justice, joined to the pleasure with which all Englishmen will hear that a possible cause of difference with us has been removed, will make the finding welcome to public opinion.—New York Times.

The decision of the Alaskan boundary commission is one that should be fairly satisfactory to both Canada and the United States; to us because we preserve our title to nearly all that belongs to us—which is better than the customary result of our negotiations over disputed questions on the Canadian border—and to Canada because she is the winner by the Portland canal, which guarantees her the good deep water open port which she needs for a terminus to her proposed Grand Trunk railway, and, which is of paramount importance, the two islands in the canal that dominate, in a military sense, Port Simpson. Canada's contention was an example of that brilliant principle of conduct that if you claim a great deal you may gain a little bit. It was worked on the United States most effectively in the disputes over the Pacific coast boundary which raised the cry of "54 degrees 40 minutes or fight," and the earlier controversy on the Atlantic end of the line.

* * * The little islands that Canada gets we will never miss, for they would only be of consequence in the event of a war with England that would make it imperative for us to control the Pacific terminals of Canadian railroads—an event of the remotest possibility and no probability.—New York American.

* * * * *

There will be no disposition in this country to crow over Canada. On the contrary, we regard her with the kindliest feelings, rejoice in her prosperity, recognize her great future, and desire to be and to remain on the best and most neighborly terms with her. Let her statesmen and ours now undertake the task of reaching such agreements as to trade as will promote amity and commercial development. Existing barriers are wholly artificial and should be broken down. The settlement of the Alaskan boundary question is one of the many indications which have been multiplying recently that nations are growing more and more averse to war and more ready to come to terms with each other by means of arbitration.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

\+ \+ \+ \+

Both nations are to be congratulated upon this long step toward the settlement of a needlessly irritating question. The World has never sympathized with the hot-headed view that "we should never put to arbitration the ownership of what belongs to us." The result shows that a good case is none the worse for being patently sifted by experts of high character and ability.—New York World.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The United States keeps what the United States bought and Russia and England delimited, a continuous strip, commanding navigation and holding every port. At the southern end of the disputed boundary, near Portland canal, Canada gains slightly in territory, but it is access to the sea remains as it was. The United States gains on the rest of the boundary line. But the real triumph of Great Britain and the United States is in the peaceable settlement of this vexed controversy. With this decision, in which the representatives of both share, the last contented peace between two sister nations disappears.—Philadelphia Press.

\+ \+ \+ \+

By the decision of the boundary commission Canada loses nothing to which she ever had title, but merely finds herself confined within the boundaries laid down in the treaty which the "mother country" made with Russia in 1825. She does get, however, a concession in regard to Portland canal, which is an advantage to her both territorially and in the matter of navigation. Our Canadian cousins ought to accept the findings of the commission with good grace. They have no cause to scold the "mother country" because one of the most distinguished of British jurists has recognized the justice of the American claims.—Baltimore Sun.

New Ballot Easily Marked.

It appears to be apprehended by many persons that the new ballot, to be used for the first time at the coming election, is going to be a more difficult thing for the voter to understand than the old form. There could not be a greater mistake, says the Philadelphia Press. The changes made in the ballot do not change the method by which the voter will mark it. It is quite as simple as the old one, and it has the advantage of being only about one-third the size. The provision made for voting the straight ticket of any party is just as convenient as it was before the act was amended, and the citizen who wants to vote a mixed ticket will find it much handier to get at the names of candidates than under the old system.

The Republican state committee is sending out a little pamphlet in which the form of the ballot is set out, accompanied by all necessary instructions. Party committeemen can make very excellent use of them between now and election day. The greater per cent of voters will not need any instruction, and when the new ballot is once used we feel certain it will prove more acceptable than the old one. It will certainly require less time

MORE MINERS HAVE ARRIVED FROM WALES

Attorney General Knox Asked to Proceed Against Contract Labor Law Violators.

TELL-TALE LETTER SECURED

Net Weaving About Ellsworth Coal Co. Grows Stronger—Government Authorities Active—Miners in Wales Hold Meeting and Send Word to Workers.

Following the investigation made by the Philadelphia immigration bureau into the alleged violations of the United States alien contract labor law by the Ellsworth Coal Company, which was fully and exclusively reported in last Sunday's issue of The Gazette, Commissioner General Sargent has requested Attorney General Knox to institute proceedings against the violators.

The case is said to involve hundreds of Welsh miners, many of whom are already in this country. Others are expected to arrive in a few days. Forty men who arrived in Philadelphia Sunday, on the steamer Haverford, are detained there as contract laborers, and many others are expected on a steamer of the White Star line due at New York in a day or two.

Immigrant Inspector John A. W. Burche, of the Philadelphia bureau, who spent last week in this vicinity investigating the matter, submitted to Commissioner Rodgers a report of 30 typewritten pages showing that his investigation was a thorough one and apparently substantiating the charges made down to the smallest particular. The substance of this report was given in The Sunday Gazette.

More Evidence Secured.

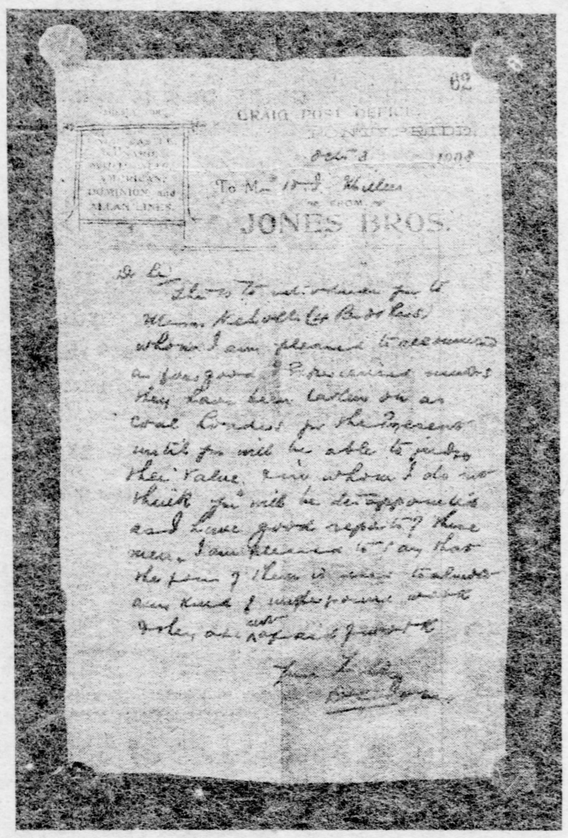
District Organizer William Little, who is a member of the national executive board of the United Mine workers, yesterday secured more evidence against the Ellsworth Coal Company. Four Welsh coal miners arrived in Pittsburgh late Friday night and immediately left for Monongahela. Arriving at that place they found themselves 12 miles from Ellsworth and with no means of transportation to reach their destination. They walked the distance, arriving at Ellsworth shortly before daylight. As they entered the town they met other miners just going to work. They made themselves known and during the conversation it was learned that they all came from the same section of Wales, and that they were all induced to come to this country by representatives of Jones Bros. who appear to be the representatives of the Ellsworth Coal Company on the other side.

Conditions Not as Represented.

The four new men from Wales say they were told the same tale that many of those now at Ellsworth were told, namely, that they would only have to work eight hours a day, would have steady work and could have either underground or outside work. Learning from their countrymen at Ellsworth that the United Mine workers were trying to organize the district and that the Ellsworth officials had told the officials of the union that they would run the mine to suit themselves they at once set out to return to Pittsburgh.

Having no money they were delayed on their journey and it was Sunday before they reached this city. They had been referred to Organizer Little and when they reached here on Sunday they learned that he was at his home in Bennettsville. Not in the least discouraged they started to tramp to that place.

Finding Little there related to him their experiences and placed in his hands a letter of introduction they had for H. J. Millar, of the Ellsworth Coat Company, the man whose cards were placed in the hands of many of the Welsh miners who came here to work at Ellsworth. A photographic reproduction of this letter is given herewith. It reads as follows:



Significant letter of introduction carried by four Welsh miners who arrived in Pittsburgh, Saturday. It is addressed to a representative of the Ellsworth Coal Co. and is signed by a member of Jones Bros., steamship and employment agents in Wales.

An Interesting Letter.

Craig Postoffice.
Pontypridd, October 8, 1903.

Dear Sir—

This is to introduce you to Messrs. Nicholls (four brothers) which I am pleased to recommend as four good and experienced miners. They have been taken on as coal loaders for the present until you will be able to judge their value, which I do not think you will be disappointed, as I have good reports for these men. I am pleased that the four of them is used to almost any kinds of underground work, and they are not afraid of work. Yours truly,

D. C. JONES.

Organizer Little provided the weary quartet with a hearty meal and after they had rested there was no difficulty in getting them transportation back to Ellsworth when they went to claim their baggage. They are patiently waiting for developments, as they do not wish to start to work under the circumstances. Some of the miners now at work at Ellsworth say they would return to Wales immediately, but they do not care to meet their relatives and friends with the story that they were duped.

More Arrivals Yesterday.

Late yesterday afternoon Organizer Little learned that six more Welsh miners had just arrived. He got in touch with them over the telephone and told them the United Mine Workers' association would look after their interests. In discussing the situation Organizer Little said:

"From the imported miners I learned that the Jones Bros. told them not to bring any money with them because as soon as they arrived the Ellsworth company would supply all their needs. Some came with barely sufficient money to reach here and those men are in bad shape financially. We are hoping the immigrant bureau will make matters right. We learned yesterday that another agent is sending miners to this country under false pretenses. As we have no written proof we cannot give the name of this agent, but we will continue investigating until we get black and white against him."

The offer by which the Welshmen were induced to come to this country was contained in an advertisement inserted in several Welsh newspapers reading as follows:

WANTED—5,000 miners in America, state of Pennsylvania, timbermen, fillers, machinists and laborers; wages from 16 to 25 shillings per day. Apply Jones Brothers, Craig postoffice, Pontypridd, South Wales.

It is said that hundreds of miners applied to Jones Bros. in answer to this advertisement. It is also said that these miners were required to make deposits covering the cost of their transportation to Ellsworth and were given cards bearing the names of agents guaranteeing them work upon their arrival.

Inspector Burche's Report.

"With Mr. Little I went to Monongahela and there met Mr. Albert, an agent of the United Mine Workers. At this point we connected with a batch of Welsh miners en route for Ellsworth. A plan was agreed upon and the miners proceeded to their destination, where they were met by a clerical looking man named Neil, who, on being informed that they were from Wales, took them to the office of the company. There the miners found that the wages were not what had been promised and that certain assessments, such as for tools, doctor's service, etc., would reduce their pay roll for the month. Consequently all the miners refused to work, but the company went to the Black Diamond mines about one mile distant.

Corroborating Evidence.

"We secured corroborating evidence from at least a dozen miners in and around Ellsworth, among them being Edwin Morgan, a mining surveyor; George Tarrant, who also stated that Jones Bros. had 170 applicants when he was forwarded, and from a late batch of arrivals, headed by a Mr. Morgan, and 28 others, who arrived at Ellsworth on October 15. Some of the miners claim to have been furnished with a copy of a newspaper published at Washington, Pa., giving a rosy account of the plant at Ellsworth and the wages paid. Several of the miners claim that they were welcomed at Ellsworth by Mr. Ellsworth himself and told to go to work.

"To-day this report was made last Saturday nearly 50 more Welsh miners arrived at Philadelphia and Commissioner Sargent has been advised that their testimony corroborates that secured by Inspector Burche.

Last night Commissioner General Sargent gave out the following statement: "I believe that we have a complete case against the firm for violating the alien contract labor law, and I shall forward this evidence to the attorney general with request that prosecution be immediately commenced."

The prosecution, if ordered, will come under the jurisdiction of District Attorney Young, in this city. At the office of the Ellsworth company, in the Westinghouse building, it was learned yesterday that Mr. Millar was in the city, but the agent in charge of the office said he did not know his whereabouts. The agent said that Mr. Millar or Mr. Ellsworth were the only ones who could give out a statement for publication. He said the report of violations was certainly exaggerated.

Meeting in Wales Yesterday.

The following Associated Press cablegram came from London last night:

"LONDON, Oct. 19.—At a meeting of miners held today in the Rhondda valley, Wales, William Abram, Liberal member of Parliament from the Rhondda Valley division, read a cablegram from Secretary Wilson of the United Mine Workers of America, warning Welsh miners against advertisements offering them employment by a Pennsylvania coal operator. Mr. Abram said he had investigated the matter and found that Welsh miners had been lured to the United States under false pretenses. They paid their own passages to New York, but if asked whether they were under engagement, they were instructed to say 'No.' Each miner carried a sealed letter addressed to a certain individual in New York. Mr. Abram said he suspected these men had been induced to go out as 'blacklegs' and that they probably would be sent back as 'bad penniles.'

"The meeting authorized Mr. Abram to send a cablegram to Secretary Wilson saying the men in question had gone out under false pretenses and that they would not have gone if they had known their position."

Glass Workers Halted.

An effort to import flint glass workers from England has been nipped in the bud by Commissioner Sargent, at Malone, N. Y. There were 14 in the party and 12 were secured and taken to New York, where they are being held at Ellis Island, pending their return to England.

Thomas Rowe, president of the American Flint Glassworkers, a few weeks ago received a cablegram from J. Husselbee, president of the National Flint Glass Workers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland, which states that F. Carter, general manager of the Steuben Glass Company, of Carney, N. Y., had come to England, where he had engaged 14 men to work at the Carney factory in violation of the contract labor law. Following this came a letter setting forth that the party was traveling by way of Montreal and that the members would enter this country at Malone, which is on the border line. Rowe immediately notified the department of immigration at Washington with the above result.

Denials from Ellsworth Official.

A special telegram from Washington, Pa., contained the information that an official of James W. Ellsworth & Co. had stated that they were not at all alarmed over the threats of prosecution for violation of the alien contract labor law by immigration officials, and that the Ellsworth company had received no official notification of any action about to be commenced.

It was asserted further, that the Ellsworth company had never entered into any arrangement to import foreign laborers for their mines. It was stated that the company had in its employ a large number of English and Welsh miners and that they were so well satisfied with their positions and the plans of the company, that they had written to their homes in the old country and thus induced their friends to come to Washington county, and that many foreigners and native born miners seeking work at the Ellsworth collieries have been turned away, because there was no work for them.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—Twenty-eight persons, one of them a woman, comprise the party of Welsh miners who are detained in this city on suspicion of being contract laborers bound for the Ellsworth mines in Washington county. The officers of the United Mine Workers of America are largely responsible for the detention of the party. All of the detained men feel they have been duped and say they will be glad to return to Wales and stand the expense of the trip. Several of the detained miners assert that hundreds of men lured on by the promise of good wages, have already come here and that more are on their way to this country.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—J. W. Ellsworth, president of the Ellsworth Coal Company, tonight made an emphatic denial that either he or his company had made any arrangements with foreign miners or their agents to that end. "This report," said Mr. Ellsworth, "is absolutely false. I think some of our men probably wrote to their friends that they could secure work on this side and volunteered to help them if they came over. This was done without the cognizance or approval of the company. We have all the men we want, and have no need for importing them."

COL. MILLARD HUNSIKER PAYS A PERSONAL VISIT

Representative of the Carnegie Interests Abroad is Spending a Few Days in Pittsburgh.

Col. Millard Hunsiker, formerly of Pittsburgh, but now the European representative of the Carnegie interests, is in this city on a short visit. He is staying at the Hotel Lincoln and will probably remain for about a week before returning to his present home in London, England. Col. Hunsiker was seen at the Lincoln last night, but he positively refused to make any statement for publication.

"What is the present steel situation abroad?" Col. Hunsiker was asked.

"I've been away from there so long I really don't know," was the reply.

The colonel was asked when he left London and he replied:

"A little over three weeks ago."

"Is the present visit here in connection with the Carnegie interests?" was asked.

"No, I am over here on a purely personal visit to see some of the members of my family and to look up some of my old friends in Pittsburgh. I expect to remain about a week longer and will then return to London, by way of New York. I really do not care to say anything for publication at this time and I hope you will excuse me."

Over 275,000 people buy Regal shoes by mail. The orders come from every state, and from nearly every country in the world. And yet there are shoe stores everywhere.

Why do these people send to us? Simply and solely for the one great reason that always produces and holds trade—we give them more for their money than they can get anywhere else—more style, more comfort, more wear.

At first they must take our word for it. They must buy in the dark—"sight unseen." You need not do that if you are near a Regal store—just come in and see for yourself. Open the "Window of the Sole" and see the honest, oak-tanned leather---you can't see the sole leather in any other shoe---the others are all black and shiny with paint, and 90 per cent. of all paint-bottom shoes have hemlock soles.

Come and see the buzz saw rip up our shoes and others, and decide for yourself.

PAYROLL MEN ARE ASSESSED

ANOTHER PLEDGE IS BROKEN

Political assessments are being collected in Allegheny from the city employes. The money is to be used to assist the candidates on the Bigelow machine ticket. A number of policemen and firemen have told friends that they had to contribute. Through fear of losing their positions, the public servants refuse to make affidavits.

This time the assessment list is known as the "green book." The list of city employes who will have to contribute was made up in Director E. J. McIlvain's office. Effort has been made to keep the matter a secret, but the angry office-holders are talking. They thought the party was in earnest when it made this pledge:

"We pledge ourselves to support measures that will prevent and punish the levying and collecting of assessments for political purposes from public employes and exacting from them political service."

A wife of a police officer yesterday said that her husband had paid one assessment and expected to have to turn over another portion of his salary before the election. He told her that if he refused he would be discharged. A fireman who has been in the employ of Allegheny for years said that he had to submit to an assessment.

New Form of Slavery.

The Bigelow machine, not content with making city officials pay tribute for political purposes, has decided to have every payroll man watched on election day. Orders have gone out that employes must take some one into the booth with them to mark their ballot. This has made many of the officeholders angry, and they say that they will resign rather than submit to such slavery.

Harry L. Goehring and John A. Bleichner were last night billed to visit German clubs in Allegheny and Millvale. Five hours before the meeting the enterprising literary bureau of the Bigelow machine sent out this enthusiastic account of their reception:

"The reception accorded both candidates by the nearly 3,000 Germans assembled at the halls named was a most hearty and enthusiastic one and showed that the Germans, almost as a unit are in favor of the Citizens ticket and vote for the candidates on it, as men who they know will continue the good work for honest government for the people inaugurated by the Citizens ticket, and who, as they also know, will be competent officers with liberal views on all important questions of the day.

"All addresses were most enthusiastically applauded and the hearty reception accorded Messrs. Goehring and Bleichner augur well for the success of the Citizens ticket this fall. To find a man in sympathy with the Citizens ticket among the many hundreds present would indeed have been a most arduous, if not an impossible, task.

Col. Frank I. Rutledge of the Eighteenth regiment, and a life-long Democrat, will support the whole Republican county ticket this fall. He called at Republican headquarters yesterday and announced his intentions. He says that there are no real Democrats supporting the Bigelow ticket.

Back to the Old Fold.

James S. Rodgers of Brushton has returned to the Republican fold after voting and working with the Citizens ticket in the elections. He is convinced that the Citizens do not intend to keep any of their pledges. A committee of Bigelow machine men were sent to his residence last night to urge him to stay with the Citizens. He told the men that he is tired of the pledge-breaking aggregation and glad to be back in the Republican party.

John Youngk of Athens street, Brushton, has discovered that Councilman I. W. Shearer has peculiar ideas about representing the Thirty-seventh ward. When Shearer was hunting votes he promised board walks to his constituents. He even started to have them built so that a man coming down hill would not slip, no matter how thick the ice might be. With winter coming on and mud appearing in Athens street, Youngk last night saw Shearer about a board walk. Shearer said that as Youngk intended to vote the Republican ticket, nothing would be done for Athens street.

There is to be a mass meeting in Brushton Thursday night in the Brushton Avenue school. It will be preceded by a street parade, led by the Fourteenth Regiment band. The speakers will be Maj. H. E. Stewart, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, George M. Hossack and H. J. Riley. The Republicans carried the Thirty-seventh ward in February and will increase their majority next month.

Wilkinsburg Republicans were out in force last night at a meeting held in Penn hall. H. W. McIntosh presided. Addresses were made by Thomas J. Ford and Charles A. O'Brien.

McWhinney Is Loyal.

The Citizens are endeavoring to give out the impression that Representative Robert McWhinney, who lives in Homestead, is opposing the Republican ticket. The report is emphatically denied by McWhinney and his friends. He is a member of the Republican county committee and is sending personal letters to his friends requesting them to work for and support the Republican ticket.

These Republican meetings will be held this week:

Tuesday—Rebecca street school, First ward, Allegheny; speakers, Thomas J. Ford, James H. Hoon, Charles A. O'Brien, S. S. Robertson. Perrysville avenue school, Second ward, Allegheny; A. J. Edwards, U. G. Vegan, Dr. James W. Dickson, W. J. Burke, M. S. Brakerman. Wednesday—Cunningham's hotel, East Pittsburg; Charles A. O'Brien, William Gibson, H. S. Mills, J. H. Douthett. Bank hall, Glassport; John W. Moreland and others.

Thursday — Schwerdle hall, Allegheny; Charles A. O'Brien, James F. Burke, John Frandles, John F. Cox. Liberty school, Twentieth ward; John W. Moreland, John J. Brown, U. G. Vegan. Twelfth ward school, Allegheny; A. E. Robertson, J. B. Coffey, C. A. Wettach, Matthew Lowrie, J. H. Mackell.

Friday—Clairton; speakers to be announced. Arcade hall, center avenue. Speakers to be announced, among them several prominent colored orators. Concordia hall, Allegheny; Charles A. O'Brien, E. S. Cotton, Walters, Fifth ward school, Allegheny—James F. Burke, A. J. Edwards, John F. Cox, A. A. Bechtold, John Frandles. Sherman avenue school, Allegheny—Daniel Ashworth, John C. Hay, T. D. MacClokey, C. A. Spicer. Eighth ward, Allegheny—John Frandles, J. M. Shields, Albert Shepherd, M. R. Trauerman. Granville street school, Eleventh ward—Harry Diamond, A. C. Stein, Edward Bower, A. J. Edwards.

CONDUCTOR HELD FOR COURT

Charles Davis Had a Bank Book With Credits in It for $784.

Charles C. Davis, a conductor on the Frankstown avenue trolley line, was held for court by Alderman S. J. Toots yesterday on the charge of embezzlement. Inspector Kennedy charges that between the last week Davis kept $2.20 as his share of the money taken for fares.

When arrested Saturday Davis had $74 in cash in his pocket and a bank book showing that between Sept. 12 and October 3, during which time he was a conductor, he had made deposits aggregating $784. In default of bail Davis was committed to jail.

Special Session Adjourned.

TRENTON, Oct. 19.—(Special)—The second special session of the New Jersey legislature for 1903, adjourned today. The only business transacted was the passage of three school bills and a resolution authorizing a committee to investigate the floods, and one authorizing joint legislation with Pennsylvania for free bridges over the Delaware.

LARKIN TAKES UP INQUIRY ALONE

Controller Will Personally Investigate the Affairs of the Bureau of Health.

HE CHARGES EXTRAVAGANCE

Supt. Moore Says the Complaints Are Ridiculous and Emanate from Ignorance of the Work—Dr. Batt Asks Larkin for Proof.

The councilmanic committee appointed to investigate the Pittsburgh bureau of health, at the behest of Controller John B. Larkin, having finished its work and failed to prove any of the charges made by the controller, the latter has taken up the investigation by himself and will try to prove that money has been illegally spent by the bureau or that the work of those in charge is inefficient.

Supt. G. Wash Moore of the health bureau yesterday received several communications from the controller in which the latter balks over certain methods of the bureau. He asserts that there have been as many vaccine points purchased by the bureau as there are persons in the city, and that with more points are being bought. He also says that since the parole system of quarantining smallpox patients has been in use the expense of the bureau has been increased instead of lessened.

Yesterday afternoon Director Harry Moore of the safety department called a meeting of those interested in the charges made by Controller Larkin. In his office in the safety building the director met with Supt. Moore of the health bureau, Dr. B. A. Booth, city physician; Dr. E. G. Matson, city bacteriologist, and Dr. Wilmer R. Batt, state quarantine officer-at-large, who attended the meeting by request.

All of the controller's complaints against the bureau were gone over and the conferees came to the conclusion the charges were baseless. They will meet with the controller this morning at 10 o'clock in Director Moore's office, when he will be apprised of certain details of the bureau which they say he knows nothing about.

Supt. Moore stated after the meeting that the controller's complaints over the increased expenditure since the parole system was introduced are little short of ridiculous. He said it was true that the expenditures had nearly doubled since that time, but it was equally true that the amount of smallpox in the city had more than doubled.

Dr. Batt, who is an expert in smallpox matters, and who is at present in this vicinity in the interest of the state board of health, was called to attend the meetings of the councilmanic committee during its investigation and helped to show that the controller's ideas concerning the bills of the bureau were entirely erroneous. He maintains the same position now.

"If Controller Larkin can prove that any money has been improperly spent by the health bureau," said Dr. Batt yesterday, "let him come forth and do so. If he can prove the men in charge of the bureau are insufficient or unworthy to hold the positions they occupy, let him prove it. This continual nagging and haggling over petty matters retards the work of the bureau and does no one any good.

"This continual innuendo against the bureau of health on the part of Controller Larkin will in time result in the disorganization of the working force of the bureau. Should the heads of the department, the city physician and the vaccinators in Pittsburgh resign tomorrow, Pittsburgh would, indeed, be in a pretty plight to fight smallpox."

NEW ORLEANS DELEGATE.

Chamber of Commerce Will Send Representative to Rivermen's Convention.

At a meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce held yesterday afternoon, the Warren Brick Company was elected to membership. The committee on rivers and harbors recommended that the chamber of commerce send a representative to the meeting of the Interstate Mississippi River and Levee Improvement association at New Orleans on October 27. The chair was authorized to appoint a delegate.

Secretary Anderson reported that the committee had entered into a contract for the map of Pittsburgh for the St. Louis exposition. The board took up the election of a new vice president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Captain William P. Herbert. James H. Willock was chosen by acclamation. This left a vacancy in the board and W. H. Keech was elected. Captain Herbert was chairman of the executive committee and Maj. A. P. Burchfield was made chairman.

Cashier Sent to Prison.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 19.—Enoch L. Covart, cashier of the Navesink National bank of Red Bank, was sentenced in the United States court today to seven years in the state's prison, for embezzlement and falsification of the bank's accounts.

THE NEW BABY

Opens up a new world to the loving mother. If it is a strong, healthy baby that new world is a world of happiness. If it is a weak, fretful child the new world is full of anxiety. It has been proven in thousands of cases, that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes all the difference between strength and weakness in children. Healthy, happy mothers have healthy, happy children. "Favorite Prescription" gives the mother strength to give her child. It makes the baby's advent practically painless and promotes the secretion of the nourishment necessary to the healthful feeding of the nursing child.

"I have been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and can say it is just what you advertise it to be," writes Mrs. Victor J. Hadin, of Leonardsville, Riley Co., Kansas. "I began taking it just two months before baby came and was greatly benefited by its use. The doctor who attended me said I did about as well as any one he had seen (as I was sick only about three hours), and also that your Favorite Prescription was 'one patent medicine' which he did have faith in. We now have a darling baby boy, strong and healthy, who weighed nine pounds when born. During this month he has gained three and one-half pounds. Have never given him one dose of medicine."

PROBABLY FATALLY SHOT IN A WASHINGTON STREET

Prisoner Accused of Shooting Said to Be Wounded Man's Father.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 19.—As a result of a shooting affray on North Lincoln street last night, Wilbur Ward is at the Washington hospital fatally injured and John Brooks and Tony Pierce are in the county jail, being held to await the result of Ward's injuries. They were captured after a desperate chase by officers. The shot which wounded Ward was intended, it is said, for another man, Leonard Kiehl.

Brooks and Pierce had a grudge against Kiehl, it is alleged, and last night they were informed that he was at Ward's home and went there. They knocked at the door and Ward answered the summons. He told them that Kiehl was not there. Brooks and Pierce then left, going down Lincoln street. Ward followed them and the men thinking he was Kiehl turned and, it is alleged, both emptied their revolvers. Ward was struck but once, the bullet penetrating his groin.

The police were informed almost immediately and started after them. They found them early this morning north of town and placed them under arrest. It is claimed that Pierce is Kiehl's father and his been masquerading under an assumed name. Physicians entertain no hope for Ward's recovery.

ONE HUNDRED CATHOLIC CHILDREN CONFIRMED

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—This was a gala day for Catholics of Madison and vicinity. Over 100 children in the Rev. Thomas Grady's church were confirmed by Coadjutor Bishop Canevin, assisted by several of the clergy, including the Rev. Mr. Connor of Derry, the Rev. Mr. Lambing of Scottdale and the Rev. Mr. McEnrue of Irwin. The visitors were escorted from Irwin by a delegation from the local church and were met near Madison by a big procession from that town. This evening a temperance rally was held for the miners of Madison and vicinity. Addresses were made by Bishop Canevin, Father Lambing, James Cleary, A. B. Lloyd and P. B. Heusler of Irwin.

Coal Company Has New Manager.

SOMERSET, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—This afternoon a notice was posted at the general offices of the Somerset Coal Company announcing the resignation of General Manager E. B. Dayle, Jr. He has accepted the position of assistant general manager of sales of the company with headquarters in New York. The duties of general manager will devolve upon General Superintendent J. C. Brydon. Mr. Brydon is 50 years of age and has been identified with the company since its organization, two years ago.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

SHARON, PA.—The Stewart Iron Company's muck bar mill was placed in operation after several months' idleness, and about 100 men are benefitted. It is stated that the mill will be run steadily.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Herbert Allen, a well-known young man, employed as shearsman at the Valley plant of the Republic Iron & Steel Company, shot himself fatally while sitting at a table at his home.

MONONGAHELA, PA.—A fight over a match may result in the death of Cevel Jurik, a slav laborer, who attended a christening in Coleburg. Jurik was shot, it is alleged, by Steve Nikin, who was arrested.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—Tilden Lowe, a granite cutter, was crushed and instantly killed under a huge slight of granite which toppled over while he was dressing it. Lowe was employed at the Coast monument works.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—A party of hunters discovered the remains of a middle-aged woman in a clump of bushes on the Tom Jones farm, a mile from Bush run. The woman was thought to have been dead about six weeks.

WASHINGTON, PA.—Joseph Irwin, Ollie Chamberlain, Ralph Jamison and Earl Bell, students at the Washington High school, who were arrested charged with participating in a class fight, were released without the case coming to a trial.

BUTLER, PA.—The body of Walter Cashdollar, son of Joseph Cashdollar, a farmer living near Coulter's Junction, was found hanging from an apple tree near his home. Death by suicide was the verdict of a jury impanelled by Coroner Clyde Atwell.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Sheriff James N. Thomas has served notice on the county commissioners that he will no longer be responsible for the safekeeping of the prisoners in the county jail. He bases his notice on the fact that the jail is old and dilapidated.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—The village of Brilliant was the scene of a bold burglary. Thieves gained entrance to the W. H. Rodgers & Co.'s store by drilling a hole with tools through the rear wall. They found the safe open and appropriated $50. They also took a few articles of men's clothing.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION WANTS SMOOT PUNISHED

Allegheny Woman Also Asks That Congress Prohibit Polygamy Forever.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 19.—Greatly increased interest was shown in the proceedings of the annual state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union here today, which made the attendance larger than at any previous period since the body assembled.

Mrs. Margaret D. Ellis of Washington, D. C., spoke on the work against the seating of Reed Smoot of Utah in the senate. At the instance of Dr. Sarah Elliott of Allegheny, resolutions were unanimously passed by the convention asking that the charges against Smoot be investigated, and that he be punished if they be found true; also, that congress pass an amendment to the Constitution forever prohibiting polygamy.

Reports show that 14 new unions were organized in this state the past year.

Mrs. Rebecca Chambers of West Grove was re-elected president for the seventh time. Other officers elected were: Corresponding secretary, Miss H. Frances Jones, Philadelphia; recording secretary, Miss Olive Pond Amies, Philadelphia; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Griest, Lancaster; vice-president, Mrs. H. H. Forrest, Allegheny. Mrs. W. H. Woods, of Huntingdon, who has been treasurer for 21 years, was unanimously chosen treasurer emeritus.

This is a college controlled by the Baptists of West Virginia. The case is mild but a rigid quarantine will be kept for some time.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL COMMITTED SUICIDE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CANAL DOVER, O., Oct. 19.—The tragic suicide of a 7-year-old school girl created a sensation at New Philadelphia this afternoon. She is Anna Maddy, daughter of John Maddy. She attended the West End school this morning for the first time and was apparently very happy over that most interesting event in the life of a child. During the morning session, however, she accidentally knocked her teacher's eye glasses from the desk, causing them to break on the floor.

The teacher, it is claimed, exclaimed that she would turn the little one over to the city marshal. At recess the child left the grounds weeping and nothing more was seen of her until her dead body was found floating in the Tuscarawas river nearly a mile away. Shortly after noon the body was taken to the morgue and the police went to work. The body was identified and the story of the accident in the school room given out by the children.

FOUR MEN KILLED ON ELECTRIC LINE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 19.—Four men were run down and killed on the Mahoning Valley street railway lines last night. They are Luigino Morinelli, Eugenio Di Zariengo and two unknown men. Morinelli and Di Zariengo were caught on a trestle between this city and Struthers. The two unknown men, probably tramps, were sitting on the track between Warren and Leavittsburg. The motorman did not notice the men until very close to them and was unable to stop his car.

P. R. R. CONTINUES TO CUT EXPENSES

Work on Many Important Improvements Will Be Discontinued at Once.

NEW YORK TUNNEL TO BE DUG

President Cassatt Says Present Curtailment Is Only Temporary and That the Company Expects to Carry on the Work in the Spring.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 19.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in halting improvements to cut down expenses will stop the work on the shops and roundhouse at Blair furnace. The work on the shops at Hollidaysburg will be discontinued, but the erection of the roundhouse will be continued. The shops at Fairview yard will not be undertaken for some time, but the roundhouse will be pushed to completion.

The extension to the shops at Altoona will be discontinued until further orders. There will be no letup on the work of the shops on the Shell Pot branch of the construction of the elevated road in West Philadelphia, which will be ready to be operated in about 60 days.

As to the work on the New York tunnel it is likely that there will be no change in the plans. This is a separate corporation, from the Pennsylvania and bids are now being made for the construction of the tunnels under the East and North rivers and under New York. They are to be in on December 1. It is thought that this work will be gone ahead with, as the money has been secured for the operation and it is one of the great schemes that President Cassatt is desirous of having completed within the prescribed time.

President Cassatt, in speaking of the reduction of the force and expenditures of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, said:

"We have stopped part of the construction work, but it is a comparatively small part and not a general reduction. It includes the heavy work on the low grade improvements between Columbia and Parkersburg and between Thornside and Paoli on the Philadelphia division. This work could not, in any event, have been completed in less than a year or 18 months, and the expectation is that we shall go on with it in the spring. This is the only work of importance which is stopped. All the rest of construction work on the line is going actively on.

"We have also, as stated in the papers, made considerable reductions of force in the operating department. During the congested period of last fall and winter considerations of economy had to be put to one side; it was necessary to move the traffic at any cost, and as a consequence the number of men in the service was largely increased. By the reductions now being made, we are simply returning to normal conditions. Our lines are now working freely and we anticipate no trouble in moving the traffic during the coming winter."

COLOMBIA MAKES NEW PROPOSITION

TREAT OF CANAL QUESTION

Disposition on Part of Colombia to Open Negotiations Will Be Favorably Received by the Administration--Will Anticipate Congressional Consideration.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.

A special messenger from Colombia is expected here tomorrow with the draft of a new treaty to submit to the state department relative to the Panama canal. The messenger is Senor Ismael Enrique Arcinegas. A letter from him announcing his arrival in New York has been received by Minister Herran. Nothing is known here as to the contents of the dispatches he brings. Even Senor Arcinegas declares he has no information as to the purport, other than that he believes they convey the basis of a new treaty arrangement.

He has personal views of his own, however, and thinks the United States should pay Colombia $25,000,000 for the privileges to construct the canal.

As soon as he comes Mr. Herran will acquaint Secretary Hay with the purport of the dispatches. Minister Herran does not believe the new proposals of the Colombian government contain any extravagant demands. He points out that the terms agreed upon in the Hay-Herran treaty, which the Colombian congress has just disapproved, were arrived at only after long negotiations. It is unlikely, therefore, in Mr. Herran's opinion, that Colombia is now proposing anything radically different from the terms of that treaty. It is possible Colombia may ask for a small increase in the annual payments from the United States to compensate her for the loss of income she is now receiving from the Panama railroad and port and light dues in the harbors of Panama and Colon.

A different arrangement regarding the administration of justice in the canal zone and a more definite recognition of Colombia's sovereignty are also expected to be included in the new plan. There is no doubt whatever may be the new proposition that it will receive due consideration from the administration here.

So long as Colombia shows a disposition to treat for the canal franchise the "reasonable" time given the president by the Spooner act continues. The arrival of any new offer from Colombia will thus anticipate congressional efforts to urge the president to turn to the Nicaraguan route.

DECLINE CAUSED FIRM'S ASSETS TO MELT AWAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The schedules of the stock exchange firm of Edwin S. Hooley and Company, which failed on July 27, which will be filed tomorrow, will show that $2,079,800 is due secured creditors, for the principal and interest, and $649,872 is due unsecured creditors. The assets are placed at $3,642,057 nominal value, and $2,417,178 actual value at this market.

Alvin—Julia Marlowe in a New Play.

Mr. George Ade, the eminent American humorist, declared at the Alvin theater last week that, according to a certain popular magazine, "It is not in good form for a woman to hang around when her husband was proposing marriage to another woman." If Mr. Henry V. Esmond, the author of "Fools of Nature," the play revealed at the same theater by Miss Julia Marlowe and her excellent company last evening, had given heed to that social dictum, we would not have had the play with which he has so heavily handicapped one of our most gifted and charming actresses. "Fools of Nature" is given the title of comedy. Actually it is the familiar type of English play in which the sex question is handled with all the boldness of Pinero, but without one tithe of Pinero's finesse, and power.

Lady Martia Branchester (Miss Marlowe), is discovered at a country house on the Thames at the time of the annual regatta. In the first act she confesses to be in love with Cecil Bannister, and, at the same time, declares that she knows he is married. In the second act Bannister's wife turns up and there is an embarrassing contremps which ends in the apparent final separation of the lovers. That night Lady Branchester receives a note from Bannister asking to be allowed to say goodby. This she waveringly consents to and the gentleman comes to her private apartments. This rather familiar climax is interrupted by the interference of Lady Branchester's friend, who is secretly her lover, Capt. Juin Chirol. There is resort to a photograph of her little boy to bring her to her senses, for it is evident she intends to defy the conventionalities and elope with her married lover. The last act finds the heroine strengthened in her purpose to be brave and the curtain descends upon the departing lover, who is sent away while the mother, clasping her boy, goes slowly from the scene.

Ordinarily and under circumstances where one's expectations are keyed to less expectancy, Mr. Esmond's little play would not seem so crude and ill-fitting, but, as a dramatic garment for Miss Marlowe's persuasive art, it is impossible enough to amount to downright blasphemy. In construction the comedy lacks cumulative force. The first and second acts do not consistently lead to the artificial emotionalism of the third. There is a great deal of talk and the creation of characters who are evidently made for stage purposes only, and as puppets to piece out the attenuated plot. The central figure, Lady Branchester, is hardly the central figure after all, and we have never believed it possible for even a clumsy playwright to so completely efface an actress of the dominant attractiveness of Miss Marlowe. There is very much of bright, clever repartee scattered through the four acts, all of which is thoroughly saturated with the smart spirit that is supposed to pervade London society. In the last act a widow, most delightfully played by Miss Veverly Sitgreaves, actually and boldly proposes to a desirable bachelor, who promptly rejects the proposal, but afterward falls into the reactionary spirit that his rejection has aroused, and we are left to suppose that the widow wins out in the end. Seriously, Mr. Esmond has not treated Miss Marlowe's art worthily, and, most assuredly, he has disappointed expectations which he aroused in at least one of his former plays seen on this side.

As for the acting it hardly could be otherwise than delightful within the scope of Mr. Esmond's talky play. Miss Marlowe is something of her old self in one or two moments. Her emotionalism in the third act is tenderly appealing, more for what it suggests in face and posture than for the words that she speaks. Her calm renunciation of her lover the next morning and the pathetic clasping of her little boy to her breast are all echoes of what this fine actress is capable of doing in really genuine atmosphere and environment. Miss Marlowe was never more pleasing to the eye than in the handsome modern gowns of the woman of fashion, in all these several and personal particulars she was the same charming woman that we have been accustomed to seeing in costume plays. If there is disappointment and even sadness over Miss Marlowe as Martia Branchester it is Mr. Esmond's fault, wholly and entirely. The company is an excellent one. Frank Worthing plays an oddly mixed role of gentleman, drunkard and mentor of the woman he loves with fine skill and changes an otherwise somewhat repulsive entrance in the first act to a very real and sustained simulation of drunkenness, into a fine impression before the play is ended. Miss Beverly Sitgreaves is an actress of splendid skill and technique and actually gives reality and power to a role that might be easily made insignificant, if not actually ridiculous. Master Noel Compton, a little fellow barely 10 years old, shared honors with the star. He is one of the most natural and unaffected child actors we have ever seen. He is English and has had his youthful training under Willard, Beerbohm Tree and Irwing. Mr. W. T. Lovell is not lover-like in appearance, but he plays the part with reasonable accuracy. Mr. Fred Tyler does an excellent bit of character work as the eccentric bachelor, who is the host of the party. Miss Cynthia Brooke, as Mrs. Bannister, is an admirable actress in a very small part. The stage settings are truly rich and beautiful, eliciting applause in one or two instances. The audience, which was quite a large and fashionable one, true to its idolatry, demanded, by several curtain calls, a speech to which Miss Marlowe responded in a few gracious words.

Grand—"On the Quiet."

In Augustus Thomas' farcical comedy, "On the Quiet," the Grand Stock company has an immensely amusing entertainment this week. The audiences yesterday were kept on the tip-top wave of laughter most of the time over situations that, while not being especially new or original, are worked out with a great deal of skill and humor. Thomas' comedy is all American and its humor is of the home brand, readily appreciated by American people, even though they may never have come in contact with a good, healthy specimen of college scapegrace. It was said at the time that Thomas wrote the piece, which Willie Collier played with so much success, for Stuart Young Harry Woodruff and one of his college love affairs with the sister of a millionaire, formed the basis in real life for the plot. Be that as it may, the comedy is full of just the sort of bubbling fun and genuine American college spirit to please and amuse. The Stock company manage in a majority of instances to do the comedy quite as well as it was presented by the original company. Of course, Mr. Ingersoll is not Willie Collier, and he sensibly doesn't try to be, but, barring a disposition to emphasize the humor by burlesquing the lines and comical situations sometimes, he plays the role very cleverly. Miss Eva Taylor is quite sufficient as the young wife "on the quiet," and wears some gowns that are stunningly handsome. Charles Abbe plays the role of the duke with characteristic skill, though he should improve the moustache, which is rather too thin to give an English appearance. Miss Berg is clever and pretty. Miss Adair plays with more spirit, and she, too, is a picture of feminine loveliness in several handsome gowns. Mr. Wayne's Horace Colt is manly and played with skill. Mr. Greenleaf is quite at home in the role of Ogden. Mr. Siggins plays McGeachy, the tough, finely, proving that he is a character actor of excellent parts. Mr. Dudley's clergyman is extremely stagy and conventional.

The stage settings are very pretty, the yacht scene being especially elaborate. Altogether "On the Quiet" is a thoroughly pleasing play presented with capital spirit.

Bijou—"M'Liss."

Brete Harte's old story of gold mining days in the California Sierras glorified in the adventures of "M'Liss" will never lose its interest to theatergoers, while the irrepressible little actress, Miss Nellie McHenry, impersonates that familiar role. With her rag doll, her hunting skirt and the strange vernacular of the diggings she breathes the stirring atmosphere which the lamented author wrapped like a halo around that enchanted country. A melodrama of the border will always hold an audience, as was shown at the largest shown at the Bijou last night. There is opportunity in every act for a gun-drawing climax, but in the case of Harte's story, these hair-raising scenes are natural enough, and good taste is never offended by the ruffianism of the mining camp. For Miss McHenry there has been an elaborate setting for the revival of the play, and no chances are overlooked to display the charms of the star. An opportunity to rise above her humble surroundings and sing a song or dance a familiar jig step never goes unheeded by Miss McHenry's "M'Liss." The supporting company is all that would be desired. The production pleased two large audiences yesterday.

Avenue—Refined Vaudeville.

Though there are several excellent numbers on the program at the Avenue this week, the headline features are not so strong. Amelia Summerville is quite a beautiful and statuesque stage picture, but her monologue and songs are only moderately entertaining. Of greater interest, perhaps, to the audiences yesterday and last night was the funny little farce played by Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane. Mr. Crane plays quite successfully a double role, that of twin brothers. As quick characterizations as well as the change in character impersonations are extremely well done. Rose Naymon has a wonderful troupe of trained tropical birds which do a number of startling things. Whiting Brothers do an astounding mid-air horizontal bar act. Ferguson and Mack might profitably cut out some of the coarseness in their act, which is otherwise laughable. Estelle Wordette & Co. have a funny little skit that goes well. Renick and DeVere, Clara Kilsini, The Gregsons and the cinematograph are among the other items on the bill.

Empire—"The Village Postmaster."

It may be the charm of country scenes in which the indigenous rural figures so strongly that makes "The Village Postmaster" so popular with the average theater goer. Or it may be its similarity to the "Old Homestead," and its long acquaintance with the public that wins greater favor every time it returns. Certain it is that that the familiar comedy which is on the boards at the Empire this week is as welcome as ever to Pittsburghers although it has been here many times before. It is the same old aggregation of glimpsed at real life in the country 50 years ago, the same quaint specimens of country characters and the same oddities in dress and customs. A few variations there are and these add spice to the entertainment. The well-remembered Seth Huggins in the person of Eugene Powers is a little more crafty politician than heretofore and is a more tender opponent of his daughter's love choices. The proverbial bad boy is up to a few new pranks which Eddie Russell puts on with a vim worthy of the healthy specimen of pumpkin-fed youth which he represents. If anything is lacking in the old-fashioned donation it is made up fully in the original company of Ebenezer, the sexton. The plot of the play is familiar, the attempt of a rascally lawyer to steal the invention of a minister's son and thus get his promised bride.

Duquesne—"Hyde's Comedians."

Hyde's Comedians, including some of the very best talent in vaudeville, entertained a large audience at the Duquesne theater last evening. Sam, Kitty, Clara and Paul Morton compose the star feature, and their melange of comedy, singing and dancing was, as usual, vociferously applauded. Their act is, to all intents and purposes, the same as last season, except that "Hiawatha" is omitted. The Holloway trio of wire walkers seemed to offer just the sort of act that the audience wanted. They were seen here last year and made a most excellent impression with their lively and daring feats on the wires. This year they are better. Musical Kiefel was encored continuously. His is a highclass and laughable act, combining good eccentric music with some very funny black art work. The Piccolo Midgets have improved their act somewhat, work, and Cole and Warner are a good German comedy pair whose performances would be improved by the elimination of several well-worn jokes. Carr and Burns have a boisterous knock-about turn which includes some good singing of which, however, they offer very little. Hill and Whitaker are accomplished banjo players, and the pictorial ballads by Bennett and Young were appreciated by the gallery.

Academy—"Reilly and Woods."

The reorganized Reilly and Woods company has restored the burlesque ranks with all the splendor of scenery and weight of Amazon marchers that made it famous in years gone by. Pat Reilly is back on his throne of property coals and spouts Celtic humor through a new satanic make-up [illegible] startling than the old. The opening number is good, but it is in the closing burlesque where the company shines in a rich scenic setting depicting the reception hall of his Satanic Majesty's palace. Comedians in different characters are escorted in and the resultant dialogue and attempts to escape are ludicrous in the extreme. A clever ensemble of vaudevillians make up the olio. Nat Rice, a Pittsburg favorite and being a native of this city, his rapid fire jests on local subjects were right to the point and brought down the house. Bonita and her sidekicklets also scored a hit and had difficulty in getting away from the audience. The other good ones are the Orpheus Comedy Four, Craig and Ardell, musical artists, and the Brannans in singing and dancing.

A New Playhouse in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19.—The new Maryland theater, James L. Kernan's half million-dollar amusement structure, was opened tonight by Mrs. Fiske and her Metropolitan company in Paul Heyse's romantic drama, "Mary of Magdala." The audience occupied every available space in the vast auditorium. Gov. Smith and Mayor McLane occupied boxes and the mezzanine floor accommodated many of the local social leaders. The theater is one of the handsomest in the country. Lavish decorations adorn the interior. In the dome there are four mural paintings, representing music, art, literature and drama.

The Girl From Kays."

The biggest company organized up to the present time for the production of a musical comedy is that which will be seen at the Alvin theater next week in "The Girl From Kays." Charles Frohman and George Edwardes have gotten up the production and in it 90 people are employed. The success of two years, "The Girl From Kays" has been running at the Apollo theater in London, and it is expected to be a bigger hit here, if such a thing is possible, than "The Three Little Maids," to which all New York is rocking. Sam Bernard and Hattie Williams are principals in a fine cast.

FEDERAL IS SOUND SAYS MR. LANGFITT

Claims There's No Cause for the Raid on the Stock Made Yesterday.

The raid on the stock of the Federal National bank yesterday on the Pittsburgh stock exchange, by which the stock was driven down from 116 to 55, but rallied to 101, was the subject of more comment than the raids on any industrials. Toward the close of the day on change M. H. McMullin, the receiver bought for the Federal National offered. It responded quickly and closed at 101, only half as far below Saturday's close as it was at the low point of the day. President J. J. Langfitt last evening made a statement of the condition of the bank. He said:

"At the close of business this evening the Federal had on hand its full legal cash reserve. The bank is in excellent condition, and I can say that if it were liquidated now it would return to the stockholders not only their investment, but as much more as the stock sold for today. We have been running a straight-out bank, and there is absolutely no internal discord. The various reports concerning us with loss on account of the Reese-Hammond Fire Brick Company, the Bolivar National bank and the Maryland Trust Company, are absolutely false, and I believe they originated from jealous quarters.

"We have a number of accounts with outside banks. On account of the general tightness of money these accounts have been hard to collect, but they are good, absolutely so, and will be paid back in full with every cent of interest due. We are not in the business of loaning money, and these are good loans."

The positive and open statement by President Langfitt is expected to help considerably the restoration of the market value of the bank's stock. He said that the bank, as such, had no connection with the support given to its stock at the close of the exchange yesterday, but he also said that so far as he knew the support may have originated with some stockholder.

"If Mr. McMullin bought the stock for himself he bought a first-class bargain," said Mr. Langfitt.

Negro Highwaymen Would Not Fight.

Two negroes attempted to hold up and rob Ralph and Frederick Simmons while they were returning to their home in Lincoln place, Mifflin township, late Sunday night. The highwaymen sprang out from a clump of bushes and demanded the Simmons' money. The brothers showed fight and started for the negroes, who turned and fled through the field.

AGREED ON PLAN OF NOMINATING

WILL HOLD A CONVENTION

Each of the Counties Will Have Representation Based on Their Democratic Vote at the Last Preceding Presidential Election.

The Democrats of the Twenty-fourth congressional district have agreed upon a method of nominating congressional and electing national delegates. Representatives from Washington and Lawrence counties met at the Monongahela house yesterday and experienced little difficulty in reaching an agreement.

It was decided to nominate by a district convention, the representation from each county being based on the Democratic vote at the preceding presidential election. One delegate is allowed for each 1,000 votes and for each fraction of 250 or more. This would give Washington seven, Beaver four and Lawrence three delegates. A two-third vote of the entire delegation is required to nominate.

Henry H. Wilson of Beaver was chairman of the conference and R. W. Knox of Washington was secretary. The counties were represented as follows: Beaver—Henry H. Wilson, Robert McLaughlin and Charles F. Eckert; Washington—R. W. Knox, Mr. Dixon and Robert Irwin; Lawrence—Henry M. Good, H. M. Reed and J. Wilson.

The Republicans of this district have not yet formulated a method of nominating. Numerous meetings were held during the summer, but an agreement could not be reached. Congressman E. F. Acheson of Washington held out for the popular vote system. He was supported in this by the representatives of Lawrence. Beaver insisted upon the old conference plan. Under the new state rules Chairman Boies Penrose of the state committee must determine what method is to be used in the district. He will not make known his decision until after the November election.

SKINNER AND REHAN.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Tonight at Young's pier theater the initial performance of "The Taming of the Shrew," presented by Ada Rehan and Otis Skinner, was witnessed by an enthusiastic audience. Miss Rehan has lost none of her artistic merit and old-time power and those familiar with her work in the palmy days of the Daly company found no ground for criticism in tonight's performance. The role of Katherine was always a favorite with her. Mr. Skinner's Petruchio was wholly delightful. Applause greeted the work of each actor and the appropriately selected gowns of the most enthusiastic character.

Grebbel Women's Chatelaine Bag.

When Mrs. Jacob Sarver of No. 1625 Rose avenue, Whitaker, was about to board the 7:06 o'clock train for Pittsburgh and unknown man grabbed a silver chatelaine bag hanging at her belt and ran away with it. She stepped off the train screaming for help. Few people were about the depot, and the man coolly boarded the rear coach just as the train started. In the bag were $30 in money and a $50 gold watch. It is believed the man got off the train at Brushton.

KAUFMANN'S
"THE BIG STORE"

Strangers visiting the Expo:

We want you to feel perfectly at home at "The Big Store," and make use of the many conveniences this great store affords. Besides, you'll find our great exhibits of new Fall merchandise, fabrics, millinery, wraps, costumes, etc., intensely interesting. Supply your fall and winter needs here and your visit to Pittsburgh will prove a profitable as well as a pleasurable one.

Men's, women's & child's hosiery for fall

JUST opened Saturday, and we're really surprised how much better they are than the goods we bought last year at from 10 to 15 per cent higher prices. We bought the greater part of the goods we offer today from a manufacturer who makes some of our fine hosiery, and we rather think he sold us these without much profit. Some manufacturers do this, you know, to hold our trade.

Boys' or misses' school stockings—wide or narrow ribbed, fleece lined or pure wool, 19c stockings at 2 pair for 25c, or, pair, 15c

Boys' and girls' stockings—fine soft cashmere, with reinforced toe, heel and knee, size 6 to 9½—per pair, 25c

Men's imported English worsted half hose, silk embroidered, in very neat effects, worth 60c, this sale, 44c

Women's stockings—non-irritating, medium weight imported cashmere, full fashion, 75c value for 49c

Women's cashmere stockings—full fashion—non-irritating, hand worked spots and figures on ankles and insteps, 75c

Ask to see our pure spun silk stockings for women, with neat silk embroidered ankles and instep, spliced toe, heel and sole—$2 value for 1.48

Always a little better than the "next best" at the price

OFTENER than not, quite a good deal better—that's what you can count on the Kaufmann clothing being every time, whether it is in the goods, the lining or the workmanship. "The Big Store" was the first to demonstrate that really good, stylish, perfect fitting clothing could be bought without recourse to expensive tailors. The makers of our clothing are really custom tailors on a large scale. They follow the same methods, and employ equally skilled cutters and expert journeymen tailors. Wherever hand-work is superior to machinery, THERE hand-work is used. As for the materials, the manufacturing tailor, owing to the immensity of his orders, always secures first choice of the patterns.

If you've been accustomed to paying $10 or $12 for your new suit or overcoat, why not select it from and save the difference? Examination and comparison will prove the garments identical in all respects excepting the price. The materials are strictly all pure wool (not wool and cotton mixed)—the linings are those that are known to give the greatest wear—the tailoring is well done—nothing is skimped or slighted.

If $18 or $20 has heretofore bought you a suit or overcoat elsewhere, select your new one from and you'll be just as well pleased and several dollars ahead. There's hardly a single new style which you can ask for, but what you'll find in this splendid line. And you'll find the garments to fit you just as perfectly as if they'd been made for you by a custom tailor.

Our finest suits and overcoats will more than satisfy the particular dresser who keeps in closest touch with the latest styles and is fastidious in matters of fit, quality and workmanship. These superb suits and overcoats represent the pinnacle of perfection, yet the prices range from 20.00 to 35.00

Sale knit underwear for women and children

THE present high cost of raw wool and cotton can mean but one thing: higher prices for knit underwear. Most dealers have already advanced theirs. We haven't—as yet. Catch the meaning of the last clause? Then you'd better make your purchases now.

Womens' nicely fleeced ribbed vests or pants, best finish, all sizes—also union suits—very special value at 19c

Women's heavy fleeced bleached ribbed vests or pants, silk finished and flat seams—our special price for this sale, only 25c

Women's best quality combed Egyptian yarn vests or pants, medium or heavy weight—our special price for this special sale, only 39c

Women's finest quality cotton ribbed vests, silk hand crochet finish (pants to match)—also union suits—our special price for this special sale, only 50c

Girls' or boys' union suits in black, natural or white, 75 per cent wool, all sizes—today for 98c

Fashion's fairest fancies in tailor made suits

WE cite a few reasons why you should select your new fall and winter suit from our stock: first, because OUR "tailor-mades" fit so perfectly; second, because the styles are exactly what fashion decrees; third, because the tailoring is so faultless; fourth, because there's such an entrancing variety; fifth, because each garment possesses a style that makes it conspicuous for elegance; and last, but not least, because we can do best for you from a money-saving standpoint.

Women's splendid suits 9.85

There's more style than dollars in these new walking and dress suits we offer today at $9.85. They're made of light and dark mixtures, cheviots and broadcloths, and come in the new long coat or three-quarter length jackets, plain or blouse effect, plain strapped or belted—the skirts in dress or walking lengths, lined or unlined, beautifully strapped or stitched—$15 would barely represent the true value of these suits

Very stylish suits 21.00

These suits come in 15 different styles—an assortment large enough to pleasantly puzzle one as to a selection. The jackets come in plain or blouse effects, three-quarter length or in the jaunty short blouse etons—the skirts in most graceful walking and dress length styles—the materials include Scotch tweeds, cheviots and broadcloths. If you've been expecting to pay $30 for your new suit, you'll change your mind and select it from this line at 21.00.

Fancy tailor mades 31.00

Graceful, sweeping lines and superior style beauty characterize these superb suits. They are made from imported fancy materials, also the ever-popular broadcloths and cheviots, in black, navy blue, brown, etc.—the jackets are silk lined—the skirts are plain or pleated, in dress or walking styles, some with silk drops, others unlined. Your tailor would charge you about double as much for equally fine suits.

Women's coats

The jaunty little short coat, the three-quarter length effects and the striking long coats with every line and curve crammed full of style and comfort—they're all here in greatest possible varieties.

Special offer today of women's regular $19 fall coats, in Monte Carlo, blouse, eton and tight fitting single or double breasted styles—made of medium or heavy weight kerseys, cheviots, montagnacs, thibets, etc., lined with satin or taffeta—for only 5.00

Special offer today of women's swell three-quarter length coats, made of extra fine kerseys, cheviots, coverts and zibellines, in ALL the new styles—value $20 and $22, choice 16.50

THE GREAT CRESCEUS IS STILL KING OF THE TURF

WIND SHIELD IS NOT USED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WICHITA, KAS., Oct. 19.—Cresceus, George H. Ketcham's sorrel stallion, once more established himself as "king of trotters," when this afternoon, he not only circled the Wichita track in the remarkably fast time of 1:59¾, beating the two minute mark set by Major Delmar and Lou Dillon, but he did it without the wind shield which has come to be looked upon as almost a necessity for record breakers.

The day was an ideal one, and the track was in perfect condition, while the horse himself was never better. There was just a trace of a breeze blowing from the south which caught the horse in the face when he turned into the backstretch, or it would have meant nine but for a timber which lies along the west and south sides of the track. When he turned into the stretch the wind helped him.

A. C. Jordan of Lyons, a starter of 12 years' experience in association stands, was the starter and also timekeeper. The other timers were F. Stearns and H. F. Eames. The judges were S. D. Amison, J. H. Herndon and George S. Freeman, all responsible men and true sportsmen. Watches held in the grandstand caught the time as low as 1:58, others two minutes. Probably 2,000 people were present.

At 2:30 Cresceus appeared on the track and was given a couple of miles to limber up, after which Starter Reed sent him a mile in 2:15, announcing to friends later that it was the fastest mile he had ever been able to drive him without company.

It was about 3:15 when the horse came out for the final test. He was anxious as was shown from the fact that when first he scored down for the word, he lost his stride and ran under the wire, an unusual thing for him, and had to be driven back to the score. The next time he came down like a whirlwind with Mike, the Tramp, his ever faithful running mate, just nosing ahead.

From the start he sped at terrific speed, making the first quarter in 30 flat. There was a check when the half was reached in :59½ seconds and when he got to the three-quarters in 1:29½ there was sheer affer cheer for he literally had the last quarter in which over the same track in 29 seconds at a previous trial. As the home stretch, the runner drew away from him and the great stallion swept the finish line in 1:59¾, a mile to the south and of the grandstand, about 100 ft. from the wire he struck his knee and lost his stride. Two bobbles and he had caught himself and went under the wire trotting like a machine.

When he returned to the front of the stand he was given an ovation.

REPUBLICANS WIN.

Citizens Party Orators Are Worsted in a Joint Debate.

There was a joint political debate in McKeesport last night in which the decision was given the Republican orators by the unanimous vote of the 150 men present. The meeting was arranged by the colored voters in McKeesport. The title of the discussion was: "Resolved, That the Citizens platform is superior to the Republican platform."

George Simmons and Mr. Davis endeavored to sustain the Citizens machine end of the argument, but were completely routed by the able efforts of T. A. Wilson and B. B. Brown.

Killed by Falling Tree.

CANAL BOWER, O., Oct. 19.—(Special)—Jacob Blocher, a prominent farmer, aged 72, residing in Old Town valley was killed by a falling tree. A searching party discovered the body.

THE ARMLESS WONDER BEATEN IN FIRST GAME

Sutton Lost Opening Contest, but Showed That He Is an Expert With the Cue.

Sutton, the armless billiard wonder, demonstrated last night at the Great Northern billiard parlors in his contest with Charles Powers, the local crack, that he is entitled to the title of "the marvel of the billiard world." Armless below the elbow as Sutton is, his handling of cue, bridge and chalk was the wonderment of the large audience. Every seat in the amphitheater was occupied and Sutton elicited frequent applause as he made a difficult draw and round table shots.

Sutton was obliged to play Powers 300 to 150. As it was, Sutton, although suffering from lack of sleep and traveling, hard to reach Pittsburgh, managed to make 208 against his opponent.

This evening Sutton will play James Billings and in the afternoon Mr. Powers will be taken on again. After the game tonight Sutton will give an exhibition of fancy shooting. The score of last night's game:

Sutton (300)—1, 1, 6, 0, 8, 6, 1, 2, 5, 0, 5, 2, 1, 0, 9, 25, 1, 0, 3, 14, 0, 20, 1, 2, 11, 0, 9, 5, 1, 0, 7, 2, 1, 0, 1, 0, 22, 2, 4, 1, 12, 1, 3—total, 208. High runs, 20, 22, 25. Average, 4 27-44.

Powers (150)—6, 0, 9, 17, 1, 0, 3, 0, 13, 6, 3, 0, 0, 6, 1, 2, 3, 2, 1, 0, 5, 1, 3, 2, 6, 3, 4, 2, 1, 0, 0, 1, 0, 2, 7, 2, 0, 0, 5, 1, 9, 4, 0, 4—total, 150. High runs, 9, 13, 17. Average, 3 18-44.

Sutton promises to average at least 10, and perhaps 15, in his games today and this evening.

W. J. AND GENEVA TEAMS MAY PLAY

Managers Meet, but Unable Yet to Agree on Definite Arrangements—Nov. 14 Favored.

PRACTICE AT THE SCHOOLS

The Washington and Jefferson and Geneva college football teams may meet in Pittsburgh Nov. 14 to settle the supremacy between these institutions on the gridiron. Manager Tutt, of Washington and Jefferson, met in a downtown hotel yesterday and had a conference that lasted for three hours without anything tangible resulting.

The only thing they did was to practically agree that November 14 would be the best day suited to play the game, but in the event of their deciding on this date there doubtless will be a howl from the Western University of Pennsylvania and Marietta college teams, W. and J. is scheduled to play W. U. P. in Pittsburgh that day and Geneva has a date with Marrietta also.

In order for W. and J. and Geneva to come together there will have to be some cancelling. Even if the rivals do agree to play it is not certain that the game will be decided in Pittsburgh. W. and J. is still holding out for the game to be played at Washington, and Geneva wants it for Beaver Falls. However, Geneva will not go to Washington if the inducements are the same that it offers W. and J., which team has one offer that it will neither add to or abstract from.

It is likely, however, that they will consent to play in Pittsburgh, but at what local park they do not know. Exposition park is out of the question as nothing but baseball is allowed there, the Colosseum is tied up and D. C. and A. C. park they opine is too small. Friendship park is looked upon with favor, but both Tutt and Barnes like the Colosseum.

Tutt took an early train for Washington last evening without reaching any definite agreement with the Geneva representatives. Another meeting will take place by them in a day or two. Tutt, "Texas" Moss and the rest of his W. U. P. team up against the Mansfield Athletic club eleven in a practice game this afternoon at the Colosseum. W. U. P. plays State Saturday at the Colosseum and every afternoon this week up to the day of the game the hardest kind of practice will be the only feature of Mosse's program of events.

The East Liberty academy candidates were raced up and down at the Highland park park for two hours yesterday afternoon by Coach Hill. The Kiski game, which is the stellar event on East Liberty's schedule this year, comes on Saturday, and Hill has the strongest and best conditioned team available that Hill will have on the field against the upcountry preps. This will be Kiski's first appearance in Pittsburgh for two years. Hill put the first team against the scrubs yesterday for nearly one hour's work. The scrubs were given the ball and the first team men were compelled to beat their way all the time. Coach Hill wanted to give the team enough work on the defense, and it surely got all it wanted in that time. The Pittsburg high school cadets will play East Liberty this afternoon, which will be more of a practice game for East Liberty rather than a championship event. The Pittsburgh High school team will put the first team against the scrubs this afternoon and that other high work yesterday afternoon. The W. U. P. freshman team will be played this afternoon at Friendship park.

Elsewhere in athletic circles Coach Dunbar did Kiski at Saltsburg. The Kiski players were still feeling the effects of the university game at Cleveland Saturday.

JEFFRIES SIDESTEPS HIS OLD FOEMAN AND FRIEND

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Champion Jim Jeffries called for his morning papers bright and early today—at an earlier hour by half a dozen than the champion is in the habit of rising. Then he drew a sigh of relief:

"Well, he's off at last," he exclaimed. "I guess I've seen the last of him for some time."

Somewhere in a Pullman sleeper between Chicago and 'Frisco "Lanky Bob" Fitzsimmons, late foeman and later friend of the world's champion pugilist, may have turned over at these words and ejaculated:

Catching a train James J. Jeffries and Robert Fitzsimmons were both in Chicago yesterday. James was New York bound from 'Frisco. Robert was 'Frisco bound from New York.

Robert thought it proper to call on James and pay his respects. He called; James sent down word that he wasn't at home. Would Robert call later? Robert would. Robert went away, but returned in an hour. James was still out, but would Robert call again? Robert called at least six times and James was never in.

Then Robert took the train for San Francisco to prepare for his battle with Gardner. Simultaneously James slipped out of his room and ordered a dinner. Before leaving Robert gave out the following interview, which doesn't bear on the incident above related, but which is nevertheless interesting:

"It's up to me to take care of myself. I waited a week to come to New York. He didn't come, and I took the Gardner match. If I can arrange it I intend to cut out the fighting game as soon as I can and go into business. But I will keep on fighting until I get the right kind of an opening. I dropped $30,000 in a school of physical culture. My partner got cold feet and the business went down and out.

"I want to locate in Chicago. I have been talking to my friends here, and there are more of them in this town than in four New Yorks. I will open a pool room if I can get the opening, but I am not jumping at every old chance."

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—When Champion Jim Jeffries reaches town on a day or two he will have no trouble in finding Jack Munroe, the miner-pugilist. Munroe says he will be pleased to have a talk with the champion, and, if possible, sign articles for his fight. In an interview in Chicago Jeffries said he did not believe Munroe could be induced to enter the ring with him. When Munroe read this he said:

"Well, if Jeffries thinks I won't fight him just let him show that he means business. Jeffries has never shown any inclination to give me a return match, although I have been after him for some time. I will be here to call off many others to meet the champion, but he can have a fight whenever he is ready to sign articles. Jeffries is bluffing when he says I don't want to fight him. When I agreed to meet Fitzsimmons I got no part of the money. Fitz and I simply refused to take the chances."

Two Pittsburghers Are Chosen.

GROVE CITY, Pa., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—A meeting of the Grove City college athletic association was held today to elect a baseball manager for the season of 1904, resulting in the selection of John W. Larimer, '05, of Turtle Creek, and Walter E. Goldsmith, '05, of Pittsburgh, was chosen as manager of the 1904 track team.

Thomas Will Not See Race.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—E. R. Thomas, the young multi-millionaire turfman, will not be on hand tomorrow to see his $60,000 horse, Hempstead, race in the Futurity cup. He embarks for Liverpool at an early morning hour tomorrow and will receive news of the result by wireless telegraphy.

SECRET PRACTICE BY YALE ELEVEN

AT THE OTHER COLLEGES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 19.—Secret practice was begun for the Yale eleven today. Mayor Vance McCormick of Harrisburg and Messrs. Heffelinger, Hickok and Charles Chadwick assisted the head coaches, George B. Chadwick and E. T. Class, in the work. During the secret half the varsity eleven put into practice some of the new formations which they have been at work upon in the gymnasium during evenings for 10 days past.

Trainer Murphy was given the scrub team a try at a revolving mass play today. The footing of the latter practice was Mitchell's drop kicking for goals with the scrubs trying to block the kick. He placed three goals over the bar prettily from the 30-yard line.

The coaches are confident now that the mid-season point has been passed with the team practically picked, their development will be speedy and satisfactory. They will now strive for a higher degree of team play.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 19.—(Special)—The Tiger football players had a spirited practice today, in which there were several features for encouragement. The men formed quickly and accurately for the plays, and the marked absence of fumbling. The scrubs played in excellent form, held the varsity several times for downs and tore through their lines several times, but on straight football, and as several subs were among the varsity players the coaches found no room for complaint.

Branner, a sub guard on last year's team, was played at center, and Henry shifted from fullback to his former position at end. Capt. Dewitt and Cooney were given a rest, Rafferty and Wheeler taking their positions. Stevens, captain of the baseball team, was played at halfback and displayed excellent ability in gaining ground.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Harvard's football squad started in practice today with a big brace, and the students are proving that at last the long-looked for improvement has started. The men are in good condition after their trip to West Point, and as the air was sharp, they put in some hard and fast work. Bowditch, Le Moyne, Robinson and Hanley did excellent goal kicking, and Davison Lloyd, Pittsburgh, 97, W. W. Burton and Mrs. Frank Browning, New York, 100. The handicap will be played tomorrow.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 19.—"Joe" Gans, the lightweight champion, and "Joe" Grim, the champion of this city, who stood four rounds before Bob Fitzsimmons and received severe punishment last week, met tonight in a six-round fight at the Washington club.

Gans had the better of the fight from beginning to end, sending Grim to the floor one of the times he went down. The Italian received a severe pounding, but the colored champion was unable to knock him out.

New Record for Steer Dressing.

DENVER, COL., Oct. 19.—By dressing a 1,200-pound steer in three minutes and 38 seconds Jacob Barr has reduced the world's record 2 seconds, and incidentally won the western championship. The feat was accomplished at a contest held at Broadway park, in this city.

THE PECONIC STAKES WON BY OCEAN TIDE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—John A. Drake's Ocean Tide, at 12 to 1, won the Peconic stakes for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs at Brighton Beach today. Wotan, the favorite, was beaten a head in a furious drive. The Drake filly also equalled the track record for the distance, 1:06 3-5.

The finish in the fourth race between the favorite Hurstbourne and River Pirate also was very exciting, the former gaining the decision by a short head on the post. Summaries:

First race, hurdle race, 1¾ miles over seven hurdles—Cryptogram, 132, Bernhardt, 15 to 1 and 4 to 1, won; Ohnet, 138, Sonner, 2 to 1 and 7 to 10, second; The Rival, 134, Connelly, 7 to 2 and even, third. Time, 3:17 2-5.

Second race, selling, mile and a furlong—Baikal, 100, C. Smith, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, won; Blue Victor, 105, Wade, 8 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Cottage Maid, 100, Brunier, 5 to 1 and 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:53 2-5.

Third race, 6 furlongs—Mamie Worth, 110, Burns, 7 to 1 and out, won; Futurita, 111, Higgins, 8 to 1 and even, second; Columbus, 111, Fuller, 8 to 1 and 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 2-5.

Fourth race, the Peconic stakes, 5½ furlongs—Ocean Tide, 111, O'Neil, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, won; Wotan, 119, Hicks, 11 to 5 and even, second; Flammula, 107, Higgins, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:06 3-5.

Fifth race, selling, 1 1-16 miles—Hurstborne, 111, Odom, 3 to 5 and out, won; River Pirate, 114, Gannon, 13 to 5 and 7 to 20, second; Ascension, 102, Smithson, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:46 2-5.

Sixth race, selling, 5½ furlongs—Piquet, 105, Burns, 7 to 2 and 8 to 5, won; Pristine, 101, Wilkerson, 8 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Dutiful, 97, W. Fisher, 30 to 1 and 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:08 4-5.

HOT SPRINGS TOURNEY.

Pittsburghers Take Part in Golf Contests for Cups.

HOT SPRINGS, VA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Play began this afternoon in a mixed foursome tournament for four handsome cups presented by Mrs. Frederick Stevens. There were about 30 entries. The lowest scores, 84 in the qualification round of 18 holes, were made by two couples named Nathaniel Moore of Andover college and Miss Howe of Pittsburgh and T. H. Hoover of Nassau and Miss Price of New York.

The next scores were: Frank T. Sanger, Garden City, and Miss Page, Monmouth Beach, 96; Mrs. W. Wilson Smith, Swarona, and Davison Lloyd, Pittsburgh, 97; W. W. Burton and Mrs. Frank Browning, New York, 100. The handicap will be played tomorrow.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Col. Andrew Stewart.

Col. Andrew Stewart is dead at the home of his son-in-law, A. D. Elliott, in Springfield township, Fayette county, Pennsylvania, of paralysis. He was the son of the famous "Tariff Andy" Stewart, who served eight terms in congress and was born in the old Clinton house at Uniontown, Pa., in 1836. When the civil war broke out Mr. Stewart went to Pittsburgh and enlisted in the City guards, from which the old Eighty-fifth regiment was formed he was transferred. His advancement was rapid, he being in a short time commissioned colonel. During the war he was imprisoned in Libby prison, Richmond and Weldon. As he was about to be executed in Virginia, the noose being around his neck, a company of union soldiers rescued him. In 1875 he was elected on the Republican ticket for congress, but was defeated by Thomas McLean of Westmoreland county. Again in 1880 he was a candidate for the same office and was defeated, Orlando Bonnell of 121 votes. Alexander K. Craig of Allegheny county, his opponent, contested the election and was seated. Mr. Craig died while in office and Stewart was elected on the Republican ticket for short term. He was again defeated this time by William A. Sipe of Allegheny county. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. A. Elliott and Miss Elizabeth Stewart of Springfield township.

Daniel B. Foat.

Daniel B. Foat died at Sharon, Pa., yesterday. He was born in England 74 years ago and located at Genesee, Wis., in his youth. While there he enlisted and began as he enlisted in Company F, Twenty-second regiment, Wisconsin volunteer infantry, and served 34 months, taking part in many of the fiercest battles. He had been a resident of Sharon for 30 years, was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and Sharon post No. 254, Grand Army of the Republic. He is survived by his widow and four children, Charles of Youngstown, Mrs. Frank Rudy, Mrs. Hattie Barrick and Mrs. Wallace Cameron.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Kinzer.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Kinzer, 73 years old, widow of John Jacob Kinzer, a former well-known business man of Pittsburgh, and head of the old Kinzer & Jones Foundry Company in Penn avenue, died last evening at the home of her son-in-law, John C. Kohler, No. 416 South Negley avenue, East End. Mr. Kinzer died over 10 years ago while in Florida. Mrs. Kinzer was born in Baden-Baden, Germany, and when 16 years old was brought to the United States by her parents, who settled in Fourth avenue, between Grant and Ross streets. Mrs. Kinzer was one of the original members of the Third Presbyterian church, and after the time of her death was a member of the Bellefield Presbyterian church. She was the mother of 11 children, seven of whom survive, as follows: E. M. Kinzer, Mrs. A. C. Jones of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Mrs. John C. Kohler, East End; Mrs. H. E. Asbury, Philadelphia; J. J. Kinzer, Jr., and Samuel G. Kinzer, East End, and Mrs. J. H. Dimling of Oakland. Mrs. Kinzer is also survived by a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Mrs. James Morrow.

Mrs. Ann Jane Morrow, 54 years old, wife of James Morrow, died at her home, No. 108 Lewis street, McKees Rocks, yesterday, after a prolonged illness. Mrs. Morrow was born in Donegal, Ireland, coming to this country in 1861. For the last 16 years the family resided in McKees Rocks, where Mr. Morrow is superintendent of the municipal building. Besides her husband, four sons and two daughters survive: James, Robert, William and Edward, Mrs. Michael Foley and Mrs. Thomas Riley, all of McKees Rocks. The funeral will take place from the family home tomorrow morning at 8:30. Requiem high mass will be offered at St. Francis de Sales' Roman Catholic church at 9 o'clock. A sister, Mrs. James Straw, of Forty-fifth street, Pittsburgh, survives.

Lieut. Martin Bevington.

Lieut. Martin Bevington of the United States battleship Kearsarge is dead at the home of his mother in Mansfield. Lieut. Bevington, who was 44 years old, was well known in Pittsburgh and was a member of both the Duquesne and Pittsburgh clubs of this city. For many years he was an inspector of armor plate at the Homestead steel works for the government and made many friends while here on this official business. He was last in Pittsburgh about six months ago on a leave of absence. Lieut. Bevington was appointed to the service in 1875 from Ohio. He was graduated from the United States Naval academy at Annapolis in 1878, and two years later was appointed assistant engineer. June 22, 1892, he was promoted to the position of passed assistant engineer, and on March 3, 1899, his rank was advanced to that of lieutenant. Previous to leaving his recent leaves of absence he spent four years in the Philippine and Mediterranean service.

Patrick Sanders.

Patrick Sanders, 63 years old, a resident of the North Side for the last 56 years, died yesterday morning at his home in Becky avenue, Allegheny, of general debility. For the last 18 years he had been engaged in the hotel business in Allegheny. Mr. Sanders was a native of Ireland and was brought to this vicinity by his parents when a child. Two daughters survive. He was a member of St. Xavier Roman Catholic church, Allegheny, where requiem high mass will be offered over the remains tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock.

She is survived by the following children: Henry Nelman of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Elmer Shafer and George Nelmen of Beaver Falls, Martin Nelmen of Mt. Jackson, Mrs. John Roulette and Mrs. Agnes Shafer of New Castle.

Grove City to Meet Geneva.

GROVE CITY, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Geneva football team will line up against the local collegians tomorrow in what promises to be the hardest game of the season. Geneva has been beyond doubt one of the fastest teams in Western Pennsylvania, but the locals, who for the first time this season are in shape,

RECEPTION TO FORMER PASTORS

MANY INTERESTING ADDRESSES

Old-Timers Told of Their Experiences During Their Connection With the Congregation—Preachers of Various Denominations to Extend Greetings.

The second day of the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Second Presbyterian church terminated last evening with a reception in the church parlors tendered to former pastors and former and present members of the congregation by the Saturday Afternoon club of the church. This followed a meeting in the church at which nearly every pew was filled.

Interesting were the addresses delivered by former pastors of the old organization. The Rev. Dr. Sutherland of Burlington, Ia., who followed Dr. McKibben in the pastorate, had delved into the files of an old gazeteer published in 1804. "Pittsburgh at that time," said he, "was described as a hamlet of about 200 houses and probably with a population of 1,200 or 1,500 persons. There were only two churches in the town at that time—not counting the Second Presbyterian church—and but three industries. These, I am sorry to say, are given in the old publication as a brewery and two distilleries."

Dr. McKibben paid a fine tribute to the elders who served with him on the board of the church many years ago. Other short addresses were made by Elders Oliver McClintock and Daniel Cooper.

The church was prettily decorated with autumn leaves. The former pastors and invited guests were seated on the rostrum. All formality was dispensed with. "We Mothers feel as a great big family party," said the Rev. S. Edward Young in opening the exercises, and every one seemed to enter into the occasion in this spirit. All of the speakers were received with the "Chautauqua salute." Invocation was asked by the Rev. Matthew B. Lowrie, a grandson and namesake of a pastor of the church in the early days of the last century. Mr. Lowrie came from Omaha, where he has a chair in the theological seminary in that city, to be present at the celebration of the old Second.

In the receiving party at the reception were the Rev. Dr. Sutherland, the Rev. Dr. McKibben, the Rev. Dr. Lowrie, the Rev. and Mrs. S. Edward Young and Mrs. Frank DeWitt Talmage. Dr. Talmage, who delivered the sermon at Sunday evening's service, was unexpectedly called to New York yesterday. Luncheon was served by members of the Saturday Afternoon club. A string orchestra furnished the music.

Yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock there was a minister's meeting to celebrate the founding of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. Addresses were delivered by Dr. A. Woodruff Halsey and others.

The three days' exercises will come to a close this evening. At 7:45 o'clock there will be a meeting in which greetings to the church will be given by pastors from prominent churches of the city regardless of denomination. Among those who will be present are the Reverend Doctors Alexander, Arundel, McAllister, Ruoff, McMillan, Rees and Partridge, Rabbi Levy, the Rev. Father Walsh of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church and others.

Consumers' League Meeting.

The general meeting of the Consumers' league will be held in the Twentieth Century clubhouse in Ossipee way tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The meeting will be devoted to reading reports and a description of the work of the Consumers' league. The scope and influence of the Western Pennsylvania branch has been widening the past year. Mrs. Florence Kelley, national factory inspector of New York, will address the annual meeting of the Western Pennsylvania branch on November 9.

DAUGHTERS RULED BY HAUGHTY DRESSMAKER

President-General Adjourns Meeting Arbitrarily to Keep Fitting-On Engagement.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Daughters of the American Revolution do not know whether to be amused or indignant at an occurrence in this city last Friday evening. This occurrence bids fair to become a national issue and is being heralded far and wide as "Robertson parliamentary Law versus the Dressmaker."

A chapter from the Keystone state presented a petition which brought up for consideration, one of the most burning questions in D. A. R. politics, namely, state rights against the national government.

The question was discussed over two hours and the vote about to be taken when Mrs. Fairbanks, president general, declared the meeting would have to adjourn, because she had an engagement with her dressmaker and that she was already late.

Those who wished to pass on the Pennsylvania petition protested and the matter was put to vote. Only two ladies decided that Mrs. Fairbanks was within her rights to adjourn the meeting to go to the dressmaker's. Eighteen declared that she must confine the session and count the votes, before the president general explained that she simply must keep that engagement; that she had not a decent gown to begin the winter season with and the meeting was adjourned.

There is some little feeling about the matter among the Pennsylvanians and when the members of the society meet in Pittsburgh, October 10, 11 and 12, for their state conference, the question will be discussed under the caption, "Will the Pennsylvania State Conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution be Governed by Robertson's Rules of Order or By the Dressmaker of the National President."

RECEPTION FOR PASTOR.

Popular Minister Gives Up Charge at Monaca to Go to College.

Members of the First Presbyterian church at Monaca, Pa., are arranging to tender a farewell reception Thursday evening to the Rev. J. T. Hackett, who for the last six and a half years has been pastor of the church. The Rev. Mr. Hackett will go to Princeton to take a post-graduate course in the university and seminary. He preached his farewell sermon Sunday.

The First church was a mission station when the Rev. Mr. Hackett took charge. He cleared the congregation of a big debt and besides having the church remodeled and refurnished, left a surplus in the treasury. The membership was doubled while he was in charge.

The New Dean Entertains.

Miss Eastman, the new dean at the Pennsylvania College for Women, entertained last evening with an informal reception in her parlors at the college. The affair was given for the members of the faculty, all of whom were present. Palms and vases of cut flowers were used for the simple decorations, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by the guests.

A New Castle Superintendent Weds.

Robert Coates of Youngstown just announced his marriage which took place recently at Warren, O., to Miss Alice Huck of Sharon. The Rev. M. L. Bates of Warren was the officiating minister. Mr. and Mrs. Coates will make their residence in New Castle. Mrs. Coates is a graduate of Hall institute.

PERSONALS

Gen. Thomas J. Henderson of Princeton, Ill., passed through the city last night on the Pennsylvania limited. He had been in Washington on business pertaining to his duties as a member of the board controlling the national soldiers' home. He was formerly a member of the interstate commerce commission. Gen. Henderson, speaking of the Manchuria dispute between Russia and Japan, said: "Just what will be the result of the trouble is difficult to predict. It would be an unwise policy for the United States to meddle with the affairs being friendly with both nations. While neither country violates its treaties with this country, it would be courting trouble to step between the two contending nations. Personally, I think it would be of benefit to this commercial world if Russia was permitted to occupy Manchuria, as it would open up another commercial point, instead of being devoted exclusively to fortifications."

Agents of the Provident Savings Life Assurance Company at their annual meeting and banquet yesterday and last evening had as guests from the home office in New York President Edward W. Scott, General Counsel W. T. Gilbert and Chief Medical Examiner Dr. E. L. Fell. In addition there were present J. Scott Anderson and D. Bruce Bruce, managers of the Detroit and Cleveland agencies. The occasion was the sixth anniversary of the appointment of Charles W. Scovel as manager of the Western Pennsylvania agency. About 70 local agents were at the annual meeting at the offices of the company and at the Monongahela House. Prizes in the year's competition were won as follows: Ordinary, C. F. Jahn, gold watch; Charles Shaw, diamond stick pin, people's department, H. Wilson Black, gold watch, and E. F. Ebert, diamond stick pin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Reed of No. 917 Union avenue, Allegheny, last evening entertained all the employes of the tradic department of the National Tube Company. Those present were Messrs. Carey, Russell, Dickinson, Stanlick, Serfeit, Gilmore, Lambert, Lenz, Lyons, Anderson, Nogley, Duff, Shaffer, O'Brien, McGirr, Fulgrave, McCreaney and Alcutt. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening spent.

H. C. Sanders of Altoona, a hardware dealer, while waiting for his train at the Union station last night, said: "The railroad shops at Altoona show signs of a depression in business. The shops have been working 24 hours a day for some time, until about three weeks ago, when some of the departments were ordered to work single turn. The men are working mostly on repair work."

Charles S. Donnely of Connellsville spent yesterday in Pittsburg, and before leaving said: "The report of 400 coke ovens going out is bad news for Connellsville, for when the mills are not in operation the coke ovens are shut down."

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

Lincoln—L. M. Riddlesperger, Warren.

SOCIETY.

AT THE Hotel Schenley last evening Miss Edith Wallace Whitehead gave a dinner following the wedding rehearsal in Trinity Episcopal church. Miss Whitehead's marriage to Pressley Neville Guthrie will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock with the bride's father, the Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, assisted by the Rev. Alfred Lee Arundel, officiating. Mr. Guthrie also gave his bachelor dinner last evening. Of the bridesmaids' dinner were the bride-elect and her mother, her sister, Miss Margaret Whitehead, who is to act as maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Blessing, Miss Penlope Whitehead, Miss Priscilla Guthrie, Miss Dorothy Gilman and Miss Gertrude Houghton. Mr. Guthrie entertained John Brandon Guthrie, his best man, Edmiston Whitehead, Rayard Guthrie, Joseph Kuch, George McBride and Harrison Guthrie.

Dancing Classes.

The fashionable dancing classes will be fewer in number this season. There will be just as many of the children's classes, however, as usual. One of the popular classes meets on Wednesday afternoon of each week in the Masonic hall, Collins avenue, East End. In this class there are 75 pupils, the age ranging from 7 to 17 years. The season will close with a children's cotillion at the Hotel Schenley next spring. Among the children composing this class are Miss Beatrice Irvine, Miss Elizabeth Heron, Miss Agnes Morrison, Miss Nessia Morrison, Miss Louise Morrison, Miss Helen Morrison and Thomas Morrison, Miss Martha Albright, Miss Virginia Anderson and Miss Margaret Anderson, children of Mr. Charles Anderson; Miss Jeannette Anderson and William Anderson, children of Mrs. J. Will Wed Today.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Guffey, daughter of Mrs. William Campbell Guffey of Irwin, Pa., and Samuel B. Cummings will take place this evening at the bride's home in Irwin.

Miss Nora Amberg and Isae Koch will be married this evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. Amberg of Locust street, Allegheny. The wedding colors will be white and green.

A party of Pittsburghers left Sunday night for Decatur, Ill., to attend the wedding there this evening of Miss Eugenia Harris and Charles F. Beech of Craig street. In the party were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Beech, Frank Beech, a brother, who will serve as best man; Mrs. G. H. Wild, Miss Elizabeth Will, Mrs. Daniel Beech and Miss Margaret Beech. After a wedding trip, the young couple will make their home in Pittsburgh.

Bridal Party Dined.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Armstrong of Edgeworth last evening entertained the bridal party which will be in attendance at the wedding of their daughter, Miss Agnes Armstrong, and Dudley Stevenson Liggett. Dinner was served to the party which included Mr. Liggett and Miss Armstrong, Miss Clara Armstrong, sister of the bride, who is to be maid of honor; Miss Jeannette Grove and Miss Alice David of Allegheny, Miss Drake and Miss Charlotte Jenkinson of Newark, N. J., bridesmaids; Sidney Liggett of Newark, N. J., who will be his brother's best man; John Chew and Riddle Haworth of Sewickley, Charles Davis and David H. Goehring of Pittsburgh, who will act as ushers. The decorations were pretty, fall flowers being used, with leaves and ferns. The wedding will take place tomorrow evening at the home of the bride in Edgeworth, and will be an elaborate affair.

Mrs. Stenger Issues Invitations.

Mrs. Bernard J. Stenger will issue invitations today for an afternoon reception and tea which she will give on Thursday, October 29, at her home, at Forbes street and Murdoch avenue, Squirrel Hill. The affair is planned in honor of her daughter, Mrs. James R. Rees, who was Miss Mary Amelia Stenger prior to her marriage in the early summer. Mrs. Stenger will send out 200 invitations and will have as her assistants a number of her own and her daughter's friends. This is the first of a series of social affairs which will be given for Mr. Rees during the coming months, although no other dates have been set. Mr. and Mrs. Rees have been at home with Mr. and Mrs. Stenger since September.

Odd Fellows Meet at Altoona.

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The 10th annual session of the Patriarchs Militant, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, department council of Pennsylvania, assembled in annual convention here this morning with the largest attendance in the history of the order. The grand encampment of Odd Fellows of Pennsylvania, of which the Patriarchs Militant meeting is a preliminary, open for a two days' session here tomorrow. Elaborate arrangements have been planned for the entertainment of the visitors.

Whiting-Ashcroft.

A quiet home wedding took place last evening, when Miss Eleanor J. Whiting, daughter of Mrs. Mary Whiting, of Sandusky street, Knoxville, became the wife of Thomas J. Ashcroft of Uniontown. The ceremony was performed at 6:30 o'clock by the Rev. Frederick M. Jordan of Knoxville Christian church. Miss Madeline Sweeny, as ring bearer, was the only attendant. After a wedding trip of about three weeks Mr. and Mrs. Ashcroft will be at home in Uniontown. The house is prettily decorated with pink roses and white chrysanthemums. The bride wore her traveling gown of dark blue.

Monday Afternoon Whist Club Meet.

Mrs. Olof Ussing of Hulbert street entertained the members of the Monday Afternoon Whist club yesterday. The club meets, about 20 in number, decided to change the name to the Thursday Afternoon Whist club, and hereafter to hold their meetings on Thursdays. Mrs. Lewis L. Duvall of Mt. Oliver will be hostess at the meeting two weeks hence. At yesterday's meeting Miss Belle Babbitt and Mrs. Minnie Moffitt were prize winners. Mrs. Stewart and Miss Mary Stewart of Bellevue and Mrs. Ussing were assisted by her sister, Miss Helen Smith, Rochester, N. Y., who is her house guest.

Wedding Party Chosen.

Miss Agnes Blattner will be maid of honor at the wedding of Miss Rosa Marie Kress and Bertram L. Clarke on October 29. The wedding will be a morning affair at 8:30 o'clock in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, Allegheny. The maids will be Miss Agnes Owens, Miss Lydia Lieb and Miss Mae Scurhman. Miss Mildred Kress, a sister of the bride, will be the flower girl. The ushers will be A. C. Knickerbocker, Robert Wood and Alfred Sloane. Mr. Clarke will officiate. Miss Kress is a daughter of J. A. Kress of Pennsylvania avenue, Allegheny.

Out of Town Weddings.

Ralph Anderson of Latrobe and Miss Beasie Prentiss Morrison of Coatesville will be married Thursday in the First Presbyterian church of Coatesville. The bride is the daughter of Dr. Thomas Morrison and a graduate of the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. McCleary of New Castle have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Belle McCleary, and Robert J. Tully. The wedding will take place early in November and will be celebrated at the McCleary residence.

The wedding will take place in December in St. Paul's Episcopal church in Lynchburg. Mr. Ligon is a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and is a mechanical and electrical engineer.

Opening Dramatic Entertainment.

The opening entertainment of King's School of Oratory will be held on Friday evening in Curry college hall, Sixth street. A three-act play, "Tell Your Wife," will be presented under the direction of John A. Chambers. The characters will be: Morton Elwood, W. L. Hadley; D. Joyce; L. F. King; Mr. Pulsifer, J. S. McLaughlin; Miss Edith Harrington, Miss Lena Rapport; Mrs. Fanny Joyce, Miss Pearl Hamilton; Miss Alice Ogden, Miss Edna Smith; Miss Ellis, Miss McFarland.

Notes of Society.

Miss Ruth Wilson of South Negley avenue entertains at cards today in honor of Miss Louise McComb, who will be an autumn bride.

Mrs. Joseph Grimes of Elizabeth street, Sewickley, has issued cards for a reception at her home from 2 until 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon of this week.

A pleasant affair of last evening was the dance given at the Carter Conservatory of Music for the students and their friends. The members of the faculty received the guests.

Mrs. John Winterhalter, Sr., of Wheeling, W. Va., and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Winterhalter, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Winterhalter, Jr., at their home in the East End.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hoern of Murray Hill avenue are in Denver, Col., and will remain during the winter. Mr. Hoern met with an accident some time ago, but is now reported to be improving rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Smith and son, Clarence S. Smith, of Franklin street, Wilkinsburg, will leave this week for a tour of Europe.

Miss India Van Dusen of the Iroquois apartments will give a linen shower for Miss Mary Henderson, an autumn bride, on Wednesday, October 28. About 30 young people will be present, and a six-hand euchre will be given in connection with the shower.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

THE great majority of the women who went to Carlisle last week returned home on Saturday, a number having remained over for a trip to Mt. Alto on Saturday. The party which accepted the invitation to visit the forestry reservation consisted of 75 women from all sections of the state who, notwithstanding the rain which fell throughout the day, made the trip and were well repaid for the effort. Under the direction of Dr. Rothrock of the state board of forestry columbines and Miss Myra Lloyd Dock, the only woman on the board, the party ascended the mountain to a point 2,400 feet above the sea level. It was a four mile drive in carriages which conveyed the women through the reservation to the camp for transportation located in its midst. On the 50,000 acres of the Mt. Alto reservation are 200,000 trees under the care of the state forestry commission, the corps of workers in the reservation consisting of 15 young men, in addition to the head forester. The trees are all white pine, carefully planted, and every tree cut down is replaced by a new one planted to take its place. The late autumn frosts have touched the foliage on the central part of the state until it is dyed in the most brilliant hues. There are 27 patients in the camp for consumptives, several of them from the Philippines. They were delighted with the visitors and their last word as the women departed was "Goodby; won't you come again?"

The club women were taken over the reservation in two parties, and while the first party was inspecting the pine trees the second party held an impromptu meeting, making Mrs. Mary Mumford of Philadelphia chairman. An informal discussion of forestry was started, in which nearly everyone joined, among those present being Mrs. C. McKnight, the newly elected president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania women, Mrs. E. C. Crocker, Mrs. R. Kibler and Miss Helen Grimes of the New Era club; Mrs. John Cowley of the Tourists, and Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg of Philadelphia. Miss Helen Grimes is chairman of the forestry department of the permanent civic committee of the club and is arranging for study and work along the line of forestry in this end of the state. Miss Grimes, Miss Anna Smith and Miss McKnight remained in Carlisle until this week, while Mrs. Kibler, Mrs. John Cowley and Mrs. W. B. Evans returned on Sunday.

The Tourists' Club Meeting.

The Tourists' club yesterday afternoon listened to the report which its delegates to Carlisle gave of the meeting of the state federation. Mrs. John Cowley was the delegate, and left nothing undone which could give the club women who remained at home an idea of the history of the meetings, the splendid social gatherings and the cordial hospitality extended by the Carlisle men and women to the delegates and visitors from all sections of the state.

The program opened with a paper prepared by Miss Agnes C. Way of Wickley, entitled "The Emigration of Asiatic Tribes to the Southern Part of the World," which was presented and the paper was read by another member. A sketch, "Conditions Then Existing in Europe," was presented by Miss Irene McDermott, and numerous others on the program. Miss Gertrude Doran, who yesterday was admitted to the club, playing Chopin's Ballade in A flat and a number by Chaminade arranged for the piano. Miss Mary Gaston sang several songs. Mrs. A. Dill was the accompanist.

During the short business meeting the secretary was instructed to write a letter to Mrs. McKnight, congratulating her upon her election as president of the state federation. Upon the president's table was a cluster of chrysanthemums gathered by Mrs. Cowley in Carlisle last week.

Lectures of Academy of Science and Art.

The Academy of Science and Art is preparing an interesting program of lectures for the coming season. The season will open with William J. Hammer's lecture on "Madison and Its Surroundings," on Thursday evening, October 22, in Carnegie Music hall. On the following evening Mr. Hammer will give a lecture on the properties and applications of thorium and the treatment of diseases by the ultra violet light.

The formation of a biological section will be completed Friday evening. The pedagogical section will open its season this evening in the Academy hall with an excellent program on "Some Problems Concerning the Recitation." W. S. Bell will lecture before the photographic section on November 10, his subject being "How We Layout Slides." The lecturers who have promised to appear before the academy this season include:

Arranging for the Annual Entertainment.

A meeting of the officers and managers of the East End Young Women's Christian association was held yesterday afternoon in the association building, Fifth avenue, Allegheny. Arrangements were almost completed for the annual dinner and bazar Thursday evening, October 29, in the Tabernacle Presbyterian church, College avenue, Allegheny. The dinner will be served from 5 o'clock until 8. An all-day sewing will be held tomorrow at the association building in College avenue.

The East End Young Women's Christian association is an auxiliary of the International Women's and Young Women's Christian Association, which will hold its seventeenth biennial meeting in St. Louis commencing October 30, continuing to November 6. The local association will send no delegate this year, but one of its members, Mrs. W. W. Martin, who is also a member of the state board, will send a report giving an account of the work which the East End association is doing.

Miss Blow's Lectures.

Miss Susan E. Blow delivered her fourth lecture on "Twice" yesterday afternoon to the children of the First United Presbyterian church, Oakland. Her subject was "The Story of the Family." Miss Blow is also delivering a series of lectures on psychology before the students of the Kindergarten college on Tuesday afternoons, which will be given on the 27th, 28th and last lecture in the first half of the course on "Faust" will be given on Friday afternoon of this week.

Tekla Bread
NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY
TRADE MARK

This is the cheapest bread—because it is the best bread—ever made in this town. It is wonderfully light, yet the texture is firm and fine; it is creamy white, the evidence of nutritive richness; it is sweet and nutty of flavor; it is delightful to eat, easy to digest; it has a beautiful golden-brown, crispy crust. Fresh every day at every grocer's. Look for the label.

NOVEMBER "Just get The Delineator" NUMBER

FOR FASHION'S LATEST FADS
"Just get The Delineator"

What is being made abroad is told in our letters from London and Paris, and what is to be worn here this Winter is fully pictured and described in detail. Many pages are devoted to illustrations of fashionable hats, creations of the best houses, and the newest dress fabrics, trimmings and accessories. The Dressmaking and Needlework departments are invaluable to the women who would be well gowned.

FOR HOUSEHOLD HELPS
"Just get The Delineator"

"Household Helps" is a trite expression. Far from trite are the helps continually offered in The Delineator by able writers who suggest new thoughts in cooking, happy arrangements in furnishing and short cuts in all branches of housekeeping.

For Children's Stories and Pastimes
"Just get The Delineator"

The Delineator's juvenile stories can really be enjoyed by children who read or are read to. The many suggestions offered keep little hands unusually occupied, and teach while they amuse.

FOR BRIGHTEST FICTION
"Just get The Delineator"

The cleverest story writers assist in making The Delineator's pages entertaining. In November, Lillie Hamilton French tells of "An Interrupted Honeymoon"; Minna C. Smith of "The Little Mail Carrier"; William MacLeod Raine of "An Unpremeditated Engagement"; and then the serial story, "The Evolution of a Club Woman," about which everybody is talking, is continued.

FOR WOMAN'S SOCIAL DOINGS
"Just get The Delineator"

Woman's clubs, her entertainments, her obligations to society, and her various occupations, are delightfully treated from various view points.

FOR ATTRACTIVE ILLUSTRATIONS
"Just get The Delineator"

The world's best illustrators make The Delineator's pages attractive. The second of J. C. Hemmant's remarkable photographic articles, an uncommon story of Mr. Hemment's uncommon doings, is in the November number, and the work of Goerls, Rosenmeyer, Keller, Ashe, Lowell, Aylward, Leyendecker and Eaton appears monthly.

ATTEMPT TO HURT JOHN C. HAYMAKER

HAYS WANTS POSTPONEMENT

An informal effort was made yesterday to postpone the trial of Mayor W. B. Hays, indicted for discharging old soldiers from the public service without cause, which has been set for tomorrow. Peter Hermes called on District Attorney John C. Haymaker, told him the mayor was ill, and asked if the case could be postponed.

Samuel Moore, the prosecutor, was in the office at the time and objected to this. The case has once been postponed because the mayor took a trip, and the district attorney said that as a rule but one postponement is allowed. This, however, will not prevent the court from sending the case over if the mayor is too ill to appear tomorrow. The affair is looked upon as an attempt to place Mr. Haymaker in the position of trying to force trial against the former political opponent.

James Edwards, the alleged murderer of Clinton Banks, who was killed at Bridgeville last July, will be tried in criminal court on Thursday. The trial was to have begun yesterday, but as the defense has not completed its side of the case, the postponement was made to allow them to do so.

J. M. Johns was acquitted on a charge of false pretense made by A. D. Boesler. It was alleged that Johns took $65 from Boesler to buy some furniture and used the money for himself.

WRIT OF MANDAMUS ON JUDGE W. M. LINDSAY

Supreme Court Petitioned to Compel Opening Up of Railroad Case.

Joseph B. Ramsey filed a petition in the supreme court yesterday asking for a writ of mandamus on the Hon. W. M. Lindsay, president judge of Warren county, commanding him to show cause why he should not open up the case of Ramsey vs. the New York & Pennsylvania Railroad Company and others. The petition was received but no action taken on it.

Non-pross. were entered in the case of Waldron vs. Pittsburgh Wall Paper Company, appellant, common pleas Butler county; Chambers vs. Pittsburgh Carnegie & Western railroad, appellant, common pleas Washington county, and Hamilton vs. H. Bassom in the petition of M. Caroline Hanson to set as fene sole trader common pleas Beaver county. A motion to quash was made in the case of Wilson vs. Pittsburgh Traction Company, common pleas Butler county. Several cases were argued.

WM. FREEMAN'S WILL.

Pioneer Insurance Agent of Pittsburgh Gives to Charity. Wm. Waite Leaves $40,000.

The will of William Freeman of Wilkinsburg, the pioneer insurance agent of Western Pennsylvania and the first man to sell or solicit insurance in the city of Pittsburgh, over 60 years ago, was filed for probate in the register's office yesterday. Freeman left an estate of about $20,000 to his family, with some bequests to charity, the principal of which is two houses in the Seventeenth ward and all other real estate go to his widow, but the income of several pieces of property goes to his daughter Retta until they are sold. The Widow Ittig Chic. and Trust Company of Chicago is left in trust for his daughter Lydia, $500 of which, upon her death, goes to keep up graves in Allegheny cemetery. Three of his grandchildren get $500 each.

One hundred dollars is left to the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, incorporated by the legislature of the state of Pennsylvania, and $200 to the Sunday school of the Mifflin Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of Wilkinsburg, or in case of its dissolution prior to the sale of said real estate, to the trustees of Grandview cemetery of said borough to his wife's sister. The Fidelity Title and Trust Company is executor and Attorneys Diamond & Zacharias have charge of the estate.

The will of William Waite, a contractor, was filed. He bequeaths an estate worth $40,000 to his widow, which, at her death, is to go to their children.

GRAND JURY'S WORK.

United States Court Opened and True Bills Returned—Mail Carriers in Trouble.

The fall term of the United States district court opened yesterday morning with Judge Joseph Buffington on the bench. John Tate of Pittsburgh was made foreman of the grand jury and a number of indictments were returned over to that body. There was no business today for the court, and it adjourned until this morning, when the trial of cases will be taken up.

Isaac N. Ross, deputy collector of customs, charged with embezzling a money package containing $5,000; John Hallenbeck, postmaster of Johnstown, charged in two indictments of six counts each with embezzling letters; Henry S. Hall, a postal clerk, charged in two indictments, one of four counts and the other of two counts, with embezzling letters; Frank Graybill, a mail carrier of Clairton, charged in one indictment of three counts of embezzling a letter; Costini Frodizzie of Somerset, charged with carrying on a retail liquor business without paying special tax.

Soffel Case Listed.

The divorce suit of Peter Soffel against Katherine Soffel, which was listed to be heard in common pleas court No. 3 yesterday, was reached, and the case is set for trial today. It is possible that the trial will be called tomorrow, as an order will be asked made for the bringing of Mrs. Soffel into court from the penitentiary, but this proceeding will require but little time.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The master has recommended a decree in the divorce suit of Sadie F. Jones against James W. Jones, on the ground of desertion.

The jury in the case of Joseph Andriam and wife against John Gallo, an action to recover damages for the loss of a child by fire, returned a verdict for the defendant.

The following executions were issued yesterday: Mrs. Nettie Cunningham vs. Enul Theis et al, $467.50; H. S. Reynolds vs. E. J. Reynolds, $150; Christ Glein vs. Annie E. Vey, $172.68; Mrs. Dunlay vs. Thomas Freyer, $14.87. The First National Bank of Marietta, O., vs. Will G. Adams, $295.50; Frank Ziegler vs. Allen E. Walker et al., $265.00.

Two petitions in involuntary bankruptcy were filed. One was against I. G. Wood of Sharon by the John H. Pitch Co. of Youngstown, O., the Gamble Neale Co. of Warren, O., and the McCart-Christy Co. of Cleveland, O. The combined claims are $1,040. The other petition was filed against simon Cohen of Windber, formerly of Scalp Level, by Saul & Co., of Pittsburgh; Hardy Slutaker and the Kaytroo Manufacturing Company of Altoona. The claims are $1,283.16.

HUGH WARD NOT ENGAGED.

Actor Will Go on the Local Stage Only for Short Engagement.

Manager Harry Davis of the Grand opera house denies that he has entered into contract with Hugh J. Ward to appear in the local stock company, but when Mr. Ward arrives in Pittsburgh this week from Philadelphia he will probably go on the local stage for a short special engagement. In a letter to H. J. Low of this city, written on the eve of his departure from London, the comedian declared that he can remain but a short time in America and will return to England in November to rehearse for the Drury Lane Christmas pantomime.

Mr. Ward has secured a city home in London and will make his permanent residence there this winter. He is expected to arrive in Pittsburgh today or tomorrow and will be entertained by the Knights of Columbus, of which he is a member. An impromptu theatrical entertainment will be arranged for the event, run by men prominent in Pittsburgh amusement enterprises.

BERLIOZ'S BIRTHDAY MARKED BY DAMROSCH

Special Program Arranged for This Afternoon at Exposition. Close Near at Hand.

In commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Hector Berlioz, Walter Damrosch has arranged the first matinee program to be given at the Exposition today entirely of works written by that great French musical genius. Heading the list is the breezy, snappy "Carneval" overture, depictive of the public and commodious characterizing the popular Roman holiday. Contrasting beautifully with this number is the "Dance of the Sylphs," one of the daintiest and most ethereal selections ever composed.

The feature at tonight's concert will be the Saint Saen's "Rondo Capriccioso," played as violin solo by Mr. Damrosch's brilliant concertmeister, David Maines.

Only five days remain of the present Exposition season, five days which should record a steady crescendo in attendance, capped by a colossal farewell oilowx next Saturday night when the doors close for the year 1903. This afternoon's programs follow:

2 P. M.

Overture, "Roman Carneval"
(a) "Dance of the Sylphs."
(b) "Dance of the Fire Flies."
(c) "Rakoczy March," from "The Damnation of Faust."
Overture to "Beatrice and Benedick."
March of the Pilgrims, from "Harold" symphony.
Overture to "Benvenuto Cellini."

7:30 P. M.

March, "Aida" ..... Verdi
(a) "In the Woods" ..... Chabrier
(b) Waltz ..... Chaminade
(a) "The Gipsy." .....
(b) "Scotch Idyl" ..... Saint-Saens
Costume Ball Sketches ..... Rubinstein
Waltz, "Where the Citrons Bloom" ..... Strauss

ATTEMPT MADE TO ENTER REIGHARD RESIDENCE

Burglars and Watchman Fight Pistol Duel Outside Oil Operator's Home.

Two men were discovered early last Saturday morning attempting to effect an entrance into the residence of David H. Reighard, the well-known oil operator, at North Negley and Stanton avenues. Michael Maloney, a private watchman employed by several of the residents of that vicinity, found the men working at a window leading into the billiard room. Maloney and the men exchanged several shots. The burglars escaped down a dark alley.

At about 3:30 o'clock in the morning the watchman discovered two men trying to "jimmy" a window. The men saw Maloney and started to run. The latter, drew his revolver and commanded them to halt. The thieves ran on and he fired a shot in the direction of the fleeing men.

Turning in their tracks the thieves drew revolvers and returned the fire. Maloney jumped behind a tree and fired again and the burglars sent a fusillade of bullets in his direction. When they had emptied their revolvers the burglars darted down an alley way and disappeared. Maloney blew his whistle and attracted a policeman, but a search for the men was fruitless.

RETURN TO THE EAST

United States Steel Corporation Officials Spend Day Here En Route to New York.

The officials of the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiary companies, who have been making the annual inspection of the company's properties, reached Pittsburgh yesterday on their return east. The New Yorkers of the party left last evening. The officials who were seen said that they had found everything most satisfactory throughout their their visit to all of the company's properties.

Visits were paid to the offices of the Carnegie Steel Company here and some of the party went to see local plants, which the hurry of the first visit did not allow them to visit.

Strongest Evidence of Faith.

Schilling Bros. Co., Penn and Frankstown Aves., Guarantee That Hyomei Will Cure the Worst Case of Catarrh in Pittsburgh.

When one of the most reputable concerns in Pittsburgh guarantees that a medicine will effect a cure or they will refund the money, it speaks volumes as to the merits of that remedy. It is in this way that the Schilling Bros. Company, Penn and Frankstown avenues, are selling Hyomei, the treatment that has made so many remarkable cures of both acute and chronic catarrh in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Hyomei is not a pill nor is it a liquid that has to be taken with a tablespoon or teaspoon. Just breathe it by the aid of an inhaler that comes in every outfit and benefit will be soon from the first treatment.

It destroys germ life in the air passages and lungs and enriches and purifies the blood with additional ozone. It cures catarrh of the head and throat, or of the stomach, liver and kidneys. Wherever mucous membrane contains catarrhal germs, there Hyomei will do its work of healing. When using this treatment, the air you breathe will be found like that on the mountains high above the sea level, where grow balsamic trees and plants which make the air pure by giving off volatile antiseptic fragrance that is healing to the respiratory organs.

A complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1 and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment.

Remember that if Hyomei does not cure you, the Schilling Bros. Company, Penn and Frankstown avenue, will refund your money. This is a good time to cure catarrh by this natural method and prevent catarrhal colds that are so common at this season.

STOCK MARKET DECLINES CARRIED AWAY ALL GAINS

Bad Feeling in Every Quarter—Trouble Precipitated by Baltimore Failures—Crucible Steel Had Another Sinking Spell.

Another "blue Monday" was experienced on the stock exchanges, with the loss of pretty much all that had been gained in the late trading last week. New York sentiment was pessimistic to a marked degree before the opening. London was weak on the more menacing situation in the far east and when it was announced just after the opening at New York and Pittsburgh that a receiver had been asked for the Maryland Trust Company at Baltimore, with deposits of over $5,000,000 and loans over $6,000,000, the markets simply fell to pieces. The entire list was affected, though a little later there was support in spots.

To add to the confusion the report that the Pennsylvania railroad had stopped work on $10,000,000 worth of improvements was played as a bear card, the inference being bruited about on the New York board that reports of railroad earnings have not been accurate. On behalf of the railroads it was said it is customary at this season to lay off outdoor hands, but the bears came back with the reply that it is just as easy to manipulate railroad earnings as the figures for industrial operations, which shows to soreness over the United States Shipbuilding disclosures, the reduction of the dividend on United States Steel common and the announcement from the Crucible company that the preferred dividend was looked at through blue glasses by the majority, despite the support that was evidently given by strong hands when the market was at its worst.

When there was an appearance of recovery two more trust company receiverships were reported from Baltimore, the Union and International. This caused fresh tremulousness and it was generally conceded the situation at Baltimore was bad. It was explained the difficulty of the Union Trust was with a load of bonds of a big southern hotel which were not marketable and which could not be used as collateral, though believed to be worth their face. The explanation had little effect except to elicit from New York approval of the course pursued and the advice to close other Baltimore institutions, if the pressure continued rather than to undertake immediate liquidation by sacrifice of securities on a market unwilling to take them.

Little attention was paid to the bull tips that were passed around, such as the lease of Atchison to Union Pacific on a 4 per cent basis and reminders that surplus reserves of the New York banks are now $17,483,000 as compared with only $7,608,000 at the same time last year. The fact that Secretary Shaw's policy has relieved New York of demands for moving the crops was talked up by conservatives, but not listened to by the panicky sellers who found it was not their day to see anything good.

In the local market the trouble first manifested itself in extreme weakness in Crucible Steel preferred, which continued during the greater part of the day, though the buying appeared to be by good parties. The only explanation offered was that holders who had expected dividends right along believed they would not get one after this month's meeting and were unloading in disappointment. The common stock sympathized to some extent and sold down to 48¾ bid, finally closing with that figure bid. From sales at 80¼, the preferred stock rallied to 50¾ bid at the close.

Federal National bank was another weak spot. The stock sold off rapidly from 115 at the opening to 98, where it hung for some time. Then rumors accumulated and it slid downward during the afternoon, touching 85 after 2 o'clock. Late in the afternoon the rumors on the street reached the bank and an official denial in detail was made public. During the last half hour on the exchange the stock found buyers and was bid up more rapidly than it came down, the last sales being at 101. The close was at 100 bid, 101 asked. This stock worried the local traders more than anything else and as the rumors affecting it were passed around a depression of spirits was plainly noticeable about the "pull ring." The reaction was welcomed and the denial of the rumors let a little of the sunshine in the floor conversation, just as the rays of "Old Sol" penetrated through the windows of the exchange and cast a golden glow across the room.

Manufacturers Light & Heat was another conspicuously weak feature. The selling was persistent and the price dropped away from 26⅝ to a close at 23¾ asked. No explanation went with this decline except the opinion that the stock had been largely bought on narrow margins and had to be closed out.

Monongahela River Coal proved an exception to the general trend. The common sold at 9½, a gain over the close on Saturday and the closing bid was at 9¾. The preferred was offered at 28½ at the close. Pittsburgh Coal sympathized with the general weakness selling down to 10 for the common and 65¾ for the preferred. Westinghouse Electric second preferred was conspicuously heavy declining from 68 at the opening to 64 with sales, though 64¼ was bid at the close with no offers.

United States Steel preferred sold off from 62 at the opening to 59½, but recovered to 59⅞ bid at the close. New York reported good buying in this stock for Pittsburgh account. The common sold down from 14 to 12⅞, but recovered to 13⅛ and closed strong at 12 bid.

Pennsylvania railroad which closed on Saturday at 119¾ opened yesterday at 118¾, depressed by the report that it had stopped work on improvements on the middle and eastern divisions. From that point it sold down slowly to 117 and closed but ¼ above that price.

Taken all in all the feeling yesterday was more lugubrious than upon any other day during the more than two months of slumping prices. This was probably due to the shattering of hopes aroused by the rally at the close of last week. There was so much certainty at that time that bottom had been reached that the manifest weakness yesterday morning proved a shocking surprise. Yet the declines were not great considering the news from Baltimore, the pressure from London and the general disappointment. It is reasoned from this that support must have been given by the giants who are not moved by temporary conditions. Public confidence has been so broken that ordinary investors appear unable to distinguish between good stocks and bad. There is no magic in the word dividends. But if any one will sit down calmly and think the situation over, he must realize that many securities on the list are selling below their actual value. The explanation of the failure to pick them out may be afforded by a telegram from New York to a Pittsburgh broker, which suggested that railroad earnings were not as reported and that investors in the line might be fooled as they had been in the supposed earnings of some of the industrials. That view expressed extreme pessimism and distrust and while it may also be interpreted as the strongest possible argument for a measure of publicity that will not leave the public in the dark concerning the actual business and earning power of corporations.

The opinion may be ventured that if the public knew as much about the condition of other corporations as it has heard about the affairs of United States Shipbuilding recently there would not be a rush to sell good properties upon every baseless rumor. There are plenty of good values in the country; there are good crops now fully assured; there is an unimpeachable currency standard; there are rich natural resources and there is splendid recuperative vitality in the American people. The whole trouble now is one of shattered nerves. The question is as to when the bromide will have its effect.

BRUSHTON SITE SOLD FOR $36,000

30 HOUSES FOR M'KEESPORT

Pennsy Plans in Swissvale and Wilkinsburg Excite Much Comment—Pittsburgher Building in the East—House Sales on the Increase.

The latest move necessitated by the crosstown project of the Pennsylvania railroad in the East End is that of the D. J. Kennedy Company which has purchased the property of the Phoenix Clay Pot works at the northwest intersection of the Pennsylvania railroad and Brushton avenue. The site has a frontage on the railroad of 476 feet and extends north from the tracks along Brushton avenue 101 feet to Finance street, and contains about 47,000 square feet. It formerly belonged to the Mooreg heirs and the old frame buildings on the lot were used for manufacturing pottery years ago.

Several months ago the Pennsylvania condemned the present site of the Kennedy Company at the Dallas avenue crossing, and the case is still pending in court, this being the only one of the properties in this neighborhood which the railroad has not taken possession of. Last month the Pennsylvania took out the switch so that the Kennedy plant has been greatly crippled since. Mr. Kennedy owns a railroad frontage of nearly 500 feet where his large frame warehouse and factory stand, and the strip extends northward to a private alley about half-way between the railroad and Hamilton avenue.

The warehouse will be moved to the site just purchased and a larger plant will be established there for handling all sorts of builders' supplies. It was currently reported yesterday that the Phoenix property had been bought by a company for a pottery manufacturing site, but this was denied last night. At the price paid, $36,000, the property brought only 77 cents a square foot, a very reasonable figure in view of the fact that this is almost the only remaining site of this kind in the East End.

Novel Building Project.

In spite of the tight money market and the prevailing strikes there are a few speculative builders still at work, and these by taking up decidedly new methods are likely to reap a fair harvest this winter. The most encouraging project announced for months in Pittsburg building circles is that of John Enos, who is hunting a home in the Wilkinsburg district lately bought from James B. Glass, 40 lots in Amherst terrace, McKeesport, for $8,000, or $150 each. These are 25x100 feet and are on the outskirts of the allotment. Mr. Enos has already built 10 cheap frame houses, and the success he has met with in marketing these has induced him to build 50 more at once.

These will be four-room frame dwellings, and will be sold with the lot for from $800 to $1,000 each. The demand for houses of this kind in and near McKeesport is so great that they readily command a rental of $15 to $18 a month, and the wonder is that more men have not engaging in similar projects, as the houses are snapped up by hundreds before they are completed. If sold they pay a small cash profit on the cost of lot and building, if put on larger lots, and if rented the revenue is fully 20 per cent, and in the investment in many localities around the city there is a crying demand for houses costing from $1,000 to $2,000 each, and if a contractor or builder has stocks of the corn he now holds they can even now at a cost that will not him a truly profit.

Guessing on Pennsy Plans.

Property owners in Swissvale are considerably interested in the report which emanated from a railroad official that the new passenger station of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in that borough is to be located in Center street, three blocks from the present station to Braddock avenue. The proposed site is near the plant of the American Glass Company, and most of the ground has been owned by the Pennsylvania for some time. The station will cost at least $10,000. On the lower side of the tracks, between Swissvale and Copeland stations, the Pennsylvania owns a strip of about five acres, and it is reported that when the new station is built this ground will be used for freight yards for Braddock, the railroad's facilities for handling freight being now overpressed.

In connection with the Pennsylvania's suburban projects in the extreme East End it is believed that the $250,000 hotel which New York capitalists have interested with build at Penn and East End avenues, as detailed in The Sunday Gazette, has not been located there without definite knowledge that the new Wilmerding station in Wilkinsburg would be near by. The hotel site is four squares west of the Penn avenue crossing. The Pennsylvania has bought within a year 16 of the 20 properties that lie between West street and the railroad, and which would be affects by the new grade, so that the curve and grade crossing can be easily eliminated.

Strongest in the City.

The 10-story power building, which is being erected by Henry Phipps in Cecil way in the rear of the Horne store building, will have the distinction of being the strongest building in Pittsburgh. From the foundations, which were made of great concrete pillars sunk deep into the ground, to the roof, the walls are rolled especially for this building, the work suggests tremendous strength. The building was designed for the heaviest machinery and for only powerful motors. The power is light for all Mr. Phipps' buildings in this neighborhood, but will be used for general power purposes. The boilers will be located in the basement floor, so that the danger of the first floor and basement being flooded. A number of tenants have already secured quarters for the installation of light-ing and power plants.

Thomas M. McKee, the former Pittsburgh glass manufacturer, is having plans figured by Architect Guy Lowell of Boston for a stone and frame dwelling at Sharon, to cost $20,000. The same architect is building a $100,000 residence for Mr. McKee at the same place.

Architect F. C. Sauer has plans for a brick store building in Sandusky street, Allegheny, for James Brown to cost $15,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Butter steady; creamery, 15½@20½c; dairy, 14@18c. Eggs firm at mark, cases included, 18@19½c. Cheese easier, 10½@11½c.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—Butter firm and ½@1c higher; extra western creamery, 21½c; nearby prints, 25c. Eggs firm, good demand; fresh nearby, 24c at the mark. Western, 24c. Cheese quiet, unchanged; New York full creams, fancy, 12@12½c; choice, 11¾c; fair to good, 11@11¾c.

ELGIN, Ill., Oct. 19.—The board of trade today fixed the official price of butter at 21 cents, an advance of half a cent over last week. Sales 142 tubs. The output for the district during the past week was 678,000 pounds.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 5 points on November to unchanged on other positions, the loss on November being due to liquidation, while the later months were steadied by small or primary receipts and firmer European markets. As the session progressed there was a renewal of the outside demand recently noted, business being on a fair scale, and the market was finally steady 5 to 10 points higher. Sales were 45,000 bags, including November at $4.90@5.00; December, 85 lots, 25; January, $5 25; March, 45 lots, 25; May, 30 lots, 25; July, $5 65@5 70, and September $5 75@5 80.

Sugar—Raw steady; fair refining, 3⅜c; centrifugal 96 test, 3¾c; molasses sugar, 3¼c. Refined quiet; crushed, $5 35; powdered, 4¼ 85; granulated, 4¼ 15.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The drygoods market is in improved condition, and although the volume of transactions has not materially increased, it is evident buyers are commencing to consider the necessity of supplying their wants for the coming season. Buying is on a conservative basis still, but there is no doubt there is more willingness to negotiate.

CREAMERY BUTTER QUOTATIONS HIGHER

Home Vegetables Scarce and Higher—Chestnut Prices Advance.

Creamery butter prices advanced a half cent at Elgin yesterday and local quotations have followed the advance. The market was much firmer last week, and this increase in prices was not surprising. Cheese remains firm, but unchanged, and quotations of last week continue to rule in the egg market.

Stiffening prices for such home vegetables as are still in the market, and the gradual disappearance of others, are signs of the approach of winter which are unmistakable. The beginning of the week found several changes in force, a marked advance having taken place in quotations for certain lines. Sweet potatoes, which made an upward movement last week, are again put forward in price, fancy Jerseys, now bringing as much as $4. Home cucumbers are out of the market, and only hothouse stock which are unmarketable. The long come to $1.75 a bushel, although there is still a fair supply. String beans are higher, quotations ranging from $1.50 to $1.75 per bushel. Tomatoes are bringing 65 to 75 cents a clue, and are more plentiful than they were a week ago. Corn has advanced to $1.00 a bushel. The only articles which showed easier conditions were cauliflower, cabbage and squash, in each of which there was a slight decline.

Fruits, both domestic and tropic, opened the week at the same figures as ruled on Saturday, with the exception of Concord grapes, which are moving freely, and receipts are lessening, with the result that prices are higher.

Receipts in the hay and grain market amounted to 168 cars, but the market was steady, and quotations were all unchanged. One prominent wholesaler remarked that of all the hay he had received, all but two cars were sold before it arrived. Considerable excitement has been indulged in recently concerning the large receipts of grain and hay during the last few weeks, and the ease with which it had been handled, showing the healthy condition of business, which speaks loudly of the growth of this market. Dealers are reaching out after trade, and are drawing more of it to Pittsburgh and from farther away than ever before.

Flour is very firm at the advanced prices now in force, local quotations not having gone forward proportionately to the advance made at the mills. Indications all point to a steady flour market for some time, the premium on cash wheat being stronger than ever. Coffee is firm and the market for green is steadily maintained, the full range of coffee prices to rule for a while, and will not be surprised to see further advances in roasted at any time. Other grocery staples remain as ruled last week, with no change to note, with business good and the prices steady.

Easier conditions rule the poultry market, and quotations are lower than they were last week. Supply is somewhat larger, and there is a tendency to lower quotations as much as possible, the market having ruled unusually high for some time.

CRUISER SEIZED.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—United States Marshal Alcott today seized for the government the cruiser Chattanooga, building in the Crescent shipyards at Elizabethport. The seizure was made on a writ of replevin on the complaint of the government that irreparable injury would result if the sale of the Chattanooga, scheduled for tomorrow, is allowed to proceed. The cruiser is not half finished the government has expended $000,000 on her and $500,000 is necessary to finish her.

Up to the seizure today the Chattanooga was in the hands of the sheriff of Union county and offered for sale Tuesday, October 20, to satisfy a claim of $10,790, held by the Babcock & Wilcox Company of New York. The cruiser came into the possession of the sheriff before the United States Shipbuilding Company went into the hands of a receiver.

WALL STREET SLUMP WEAKENED GRAIN PRICES

Bearish Foreign News Also Made the Market Lower in Chicago.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Wheat was decidedly unsettled and the volume of trading was fairly large. Opening prices were easier, due to the lower cables and to the large world's shipments, with Russia still showing up strongly in contributing to the general supply. Weather throughout the west and northwest was also of a favorable character and induced considerable selling. Rumors of impending trouble in Wall street had some influence early in the day, and surrounded by all those bearish influences. December opened ½@¾c lower at 80½@80¾c, and prices held around the opening figures until noon, when a sharp upturn occurred on heavy buying of December by a prominent local bull, which induced many shorts to cover. With light offerings the price quickly started upward, and December sold up 81¼c, but on that figure off-rings became liberal and the decline which followed was as sudden as the rally. Primary receipts were 1,951,800 bushels against 1,758,400 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 818 cars which, with local receipts of 111 cars, none of contract grade, made total receipts for the two points on Monday and August 1,009 cars last week and 1,400 cars a year ago.

Corn ruled weak under heavy selling by commission houses and provision people. The principal influence that brought this about was the favorable weather and increased receipts, together with the weakness in wheat. There was a temporary rally in the middle of the session on local buying and in sympathy with the upturn in wheat, but later the market again turned weak and the close was near the bottom. Local receipts were 615 cars, with 240 by contract grade.

Weakness in wheat and corn, together with the increased receipts and good weather for the movement, caused lower price in oats. Commission houses were the best sellers, and what little support the market received came from shorts.

Liquidation in October hard was the feature in trading in provisions and with only a small support from brokers the market ruled weak. Heavy receipts of hogs, with a decline of from 10 to 20c in prices at the yards were largely responsible for the break. Prices closed 12½@15c lower at $11 78; January lard was off 20c at $6 40, while ribs were down 15c to $6 17½.

Socialist Labor Leaders Drop Word "Socialist" to Get on the Ballot.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The Socialist Labor party dropped the word "Socialist" in its title to meet the decision of the Dauphin county courts in the objections raised by the Socialists to the nomination papers of its state nominees.

The change in the party appellation was made today by the attorneys for both parties, after which a copy of the official form of ballot was sent by the state department to all the county commissioners in the state, to be used as a sample for printing the ballot for the coming election.

Cattle.

Receipts of cattle at the Union stock yards amounted to 120 carloads, 10 loads more than arrivals last Monday, and the market was easier. While no change was made in nominal quotations, prices were weaker in actual transactions, concessions of from 10 cents to 15 cents below listed quotations being allowed.

TOO MUCH MONEY IN PROMOTING

Two Maryland Trust Companies Fail, Unable to Raise Money on Securities.

HAS NO EFFECT ON OTHERS

Maryland Trust Company and Union Trust Company of Baltimore Close Their Doors—Had Their Cash Invested in Railroad Projects.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, Oct. 19.—This has been a day of marked excitement and subdued anxiety in the financial and business circles of Baltimore.

Early in the day came the announcement of the failure of the Maryland Trust Company, which had long been struggling with undigested securities and lately sustained heavy withdrawals of deposits. On Saturday it failed to negotiate a $2,000,000 loan in London.

Later the suspension of the Union Trust Company was announced. This was late in the day and gave rise to baseless rumors as to other financial institutions which might well have created a panic had they been given currency earlier in the day. The clerk of the circuit court kept his office open an hour later than usual to accommodate one more expected applicant for a receivership. But the applicant did not materialize, and the day ended with only two suspensions and with the assurance of the cool-headed financiers of the city that all peril of a panic had passed and that tomorrow would note the dissipation of every sign and portent of further trouble.

It was agreed among the leaders, and so given out, that there is nothing alarming in the general financial situation in this city, and the mere fact that temporary difficulties overtook one or two concerns is no reason why other perfectly solvent institutions should be regarded with suspicion. As one of the most influential bankers in Baltimore put it, "Our financial institutions are strong and have placed themselves in position to withstand any assaults upon their credit standing." Or, as another leading banker, perhaps the most prominent in Baltimore, put it:

"It all depends upon how the people of Baltimore act. If they do not lose their heads, the trouble will blow over in time and nobody will be hurt; but if they become panic-stricken, the consequences will be serious. This is a time to use calm judgement."

Allan McLane, third vice president of the Maryland Trust Company, was appointed to take charge of the affairs of that company. Miles White, Jr., first vice president of the Union Trust Company, was appointed receiver of that institution. Mr. McLane gave bond in the sum of $2,000,000 and Mr. White gave bond in the sum of $1,000,000.

Statements of Companies.

The last statement of the Maryland Trust Company, issued on June 30, 1903, showed capital stock of $2,125,000, surplus $2,457,500, and undivided profits of $677,-998 86. The company has demand and time deposits amounting to $5,778,817 15.

The Union Trust Company at the close of business on March 31, 1903, had capital stock of $1,000,000, surplus of $250,-000, and undivided profits of $130,087 55. The Union Trust Company has deposits amounting to nearly $2,000,000. The filing of the first applications for receivers of the embarrassed company was followed by petitions for co-receivers for both companies.

The total liabilities of the two companies exceed $10,000,000.

One of the causes of Maryland Trust Company's failure was due, as is set forth in the statement of Receiver McLane, to the investment of the assets of the company in Mexican railway securities which could not be marketed. The Union Trust Company failed because of a run on its banking departments, about $150,000 having been withdrawn by depositors today, but the real troubles of the company had their origin in the organization of the South & Western railway in Virginia in which a capitalization of about $11,000,000 was contemplated. The Union Trust Company was the fiscal agent for the Virginia enterprise just as the Maryland company was the fiscal agent for the Mexican railway.

Though these two failures followed so closely, it can be stated on unquestioned authority that there was no connection whatever between the two. The Maryland Trust Company and the Union Trust Company were not jointly interested in any enterprise, so that the suspension of one had no direct bearing upon the other. It may also be stated that neither company managed trust estates. This is the business by which the trustees take charge of properties and manage them in the interest of widows, orphans and other heirs.

Does Not Affect Others.

As is well known there have been other financial troubles in Baltimore within a recent period, but it is not believed that they were in manner the forerunners of today's suspensions. J. W. Mittendorf speaking for his firm William J. Mittendorf & Co., and J. L. Williams & Sons of Richmond, said today:

"The difficulties of the Maryland Trust Company have no relationship to ours. That institution has never been identified with Seaboard interests, nor does it own, nor has it ever owned, so far as our knowledge goes, a share of Seaboard stock. Neither my firm nor Mr. Williams owes a dollar to the Maryland Trust Company, nor does that company owe us anything."

Among the alarming rumors afloat was one to the effect that the municipality of Baltimore had millions of its treasury realized from the Western Maryland railroad lying idle in banks. The investigation proved, however, and the finance commissioners have so announced, that the city has only $200,000 invested with the Maryland Trust Company and that is secured by three bonding companies of this city.

The feeling in financial circles at the close of business was one of confidence that there will be no more failures in the city and that after a brief period of unrest, business will settle down to its accustomed channels of security.

Receipt of News in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—News was received in Wall street shortly before the opening of the suspension of the Maryland Trust Company, and the Union Trust Company of Baltimore. The Maryland Trust Company is one of the most important financial institutions in the south, and when the signal to begin business on the stock exchange was given large blocks of stocks were collected all around the room at declines of half to 1 point. But Wall street soon concluded that there was no reason for the failure affecting the market. The cause of the suspension was said by banking interests here to have been extensive investments in various unmarketable securities which were no regarded either here or London, with which to collateral for loans. About noon it was understood here that the Maryland company will be reorganized as an investment company and that new and powerful interests will become control of its affairs. The Maryland Trust Company directors included leading bankers and financiers of Baltimore and also Governor Frank Brown of Maryland; Walter S. Johnston and August Belmont of New York; John B. Garrett, of Philadelphia, and A. A. H. Belaresqui, of London. The company was organized to transact a general trust company business and act as financial agent for states, cities, towns, railroads and other corporations. The stockholders included some of the best known bankers and capitalists in America and Europe.

Gov. Pennypacker's Letter to Delaware's Executive in Riley Case Made Public.

HAS VIOLATED NO STATUTE

Epistle Refusing Extradition of the Prisoner Points Out That Gov. Hunn Had Not Complied With the Requisition Agreement Now in Existence.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 19.

Governor Pennypacker tonight made public his letter to Governor Hunn, refusing to extradite Edward Riley, a negro, to New Castle, Del., to answer a charge of assaulting a 10-year-old white girl.

Riley is under arrest at Philadelphia and last Monday Governor Pennypacker received a requisition from Hunn for the prisoner accompanied by an affidavit which set forth only that he had committed the crime with which he was charged. The record showed no indictment had been found against Riley and on the strength of this Pennypacker refused to honor the requisition. The governor's letter to the Delaware executive follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 12, 1903.

Honorable John Hunn,
Governor of the State of Delaware,
Dover, Delaware:

Sir.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your requisition of recent date for the rendition of Edward Riley, charged with the crime of rape.

In view of the fact that the alleged crime committed by the defendant is punishable by death, I think the circumstances which indicate the commission of the crime and the connection of the defendant with it ought to be set forth with particularity and care and should be accompanied by affidavits as to their correctness. Especially is this true where, as in this case, no indictment has been found.

Am with respect very truly yours,
SAMUEL W. PENNYPACKER.

These are the facts which have up to this time occurred in connection with the requisition. Governor Hunn, however, in indignant at Governor Pennypacker for refusing to hand Riley over to the authorities of Delaware and has referred the governor's communication to the attorney general of the state.

Gov. Pennypacker makes no comment on Hunn's action, although it is thought he will turn Riley over to the Delaware authorities if they comply with the rules of practice with respect to requisitions adopted at a conference held in New York, August 24, 1887, where 10 states including Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia, were represented.

BEQUEATHED $4,000,000 TO HARVARD UNIVERSITY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 19.—Gordon McKay, a wealthy inventor of shoemaking machinery, died today at his residence in this city. He was born in Pittsfield, Mass., in 1821. He began life as a machinist in the shops of the old Boston & Lowell railroad. His ability soon placed him in a high position there and he was one of the foremost designers of locomotives. It was McKay who designed a sewing machine which revolutionized the business. McKay's rise to wealth was rapid, and in addition to owning the majority of stock in several valuable plants, he drew large royalties.

It is reported that he left his entire estate, estimated to be worth $4,000,000, in trust for Harvard university. Mr. McKay has been failing for several years.

His two marriages were failures. His first wife left him because they could not agree. When he had passed 60 he married the beautiful daughter of his housekeeper, Mrs. Trent, when he was living in Cambridge, Mass. He lavished wealth upon her, but they had difficulties, and in 1890 she secured a divorce in Rhode Island. It was said that he allowed her $25,000 a year after she was free and that he allowed her to secure her divorce, knowing that she wished to marry Count Adolph Von Breuning. After his former wife's marriage to the nobleman, it was said that he gave her $100,000.

TRACEWELL WILL NOT BE DISMISSED

HIS OFFENSE OVERLOOKED

President Changes His Decision, Owing to Report of Attorneys Bonaparte and Conrad Confirming Charges of Irregularities, Accused Must Quit Service.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.

What threatened to make a very ugly disagreement in President Roosevelt's official family has been amicably adjusted. It came about over the report made by Attorneys Bonaparte and Conrad on the Tulloch charges. The fact that the president handed these charges over to the attorneys for investigation was displeasing to some members of the cabinet, who thought that the accusations made by Mr. Tulloch should be left to the postmaster general and the secretary of the treasury, in which departments the alleged irregularities took place. But the president's sole object was to get at the truth of the matter, and with no desire to cast a slight upon any cabinet officer, but to have the charges thoroughly probed, he asked the attorneys who had been retained to assist in the prosecution of the postoffice cases to give him a report on the charges made by former Cashier Tulloch.

When this report was made it was found that Messrs. Bonaparte and Conrad had decided that there was considerable basis for the charges made, and they especially held that Auditor Castle had passed accounts that he should not have allowed. The president said that Mr. Castle must go, and he went. The report further held that Comptroller Tracewell had passed certain items irregularly, although he had shown care in certain instances where he disallowed accounts that had been passed by Auditor Castle. Mr. Tracewell had also notified the postoffice officials that they were not keeping their books properly and that they must do differently. But the report of Bonaparte and Conrad handled him rather roughly, and the president decided that he must go also.

Here, however, Secretary Shaw and Postmaster General Payne balked. They insisted to the president that Tracewell was not guilty of any important irregularity, and both testified to his integrity and ability as a public officer. They made a strong case in his favor.

Today it was announced semi-officially, but upon good authority, that the president had decided to take the estimate of Secretary Shaw on Mr. Tracewell's ability and character and will not insist upon his leaving the public service. He is willing to look upon the Bonaparte-Conrad report as not possessing sufficient condemnation to justify severe action in Mr. Tracewell's case. L. W. STRAYER.

SUPPORTERS OF EDWARDS SAW GOV. PENNYPACKER

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Judge Henry M. Edwards of Scranton is being strongly recommended for the vacancy in the state supreme court. A delegation of Lackawanna county lawyers, including ex-Lieut. Gov. Walter Lyon, Everett Warren, Col. Frank Fitzpatrick, ex-Senator MacDonald and Deputy Attorney General Fleitz, called on Gov. Pennypacker this afternoon to urge Judge Edwards' appointment.

Over 200 Steel Workers Laid Off.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19.—The Middletown iron and tube works today laid off 200 men on account of the lack of orders. The works employ about 800 men.

NO GENERAL WAGE CUT BY BIG CORPORATIONS

Payrolls of Three Largest Concerns Are Nearly Up to Recent Maximum.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Three great industrial corporations of the United States—the General Electric Company, the United States Steel Corporation and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, which employ approximately 213,000 wage earners, have not yet inaugurated any wholesale reductions because of depression in trade. On the contrary, one of the three has a bigger payroll for the present month than it had last and all three have a growing export trade.

The Steel Corporation last year employed 168,127 men and paid in salaries an aggregate of $120,528,640; used 125,526 of them in its manufacturing properties, 18,539 in coal and coking properties, 12,465 in iron mines, 11,150 in the transportation department and 1,637 in miscellaneous work. Its payroll now exceeds 160,000 men, showing a decrease of less than 8,000.

The General Electric Company, which had in the early part of the year a maximum number of employes of 22,000, has now employed about 18,000 men, showing a decrease of about 4,000. It is stated, however, in this connection, that the men laid off were largely unskilled laborers and that the company has in its employ as many skilled men as it had a year ago.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company employs in its parent company about 10,000, and through its subsidiary companies about 15,000 more. Its payrolls for the first part of October was $28,000 a week more than the payroll of the corresponding period in 1902.

THE GREATEST SILK SALE

The greatest silk sale of the season in this market, not only for the quantity offered, but the amount realized, was "brought off" by Townsend & Montant, October 7th.

It was a peremptory sale by order of the Ashley & Bailey Company, the object being to reduce surplus, so as to avoid any curtailment of manufacturing.

The goods were in large lots suited to large buyers and consisted of fancies, colored and blacks—the latter in taffetas, peau de soie and peau de cygne, being in large quantities and found high favor. The demand altogether was so brisk that, contrary to expectation, the sale lasted but one day, from 10 a. m. till 4:45 p. m. Satisfaction was expressed on all sides—by those who secured a good article at a very fair price, as well as by those who sold it, and Mr. Montant beamed over the whole crowded assembly.

Among the prominent purchasers were the following:

New York—John Wanamaker, the Adams Dry goods Company, the Siegel-Cooper Company, John Daniells Sons & Sons, the Drygoods Union (representing Campbell's, Pittsburgh, and others), S. Eisenman & Co., the Drygoods Alliance, M. Cohen & Co., Ehrich Bros., James A. Hearn & Son, Frederick Loeser & Co., the Drygoods Exchange, C. B. Rouss, the Syndicate Trading Company, the Victor Manufacturing Company, R. H. Macy & Co., Abraham & Straus, Chicago—Marshall Field & Co., Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Siegel, Cooper & Co. Philadelphia—Lit Bros. Boston—The Jordan-Marsh Company, the R. H. White Company. Newark, N. J.—L. Bamberger & Co., L. S. Plaut & Co. Rochester—Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Company. Washington, D. C.—S. Kann, Sons & Co. Detroit—Newcombe, Endicott & Co.

A SILKS & B SILKS

BY working the telegraph and long distance telephone, and all the other methods of quick communication, we have had the good fortune, through the earnest co-operation of Mr. J. J. Matheson, manager of the Dry Goods Union, to secure an additional quantity of the Ashley & Bailey Auction Silks, which some of the other stores in the Union were persuaded to part with to help us meet the pressing Pittsburgh exigencies. These new lots of A. & B. Silks will arrive by express this morning and be on sale before noon. More than this would be a waste of words, because the demand will be thousands of yards in excess of the supply.

To Trim the A. & B. SILKS
Galloons, Bands, Edges, Bendings, Medallions, Drop Patterns, Appliques, Spangled Trimmings, Drop Ornaments, etc. Also some lovely Lace Collars.

Venise Laces—10c to $2.75 yard.
Cluny Bands—15c to $1.50 yard.
Black Mercerized Laces—15c to $2 yard.
Wood Silk Braids—19c to $1.75 yard.
Lace All-Overs—75c to $5 yard
Chiffon Appliques—19c to $2.50 yard.
Persian Bands—25c to $2.00 yard.
Spangled Trimmings—$1.25 to $5 yard.
Drop Ornaments—10c to 75c each.
Lace Collars—50c to $10.
